

13-714. Consideration of land uses.

In determining damages, you will consider the uses made of the property at the time of taking and also the highest and best uses for which the property may have been suitable and adaptable in the near future.

USE NOTE

This instruction is proper where there is evidence that the location of the property and its adaptability for special uses affects the market value.