

14-4512. Actual physical control; defined.

In determining whether the state has proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant was in actual physical control of the vehicle and that the defendant intended to drive the vehicle, thereby posing a real danger to [himself] [herself] or the public, you should consider the totality of the circumstances shown by the evidence. You may consider the following factors and any other relevant factors supported by the evidence:

1. whether the vehicle was running;
2. whether the ignition was in the "on" position;
3. where the ignition key was located;
4. where and in what position the driver was found in the vehicle;
5. whether the person was awake or asleep;
6. whether the vehicle's headlights were on;
7. where the vehicle was stopped;
8. whether the driver had voluntarily pulled off the road;
9. the time of day;
10. the weather conditions;
11. whether the heater or air conditioner was on;
12. whether the windows were up or down;
13. whether the vehicle was operable;
14. any explanation of the circumstances shown by the evidence.

It is up to you to examine all the available evidence in its totality and weigh its credibility in determining whether the defendant was simply using the vehicle as stationary shelter or actually posed a threat to the public by the exercise of actual control over it while impaired.
