

CHILDREN'S COURT RULES AND FORMS

ARTICLE 1

GENERAL PROVISIONS; ALL PROCEEDINGS

10-101. Scope and title.

A. Scope. Except as specifically provided by these rules, the following rules of procedure shall govern proceedings under the Children's Code:

(1) the Children's Court Rules govern procedure in the children's courts of New Mexico in all matters involving children alleged by the state:

(a) to have committed a delinquent act as defined in the Delinquency Act;

(b) to be members of families in need of court ordered services as defined in the Family in Need of Services Act;

(c) to be abused or neglected, as defined in the Abuse and Neglect Act, including proceedings to terminate parental rights which are filed pursuant to the Abuse and Neglect Act;

(2) the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts govern the procedure:

(a) in all proceedings in the district court in which a child is alleged to be a "serious youthful offender", as defined in the Children's Code;

(b) in all proceedings in the Children's Court in which a notice of intent has been filed alleging the child is a "youthful offender", as that term is defined in the Children's Code. If the indictment or bind over order does not include a "youthful offender" offense, any further proceedings for the offense shall be governed by the Children's Court rules;

(3) the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the Magistrate Courts govern all proceedings in the magistrate court in which a child is charged as a "serious youthful offender" or "youthful offender", as those terms are defined in the Children's Code;

(4) the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the Metropolitan Courts govern all proceedings in the metropolitan court in which a child is charged as a "serious youthful offender" or "youthful offender" as those terms are defined in the Children's Code;

(5) the Children's Code and the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts govern the procedure in all other proceedings under the Children's Code. In case of a conflict between the Children's Code and the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Court, the Children's Code shall control.

B. Construction. These rules are intended to provide for the just determination of children's court proceedings. They shall be construed to secure simplicity in procedure, fairness in administration, elimination of unjustifiable expense and delay and to assure the recognition and enforcement of constitutional and other rights.

C. Title. These rules and forms shall be known as "Children's Court Rules".

D. Citation form. These rules and forms may be cited as Rule 10-_____ NMRA (_____).

[Children's Court Rule 1 NMSA 1953; Children's Court Rule 1 NMSA 1978; Rule 10-101 SCRA 1986; as amended effective February 1, 1982; January 1, 1987; March 1, 1994; April 1, 1997.]

Committee commentary. - Although there are various statutory provisions authorizing the supreme court to adopt rules of procedure in civil and criminal cases, including rules for the children's court, the rulemaking power of the supreme court is a constitutional power which inherently belongs to the judicial branch of government under the doctrine of separation of powers. See State v. Roy, 40 N.M. 397, 60 P.2d 646 (1936); State v. Arnold, 51 N.M. 311, 183 P.2d 845 (1947).

The rulemaking power traditionally extends only to proceedings conducted by the judicial branch of government. Thus the supreme court in the original rules of procedure governing the children's court did not establish procedures to be followed by the human services department (formerly the health and social services department) regarding alleged neglected children until formal court action had begun. The standing committee on criminal proceedings in the district court recommended to the supreme court that expanded neglect rules be adopted to assure uniformity in proceedings and eliminate any confusion caused by the absence of a clearly defined procedure. The supreme court accepted the recommendation and as of November 1, 1978, Children's Code provisions governing neglect prior to the onset of formal court action are modified by these rules. Effective February 1, 1982, these rules apply to abused children cases.

The supreme court did not believe this was a departure from its traditional view of its rulemaking procedure since Section 32-1-4 NMSA 1978 authorizes the supreme court to adopt rules of procedure in children's court proceedings and the Children's Code itself envisions that the human services department will be primarily responsible in neglect and abuse situations. See Section 32-1-15 NMSA 1978.

A more complete discussion of the rulemaking power of the supreme court is found at the beginning of the commentaries to the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Rules 10-101 and 10-102 set forth the scope, purpose and construction of the Children's Court Rules of Procedure. The scope of the rules is specifically limited to children's court proceedings in which a child is alleged to be delinquent, in need of supervision, neglected or abused. Section 32-1-10 NMSA 1978 of the Children's Code gives the children's court exclusive original jurisdiction of a number of other proceedings. These rules are not intended to establish procedures for these other proceedings, nor do they apply to court proceedings involving juveniles who allegedly have violated municipal ordinances or Motor Vehicle Code provisions which are not governed by the Children's Code under Sections 32-1-30 and 32-1-48 NMSA 1978.

As of January 1, 1982 no judicial district had established a family court division under Section 32-1-4 NMSA 1978. If such a division were to be established, these rules would apply only to proceedings in which a child is alleged to be delinquent, in need of supervision, neglected or abused. Other proceedings over which a family court would have jurisdiction pursuant to Section 32-1-10 NMSA 1978 are not intended to be within the scope of these rules.

In terms of purpose and construction, it must be emphasized that the procedures set forth in these rules supersede many of the procedures set forth in the Children's Code in effect at the time of adoption of the original rules and the revised rules.

The 1994 amendment, effective March 1, 1994, rewrote Paragraph A, which read "These rules govern the procedure in the children's courts of New Mexico in all matters involving children alleged to be delinquent, in need of supervision, abused or neglected, as defined in the Children's Code."

The 1997 amendment, effective April 1, 1997, added "Except as specifically provided by these rules" in Paragraph A, deleted "and Forms" following "Rules" and added "by the state" in Subparagraph A(1), substituted "to have committed a delinquent act" for "to be a delinquent" and "Delinquency Act" for "Children's Code" in Subparagraph A(1)(a), substituted "Family in Need of Services Act" for "Children's Code" in Subparagraph A(1)(b), substituted "Abuse and Neglect Act" for "Children's Code" and added the language beginning "including" in Subparagraph A(1)(c), substituted "in" for "except for disposition proceedings" and added the last sentence in Subparagraph A(2)(b), substituted "child is charged as a 'serious youthful offender' or 'youthful offender' as those terms are defined in the Children's Code" in Subparagraphs A(3) and A(4), inserted "and forms" and deleted "and Forms" following "Rules" in Paragraph C, and rewrote Paragraph D.

Effective dates. - Pursuant to an order of the supreme court dated September 24, 1986, the above rule is effective on or after January 1, 1987.

ANNOTATIONS

Compiler's notes. - Pursuant to a court order dated February 2, 1994, this rule, defining certain terms, is withdrawn effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after March 1, 1994.

10-103. General rules of pleading.

A. Pleadings. There shall be a petition and, except for the child in a delinquency proceeding, a response.

B. Response. Except for a child alleged to be a delinquent child, every respondent shall serve a response within thirty (30) days after being served with the summons and petition.

C. Form. Every pleading shall contain a caption setting forth the name of the court, the title of the action, the file number and a designation as to the type of pleading. In the petition the title of the action shall include the names of all parties, but in other documents filed with the court it is sufficient to state the name of the first party on each side with an appropriate indication of other parties.

D. Adoption by reference. Statements made in one part of a pleading may be adopted by reference in another part of the same pleading or in another pleading or in any motion. A copy of any written instrument which is an exhibit to a pleading is a part thereof for all purposes.

E. Name of respondent. In any pleading, the name of the respondent shall be stated, or, if the respondent's name is not known, the respondent may be described by any name or description by which the respondent can be identified with reasonable certainty, together with a statement that respondent's name is not known.

F. Defects, errors, omissions and clerical mistakes. No pleading shall be deemed invalid, nor shall the inquiry, hearing, judgment or other proceeding thereon be stayed or in any manner affected because of any defect, error, omission, imperfection or inconsistency therein which does not prejudice the substantial rights of the respondent on the merits. The court may at any time prior to an adjudication on the merits cause the pleadings to be amended to cure errors, defects, omissions, imperfections or variances if substantial rights of the respondent are not prejudiced. Upon ordering such an amendment of a petition or other pleading, the court shall grant a continuance to any party whose ability to present the party's case has been affected by the amendment. Clerical mistakes in judgments, orders or other parts of the record and errors in the record arising from oversight or omission may be corrected by the court at any time and after such notice, if any, as the court orders.

G. Amendment of offense; delinquency proceedings. At any time prior to commencement of the adjudicatory hearing in a delinquency proceeding and subject to the provisions of Rule 10-107, the court may allow the petition to be amended to charge the respondent with an additional or different offense. Upon allowing such an amendment and upon the request of the respondent, the court shall grant a continuance to allow further time for preparation.

H. Defenses; how presented. Except in delinquency proceedings, every defense, in law or fact, to a claim for relief in any pleading, shall be asserted in the responsive pleading thereto if one is required, except that the following defenses may, at the option of the pleader, be made by motion:

(1) lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter;

(2) lack of jurisdiction over the person;

(3) improper venue;

(4) insufficiency of process;

(5) insufficiency of service of process;

(6) failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted;

(7) failure to join a necessary party. A motion making any of these defenses shall be made before pleading if a further pleading is permitted. No defense or objection is waived by being joined with one or more other defenses or objections in a responsive pleading or motion. If a pleading sets forth a claim for relief to which the adverse party is not required to serve a responsive pleading, the party may assert at the trial any defense in law or fact to that claim for relief.

I. Signing of pleadings. Every pleading, motion and other paper of a party represented by an attorney shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, whose address and telephone number shall be stated. A party who is not represented by an attorney shall sign the party's pleading, motion or other paper and state the party's address and telephone number. Except when otherwise specifically required by rule or statute, pleadings need not be verified or accompanied by affidavit. The signature of an attorney or party constitutes a certificate by the signer that the signer has read the pleading, motion or other paper; that to the best of the signer's knowledge, information and belief there is good ground to support it; and that it is not interposed for delay. If a pleading, motion or other paper is signed with the intent to defeat the purpose of this rule, it may be stricken as sham and false and the action may proceed as though the pleading had not been served. If a pleading, motion or other paper is not signed, it shall be stricken unless it is signed promptly after the omission is called to the attention of the pleader or movant. For a willful violation of this rule, an attorney or party may be subjected to appropriate disciplinary action. Similar action may be taken if scandalous or indecent matter is inserted. A "signature" means an original signature, a copy of an original signature, a computer generated signature or any other signature otherwise authorized by law.

[As amended, effective September 1, 1995; January 1, 1997.]

Committee commentary. - No substantive changes were made in this rule in 1978. The rule contains the basic guidelines for pleadings in children's court proceedings.

Paragraphs A and B are identical to Rule 5-202 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Forms adopted by the supreme court show the proper caption for the pleadings.

Paragraph C is substantially identical to Rule 5-202 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Paragraph D is patterned after Paragraph A of Rule 5-204 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts and is designed to prevent challenges to pleadings based on technical defects, errors, omissions or variances. The court may allow the pleadings to be amended to cure such technical defects if the request is made prior to the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing and if substantial rights of the respondent are not prejudiced. If such an amendment affects the ability of a party to present his case, a continuance must be granted.

Paragraph E is designed to allow the addition of a new or different offense to a petition if the motion to amend is made before the adjudicatory hearing begins and the amendment conforms to the requirements of Rule 10-107 for joinder of offenses. The respondent in such a case is entitled to a continuance if he requests it. A continuance at the request of the state is left to the discretion of the court.

Paragraph F is identical to Rule 5-206 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

It should be noted that in children's court proceedings, the term "offense" has an expanded meaning and includes not only violations of criminal statutes and ordinances, but also violations of those standards of conduct defined by the Children's Code in 32-1-3 NMSA 1978 as constituting "need of supervision" and "neglect."

New Mexico has enacted an Electronic Authentication Documentation Act which provides for the Secretary of State to register electronic signatures using the public key technology. See Section 14-15-4 NMSA 1978.

The 1995 amendment, effective September 1, 1995, added Paragraphs A and B and redesignated former Paragraphs A to E as Paragraphs C to G; added the last sentence in Paragraph C; added "or in another pleading or in any motion" and added the last sentence in Paragraph D; in Paragraph F, rewrote the paragraph heading and added the last sentence; in Paragraph G, added "delinquency proceedings" in the paragraph heading and inserted "in a delinquency proceeding"; added Paragraph H; redesignated former Paragraph F as Paragraph I and rewrote that paragraph; and made gender neutral and minor stylistic changes throughout the rule.

The 1997 amendment, effective January 1, 1997, added the last sentence in Paragraph I defining "signature".

10-103.1. Motions; how and when presented.

A. Requirement of written motion; time for filing. All motions, except motions made during trial, or as may be permitted by the court, shall be in writing and shall state with particularity the grounds and the relief sought. All pre-adjudicatory motions shall be filed at least ten (10) days prior to any adjudicatory hearing except by leave of court.

B. Unopposed motions. The moving party shall determine whether or not a motion will be opposed. If the motion will not be opposed, an order initialed by opposing counsel shall accompany the motion.

C. Opposed motions. The motion shall recite that concurrence of opposing counsel was requested or shall specify why no such request was made. The movant shall not assume that the nature of the motion obviates the need for concurrence from opposing counsel unless the motion is a:

- (1) motion to dismiss;
- (2) motion for new trial;
- (3) motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict;

(4) motion for summary judgment in an abuse or neglect proceeding or in a termination of parental rights proceeding;

(5) motion for an ex parte custody order in an abuse or neglect proceeding; or

(6) motion for relief from a final judgment, order or proceeding in an abuse or neglect proceeding or a termination of parental rights proceeding pursuant to Paragraph B of Rule 1-060 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts.

Notwithstanding the provisions of any other rule, counsel may file with any opposed motion a brief or supporting points with citations or authorities. If the motion requires consideration of facts not of record, the moving party shall file copies of all affidavits, depositions or other documentary evidence to be presented in support of the motion. Motions to amend pleadings shall have attached the proposed pleading. A motion for judgment on the pleadings presenting matters outside the pleading shall comply with Rule 1-056 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts. A motion for new trial in a neglect or abuse or termination of parental rights proceeding shall comply with Rule 1-059 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts.

D. Response. Unless otherwise specifically provided in these rules or by the Children's Code, any written response and all affidavits, depositions or other documentary evidence in support of the response shall be filed within fifteen (15) days after service of the motion. A motion for new trial in a delinquency proceeding shall comply with Rule 5-604 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

E. Reply brief. Any reply brief shall be filed within fifteen (15) days after service of any written response.

[Adopted, effective September 1, 1995; May 1, 1998.]

ANNOTATIONS

The 1998 amendment, effective May 1, 1998, redesignated former Subparagraph C(5) as C(6) and added new Subparagraph C(5).

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated July 17, 1995, this rule is effective September 1, 1995.

10-103.2. Dismissal of actions.

A. Voluntary dismissal; effect thereof.

(1) In any action except a delinquency proceeding, the action may be dismissed by the petitioner without order of the court:

(a) by filing a notice of dismissal at any time before commencement of the adjudicatory hearing; or

(b) by filing a stipulation of dismissal signed by all parties in the action.

(2) The children's court attorney may dismiss a delinquency petition or a petition to revoke probation, at any time prior to commencement of the adjudicatory hearing, without order of the court.

B. Involuntary dismissal; effect thereof. For failure of the petitioner to comply with these rules or any order of court, a respondent may move for dismissal of an action or of any claim against the respondent. Unless the court in its order for dismissal otherwise specifies, a dismissal under this paragraph and any dismissal not provided for in this rule, other than a dismissal for lack of jurisdiction, for improper venue, or for failure to join a party under Rule 10-007, operates as an adjudication upon the merits.

C. Dismissal of requests for affirmative relief by parties other than the petitioner. The provisions of this rule apply to the dismissal of any request for affirmative relief by any party other than the petitioner. A voluntary dismissal without leave of the court by the party requesting such relief shall be made before a response is served, or if there is no response, before the introduction of evidence at the trial or hearing.

[Adopted, effective September 1, 1995; as amended, effective May 1, 1998.]

ANNOTATIONS

The 1998 amendment, effective May 1, 1998, rewrote Paragraph A.

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated July 17, 1995, this rule is effective September 1, 1995.

10-103.3. Form of papers.

All pleadings and papers, except exhibits, filed in the children's court or served upon a party, shall be: clearly legible; typewritten or printed on good quality white paper eight and one-half by eleven (8 1/2 x 11) inches in size, with a left margin of one and one-half (1 1/2) inches, a right margin of one-half (1/2) inch, and top and bottom margins of one and one-half (1 1/2) inches; with consecutive page numbers at the bottom; and stapled at the upper left hand corner; and, except for a cover page, shall be typed or printed using pica (10 pitch) type style or a twelve (12) point typeface. A space of at least two and one-half (2 1/2) by two and one-half (2 1/2) inches for the clerk's recording stamp shall be left in the upper right-hand corner of the first page of each pleading. The contents, except quotations and footnotes, shall be double spaced. Exhibits which are copies of original documents may be reproduced from originals by any duplicating or copying process which produces a clear black image on white paper. The size of any exhibits shall be their original size or any smaller size not less than eight and one-half by eleven (8 1/2 x 11) inches.

[Adopted, effective September 1, 1995.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated July 17, 1995, this rule is effective September 1, 1995.

10-104. Summons.

A. Scope. Parties in children's court proceedings, except the respondent in a delinquency proceeding, shall be served with a copy of the petition and summons as provided in this rule. Service of the petition and summons upon the respondents in delinquency proceedings shall be made pursuant to Rule 10-104.1 of these rules.

B. Form. The summons shall be signed by the clerk, bear the seal of the court, identify the court and the parties, be directed to the party to be served and state the name and address of the petitioner or the petitioner's attorney. It shall also state the time within which the party must respond, and notify the party that failure to do so may result in a judgment against the party for the relief demanded in the petition. The court may allow a summons to be amended. The summons shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

C. Issuance. Upon or after filing the petition, the state shall present a summons to the clerk for signature and seal. If the summons is in proper form, the clerk shall sign, seal and issue it to the state for service upon the party. A summons, or a copy of the summons if addressed to multiple parties, shall be issued for each party to be served.

D. Service with petition; by whom made.

(1) A summons shall be served together with a copy of the petition. The petitioner is responsible for service of a summons and petition within the time allowed under Paragraph K of this rule and shall furnish the person making service with the necessary copies of the summons and petition.

(2) Service may be made by any person who is not a party and who is at least eighteen (18) years of age. At the request of the petitioner, however, the court may direct that service be made by the sheriff, a deputy sheriff or other person or officer specially appointed by the court for that purpose.

E. Service upon parties within the United States. Unless otherwise provided by law, service upon a party, other than a minor or an incompetent person, may be made within the United States by delivering a copy of the summons and of the petition to the party personally or by leaving copies thereof at the party's dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion then residing therein.

F. Service upon parties in a foreign country. Unless otherwise provided by federal law, service upon a party, other than a minor or an incompetent person, may be made in a place not within the United States:

(1) by any internationally agreed means reasonably calculated to give notice, such as those means authorized by the Hague convention on the Service Abroad of Judicial and Extrajudicial Documents;

(2) if there is no internationally agreed means of service or the applicable international agreement allows other means of service, provided that service is reasonably calculated to give notice:

(a) in the manner prescribed by the law of the foreign country for service in that country in an action in any of its courts of general jurisdiction;

(b) as directed by the foreign authority in response to a letter rogatory or letter of request; or

(c) unless prohibited by the law of the foreign country, by

(i) delivery to the party personally of a copy of the summons and the petition; or

(ii) any form of mail requiring a signed receipt, to be addressed and dispatched by the clerk of the court to the party to be served; or

(3) by other means not prohibited by international agreement as may be directed by the court.

G. Service upon minors and incompetent persons.

(1) Service within the United States upon a minor, as defined in this rule, may be made by delivering a copy of the summons and petition, in the manner provided by Paragraph E of this rule, to the respondent child and to a custodial parent, custodian, guardian or conservator of the minor. Notice of the proceedings shall be given to any known guardian ad litem. Notice to any known guardian ad litem shall be served as provided in Rule 10-105 of these rules.

(2) Service in the United States upon an incompetent person, as defined in this rule, may be made by service of the summons and petition in the manner provided by Paragraph E of this rule:

(a) on the incompetent person's guardian ad litem, if any; or

(b) if there is no guardian ad litem, by service upon a conservator of the estate or guardian of the person.

(3) Service upon an infant or incompetent outside the United States shall be made in a manner prescribed by Subparagraph (2)(a) or (2)(b) of Paragraph F of this rule or by such means as the court may direct.

(4) Notwithstanding any other provision of this rule, a party who is an alleged abused or neglected child shall be served by service on the guardian ad litem appointed to represent the child in the proceeding.

H. Service upon governmental entities. Service of a summons upon a federal, state or local governmental entity shall be made in the manner as provided in the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts.

I. Service by publication. Service upon a party may be made by publication upon the filing of a certificate by the petitioner substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court certifying that: after diligent inquiry and search efforts petitioner has been unable to serve the party; the party is deliberately concealed to avoid service of process or cannot be discovered after reasonably diligent inquiry and search efforts; and process cannot be served upon the party by any other means permitted by this rule. Upon the filing of the certificate, the clerk of the court shall cause to be issued a notice of the pendency of the proceeding substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court. The clerk's notice of pendency of the proceeding shall be published in some newspaper in general circulation in the county for four (4) consecutive weeks. The publication of the notice shall be established by the affidavit of the publisher, manager or agent of the newspaper, and it shall be taken and considered as sufficient service of process.

J. Proof of service. The person making service shall make proof of service to the court. Proof of service in a place not within the United States shall, if made under Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph G, be made pursuant to the applicable treaty or convention, and shall, if made under Subparagraph (2) or (3) thereof, include a receipt signed by the addressee or other evidence of delivery to the addressee satisfactory to the court. Failure to make proof of service does not affect the validity of the service. The court may allow proof of service to be amended.

K. Time limit for service. If service of the summons and petition is not made upon a party within one hundred twenty (120) days after the filing of the petition, the court, upon motion or on its own initiative after notice to the petitioner, shall dismiss the action without prejudice as to that party or direct that service be made within a specified time; provided that if the petitioner shows good cause for the failure, the court shall extend the time for service for an appropriate period. This paragraph does not apply to service in a foreign country pursuant to Paragraph G.

L. Definitions. As used in this rule:

(1) a "minor" means a person under the age of eighteen (18) who has not been emancipated pursuant to the provisions of the Emancipation of Minors Act or other law. The term "minor" includes a "child" or an "infant" when those terms are used in any law or court rule; and

(2) an "incompetent" means any person who demonstrates over time either partial or complete functional impairment by reason of mental illness, mental deficiency, physical illness or disability, chronic use of drugs, chronic intoxication or other cause, except minority, to the extent that the person is unable to manage the person's personal care or property and financial affairs.

[As amended, effective September 1, 1995.]

Committee commentary. - The rule governs the issuance of summons and service of the summons and a copy of the petition. The procedure set forth is unique to children's court proceedings in two ways. First, it differs from the summons format used in civil cases and criminal cases in the district courts in that the respondent is told he must appear before the court at the time specified in the notice of adjudicatory hearing (see approved summons form). The summons itself does not specify the time and place of appearance nor does it command the respondent to submit a written answer to the petition. No time is specified for appearance in the summons since one of the events that triggers the time limit for the commencement of the adjudicatory hearing is the date the petition is served on the respondent (Rules 10-227 and 10-308). Accordingly, it is highly unlikely that the adjudicatory hearing will have been scheduled at the time the summons is issued.

Under Rule 10-104, the notice of adjudicatory hearing must be served at least five days before the date the hearing is set.

The second unusual aspect of the summons procedure is the requirement for service of informational copies. See Paragraph F. The summons itself directs only the respondent to appear to answer the allegations of the petition. The parents, guardian or custodian of a child alleged to be in need of supervision cannot be ordered to answer the allegations of the petition. The parents of an alleged delinquent child may be named as parties pursuant to Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978. In any event, as noted in the commentary to Rule 10-104, the original committee felt that the interests of the parents in the matter, even if they are not named as parties, required that they be informed of the proceedings. In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527 (1967).

Rule 10-105 differs from Rule 10-104 in that Rule 10-105 requires that the summons and copy of the petition be served on both parents, if not living together, unless parental rights have been terminated by court order, a parent is deceased or the children's court attorney certifies that the parent cannot be located. Rule 10-104 requires that service of other pleadings and orders be made only on the parent with legal custody. The requirement of Paragraph F of Rule 10-105 is designed to assure that a parent not living in the family home is aware that his or her child has allegedly committed a delinquent act, is allegedly a child in need of supervision or is allegedly being abused or neglected by the other parent, guardian or custodian. In such situations, the absent parent, once aware of the problem, may come forward to offer assistance.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-105 requires that a summons be issued upon the docketing of a petition. Once served, the summons will provide the basis for issuance of a bench warrant if the respondent does not appear at the adjudicatory hearing (Rule 10-206).

Paragraph B of Rule 10-105 simply provides that the summons used will be in the form approved by the supreme court.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-105 requires that the summons and copy of the petition be served upon issuance of the summons. This requirement is intended to prevent unreasonable delays in service which might have the effect of lengthening the time limit for the commencement of the adjudicatory hearing. See Rules 10-226 and 10-308.

Paragraph D of Rule 10-105 requires personal service of the summons and petition on a respondent alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision, unless otherwise ordered by the court. The method of service is governed by Rule 1-004 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts. (See also Paragraph A of Rule 5-209 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.) Likewise, service on the respondent in a neglect case follows Rule 1-004 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts. Service by publication on the respondent in a neglect case is authorized under certain circumstances. A special publication form has been approved by the supreme court for this purpose.

Parties other than the respondent shall be served with summons pursuant to Paragraph E of Rule 10-105. Included in the category "other parties" are an alleged neglected or abused child and the parents, guardian or custodian of an accused child if, at the time of issuance of the summons, they have been allowed to intervene in the action pursuant to Rule 10-108 or if a parent has been named as a party pursuant to Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978.

The guardian ad litem of the alleged neglected or abused child is served in the same manner as an attorney for a party. The guardian ad litem must be appointed no later than at the time the neglect or abuse petition is filed. See Rules 10-108 and 10-305.

Rule 10-105 supersedes the procedural aspects of Sections 32-1-20, 32-1-21 and 32-1-37 NMSA 1978. It differs from Section 32-1-20 NMSA 1978 in several ways: (1) the summons is directed to the respondent; (2) the requirement that the child's spouse, if any, be served, is dropped; (3) issuance of a summons to a person does not necessarily make that person a party to the action (see Rule 10-108); and (4) the summons need not contain an advisement of rights. The provisions of Section 32-1-21 NMSA 1978, including the time limits, have been replaced by Rule 10-105. The provisional hearing procedure set forth in Section 32-1-37 NMSA 1978 when service is by publication has been superseded.

Right of parent to notice and hearing before being deprived of custody of child, 76 A.L.R. 242.

10-104.1. Service of summons on child in delinquency proceeding; failure to appear.

A. Issuance. Upon the filing of a petition alleging a delinquent act, upon request of the children's court attorney, the clerk shall forthwith issue a summons. Separate or additional summons may be issued against the same child.

B. Service. Service of a summons on a child alleged to have committed a delinquent act shall be by mail or by personal service.

C. Execution; form. The summons shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

D. Summons; time to appear. If service is by mail, service shall be made at least ten (10) days before the child is required to appear, unless a shorter time is ordered by the court. If service is made by mail an additional three (3) days shall be added.

E. Summons; service by mail. Service upon the child in a delinquency proceeding may be accomplished by mailing the summons and petition to the child by first class mail.

F. Failure to appear. If a child fails to appear in person, or by counsel when permitted by these rules, at the time and place specified in the summons, the court may:

(1) issue a warrant for the child's arrest; or

(2) direct that service of such summons and petition may be made in the manner prescribed by the court.

G. Return. If service is made by mail return shall be by the children's court attorney filing a certificate of mailing. If service is by personal service, the person serving the process shall make proof of service by a certificate of service in the form approved by the Supreme Court. Where service within the state includes mailing, the return shall state the date and place of mailing.

[Adopted, effective September 1, 1995.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated July 17, 1995, this rule is effective September 1, 1995.

10-105. Notice of hearings; service and filing of pleadings and other papers.

A. When required. Except as provided in these rules, every order required by its terms to be served, every pleading subsequent to the original petition unless the court otherwise orders because of numerous respondents, every paper relating to discovery required to be served upon a party, unless the court otherwise orders, every written motion other than one which may be heard ex parte, and every written notice, appearance, demand, designation of record on appeal, and similar paper shall be served upon each of the parties. No service need be made on parties in default for failure to appear except that pleadings asserting new or additional claims for relief against them shall be served upon them in the manner provided for service of summons in Rule 10-104.

B. Service; how made. Whenever under these rules service is required or permitted to be made upon a party represented by an attorney the service shall be made upon the attorney, or if the party is a child in an abuse or neglect proceeding, the child's guardian ad litem, unless service upon the party is ordered by the court. Service upon the attorney or upon a party shall be made by delivering a copy to the attorney or party, or by mailing it to the attorney or party at the attorney's or party's last known address, or, if no address is known, by leaving it with the clerk of the court. Service by mail is complete upon mailing.

Delivery of a copy within this rule means:

- (1) handing it to the attorney or to the party;
- (2) sending a copy by facsimile or electronic transmission when permitted by Rule 10-105.1 or Rule 10-105.2 of these rules;
- (3) leaving it at the attorney's office with a clerk or other person in charge thereof; or if there is no one in charge, leaving it in a conspicuous place therein; or
- (4) if the office is closed or the person to be served has no office, leaving it at the person's dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion then residing therein.

C. Filing; certificate of service. All papers after the petition required to be served upon a party, together with a certificate of service, shall be filed with the court within a reasonable time after service, except that the following papers shall not be filed unless on order of the court or for use in the proceeding:

- (1) summonses without completed returns;
- (2) subpoenas;
- (3) returns of subpoenas;
- (4) interrogatories;
- (5) answers or objections to interrogatories;
- (6) requests for production of documents;
- (7) responses to requests for production of documents;
- (8) requests for admissions;
- (9) responses to requests for admissions; and
- (10) depositions.

Except for the papers described in Subparagraphs (1), (2), (3) and (10) of this paragraph, counsel shall file a certificate with the court within a reasonable time after service, indicating the date of service of any paper not filed with the court.

D. Filing with the court defined. The filing of pleadings and other papers with the court as required by these rules shall be made by filing them with the clerk of the court, except that the judge may permit the papers to be filed with the judge, in which event the judge shall note thereon the filing date and forthwith transmit them to the office of the clerk. "Filing" shall include filing a facsimile copy or filing an electronic copy as may be permitted pursuant to Rule 1-005.1 or 1-005.2 of these rules. A paper filed by electronic means in compliance with Rule 10-105.1 constitutes a written paper for the purpose of applying these rules. The clerk shall not refuse to accept for filing any paper presented for that purpose solely because it is not presented in proper form as required by these rules or any local rules or practices.

Committee commentary. - The rule establishes the basic procedure for the service of most notices and pleadings in a children's court proceeding. Notices and pleadings requiring special service are specifically excluded in Paragraph B of Rule 10-104. The procedure used to serve the notices and pleadings does not vary significantly from the procedures used in civil proceedings and adult criminal proceedings in the district courts. The persons upon whom the notices and pleadings are to be served does differ.

Certain provisions of Rules 10-104, 10-105 and 10-108 reflect the view of the original committee that the parents, guardian or custodian of a respondent alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision have a legitimate interest in children's court proceedings. The actions of the children's court may effectively limit or nullify the traditional right of the parents, guardian or custodian to the custody, supervision and control of their child. See In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527 (1967).

The Children's Code subjects parents to specific liabilities. In delinquency cases, the parents may be made parties, may be ordered to submit to counseling or participate in a probation, treatment or institutional treatment program, and, if made a party and have not been determined to be indigent, shall be ordered to pay the reasonable costs of support, maintenance and treatment if the child is institutionalized. See Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978.

In abuse, neglect and need of supervision cases, the parents may be required to pay the reasonable costs of support and treatment if legal custody is vested in someone other than the parents. See Sections 32-1-41 and 32-1-47 NMSA 1978.

In delinquency, abuse, neglect or need of supervision proceedings, the parents may be ordered to pay the fees of the child's court-appointed attorney, the costs of medical and other examinations ordered by the court and court costs. See Section 32-1-41 NMSA 1978 and commentary to Rule 10-205.

Nevertheless, in delinquency proceedings, it is only the child, not the parents, guardian or custodian, who is the accused and whose actual liberty may be in question. Thus, the original committee felt that the interests of the parents, guardian or custodian of the accused child in the proceedings, although not raising them to the position of "parties" unless formal intervention is sought pursuant to Rule 10-108, do require that they be informed of the status of the proceedings.

Specifically, Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph A of Rule 10-104 requires service on each party. In delinquency proceedings, the parties are the state, the respondent and the parents of an alleged delinquent child if named pursuant to Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978. In abuse and neglect proceedings, the parties are the state, the respondent and the child allegedly abused or neglected. See Rule 10-108.

Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph A of Rule 10-104 requires service upon the parents, guardian or custodian of a respondent alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision. If the parents reside together, service of one copy of the notice or pleading suffices. If the parents do not reside together, only the parent, guardian or custodian having legal custody of the child is required to be served. The court may order that additional or different persons receive the copies of the notices and pleadings.

If a party or person required to be served is represented by an attorney or guardian ad litem, service is to be made upon his attorney or guardian ad litem under Paragraph D of Rule 10-104.

Written motions which may be heard ex parte are exempt from this rule. These motions include a stay pending appeal under Rule 10-118 and an ex parte custody order, Rule 10-301.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-104 enumerates the notices and pleadings which are not covered by Rule 10-104 and which are governed by the provisions of other rules. Except for the summons and copy of the petition and the ex parte custody order, the notices are not within the provisions of Rule 10-104 because the time limits involved in the relevant proceeding are such that the five-day notice requirement of Paragraph C of Rule 10-104 is inappropriate or unworkable.

Paragraph D of Rule 10-104 defining how service is made is substantially similar to Paragraph B of Rule 5-103 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. The guardian ad litem receives service on behalf of the alleged abused or neglected child he represents. In terms of service, the role of the guardian ad litem is similar to that of the attorney for the respondent. See commentary to Rule 10-108 for discussion of the role of the guardian ad litem.

Paragraph D of Rule 10-104 relates to service by mailing. The "outgoing mail container" referred to in Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph D of Rule 10-104 denotes a container specifically designated and used solely for the purpose of receiving outgoing mail. The contents of the container should regularly and frequently be delivered to the United States postal service.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-104 on the filing of papers follows Paragraphs C and D of Rule 5-103 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Paragraph F of Rule 10-104 on proof of service follows Paragraph E of Rule 5-103 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. The last sentence makes clear that failure to make proof of service is not a jurisdictional defect.

Paragraph G of Rule 10-104 contains a unique procedure if the person entitled to service cannot be located. Paragraph B of Rule 5-103 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts provides that in such cases the pleading shall be left with the clerk of the court and placed in the court file. Paragraph G of Rule 10-104 (and Rule 10-105) provide that if the parents, guardian or custodian of the accused child or the respondent in an abuse or neglect action cannot be found, the children's court attorney must file an affidavit to that effect with the court. Such a filing suspends the requirements of Rule 10-104. The notice requirements of the rule are not suspended if the person who cannot be found is the respondent in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding. If, after the affidavit is filed, the person returns and makes his presence known, good faith and probably due process will require that such person receive all notices and pleadings filed subsequent to his return.

If an affidavit is filed in connection with the service of summons and petition under Paragraph F of Rule 10-105, that affidavit will fulfill the requirements of Paragraph G of Rule 10-104.

The only notice provision of the Code specifically superseded by Rule 10-104 is Section 32-1-29A(3) NMSA 1978 relating to transfer hearings.

The basic effect of Rule 10-104 on the Code is to put in notice time limits where none existed before, to establish a procedure for service of copies of notices and pleadings and to clarify who is to receive copies of notices and pleadings.

10-105.1. Service and filing of pleadings and other papers by facsimile.

A. Facsimile copies permitted to be filed. Subject to the provisions of this rule, a party may file a facsimile copy of any pleading or paper by faxing a copy directly to the court or by faxing a copy to an intermediary agent who files it in person with the court. A facsimile copy of a pleading or paper has the same effect as any other filing for all procedural and statutory purposes. The filing of pleadings and other papers with the court by facsimile copy shall be made by faxing them to the clerk of the court at a number designated by the clerk, except if the paper or pleading is to be filed directly with the judge, the judge may permit the papers to be faxed to a number designated by the judge, in which event the judge shall note thereon the filing date and forthwith transmit them to the office of the clerk. Each judicial district shall designate one or more telephone numbers to receive fax filings.

B. Facsimile transmission by court of notices, orders or writs; receipt of affidavits. Facsimile transmission may be used by the court for issuance of any notice, order or writ or receipt of an affidavit. The clerk shall note the date and time of successful transmission on the file copy of the notice, order or writ.

C. Paper size and quality. No facsimile document shall be filed with the court unless it is on plain paper and substantially satisfies all of the requirements of Rule 10-103.3 of these rules.

D. Pleadings or papers faxed directly to the court. A pleading or paper may be faxed directly to the court if:

(1) a fee is not required to file the pleading or paper;

(2) only one copy of the pleading or paper is required to be filed;

(3) the pleading or paper is not more than ten (10) pages in length excluding the facsimile cover page; and

(4) the pleading or paper to be filed is preceded by a cover sheet with the names of the sender and the intended recipient, any applicable instructions, the voice and facsimile telephone numbers of the sender, an identification of the case, the docket number and the number of pages transmitted.

E. Facsimile copy filed by an intermediary agent. Facsimile copies of pleadings or papers filed in person by an intermediary agent are not subject to the restrictions of Paragraph D of this rule.

F. Time of filing. If facsimile transmission of a pleading or paper faxed is begun before the close of the business day of the court in which it is being filed, it will be considered filed on that date. If facsimile transmission is begun after the close of business, the pleading or paper will be considered filed on the next court business day. For any questions of timeliness the time and date affixed on the cover page by the court's facsimile machine will be determinative.

G. Transmission by facsimile. A notice, order, writ, pleading or paper may be faxed to a party or attorney who has:

- (1) listed a facsimile telephone number on a pleading or paper filed with the court in the action;
- (2) a letterhead with a facsimile telephone number; or
- (3) agreed to be served with a copy of the pleading or paper by facsimile transmission.

Service by facsimile is accomplished when the transmission of the pleading or paper is completed.

H. Proof of service by facsimile. Proof of facsimile service must include:

- (1) a statement that the pleading or paper was transmitted by facsimile transmission and that the transmission was reported as complete and without error;
- (2) the time, date and sending and receiving facsimile machine telephone numbers; and
- (3) the name of the person who made the facsimile transmission.

I. Demand for original. A party shall have the right to inspect and copy any pleading or paper that has been filed or served by facsimile transmission if the pleading or paper has a statement signed under oath or affirmation or penalty of perjury.

[Adopted, effective January 1, 1997.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated October 11, 1996, this rule is effective on and after January 1, 1997.

10-105.2. Electronic service and filing of pleadings and other papers.

A. Definitions. As used in these rules:

(1) "electronic transmission" means the transfer of data from computer to computer other than by facsimile transmission; and

(2) "document" includes the electronic representation of pleadings and other papers.

B. Registration for electronic service. The clerk of the Supreme Court shall maintain a register of attorneys who agree to accept documents by electronic transmission. The register shall include the attorney's name and preferred electronic mail address.

C. Electronic transmission by the court. The court may send any document by electronic transmission to an attorney registered pursuant to Paragraph B of this rule and to any other person who has agreed to receive documents by electronic transmission.

D. Filing by electronic transmission. Documents may be filed by electronic transmission in accordance with this rule and any technical specifications for electronic transmission:

(1) in any court that has adopted technical specifications for electronic transmission;

(2) if a fee is not required or if payment is made at the time of filing.

E. Single transmission. Whenever a rule requires multiple copies of a document to be filed only a single transmission is necessary.

F. Service by electronic transmission. Service pursuant to Rule 10-105 of these rules may be made by electronic transmission on any attorney who has registered pursuant to Paragraph B of this rule and on any other person who has agreed to service in this manner.

G. Time of filing. If electronic transmission of a document is received before the close of the business day of the court in which it is being filed, it will be considered filed on that date. If electronic transmission is received after the close of business, the document will be considered filed on the next business day of the court. For any questions of timeliness, the time and date registered by the court's computer will be determinative.

H. Demand for original. A party shall have the right to inspect and copy any document that has been filed or served by electronic transmission if the document has a statement signed under oath or affirmation or penalty of perjury.

I. Proof of service by electronic transmission. Proof of service by electronic transmission shall be made to the court by a certificate of an attorney or affidavit of a non-attorney and shall include:

- (1) the name of the person who sent the document;
- (2) the time, date and electronic address of the sender;
- (3) the electronic address of the recipient;
- (4) a statement that the document was served by electronic transmission and that the transmission was successful.

[Approved, effective July 1, 1997.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated January 28, 1997, this rule is effective on and after July 1, 1997.

10-106. Time.

A. Computation. In computing any period of time prescribed or allowed by these rules, by order of court or by the Children's Code, the day of the act, event or default from which the designated period of time begins to run shall not be included, unless otherwise provided by these rules. The last day of the period so computed shall be included, unless it is a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, or when the act to be done is the filing of a paper in court, a day on which weather or other conditions have made the office of the clerk of the district court inaccessible, in which event the period runs until the end of the next day which is not one of the aforementioned days. When the period of time prescribed or allowed is less than eleven (11) days, intermediate Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays shall be excluded in the computation. As used in this rule, "legal holiday" includes New Year's day, Martin Luther King, Jr.'s birthday, Presidents day, Memorial day, Independence day, Labor day, Columbus day, Veterans' day, Thanksgiving day, Christmas day and any other day designated as a state or judicial holiday.

B. Enlargement. When, by these rules or by a notice given thereunder or by order of court, an act is required or allowed to be done at or within a specified time, the court for cause shown may, at any time in its discretion:

(1) with or without motion or notice, order the period enlarged if request therefor is made before the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by a previous order; or

(2) upon motion made after the expiration of the specified period, permit the act to be done where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect; but it may not extend the time for taking any action under Rules 10-212, 10-226 or 10-308, except to the extent and under the conditions stated in those rules.

C. For motions. A written motion, other than one which may be heard ex parte, and notice of the hearing thereof shall be served not later than five (5) days before the time specified for the hearing, unless a different period is fixed by these rules or by order of the court. Such an order may for cause shown be made on ex parte application.

D. Additional time after service by mail. Whenever a party has the right or is required to do some act within a prescribed period after the service of a notice or other paper upon the party and the notice or paper is served upon the party by mail, three (3) days shall be added to the prescribed period.

Committee commentary. - No substantive changes were made in this rule in 1978. The rule substantially follows Rule 5-104 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Under Paragraph A, except as noted below, the time limits contained in these rules are computed in exactly the same manner as time is computed under either the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts or the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts.

The exceptions to the general method of time computation are the time limits for giving notice of detention, Rule 10-208, and notice of custody, Rule 10-302. These notices are required to be given within 24 hours from the time the child was placed in detention or taken into custody, including Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, even if the 24-hour period ends on one of these days.

Paragraph B on enlargement of time limits is comparable to Paragraph B of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. The court may not extend the time for commencement of detention hearings or custody hearings unless the respondent's attorney agrees in writing to the extension. Under Rules 10-226 and 10-308, only the Supreme Court may extend the time for commencement of adjudicatory hearings.

Paragraph C on additional time after service by mail follows Paragraph D of Rule 5-104 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Paragraph D on time for motions is patterned after Paragraph F of Rule 5-103 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

ANNOTATIONS

The 1995 amendment, effective September 1, 1995, rewrote Paragraph A, added "where the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect" at the end of Subparagraph B(2), substituted the ending language of Paragraph B for "The court may not extend the time for commencement of a detention hearing or a custody hearing unless the attorney for the respondent agrees in writing to an extension", added Paragraph C, redesignated former Paragraph C as Paragraph D and made gender neutral changes in that paragraph, and deleted former paragraph D relating to time for motions.

Failure of state to move for enlargement of time to file petition. - Paragraph B of this rule does not indicate that, upon failure of the state to move for an enlargement of the time in which to file a petition, the children's court loses jurisdiction or that it requires the petition to be dismissed with prejudice. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 393, 574 P.2d 1021 (Ct. App. 1978).

Time for demand for jury trial. - Since the state was unable to establish the date the child's attorney was served with a copy of her appointment, the 10-day period within which to demand a jury trial began to run on the day following the appearance of the attorney at the detention hearing. In re Ruben O. 120 N.M. 160, 899 P.2d 603 (Ct. App. 1995).

ANNOTATIONS

Recompilations. - Rule 10-107, relating to joinder and severance of offenses, was recompiled as 10-204.1 in 1998.

10-108. Parties; intervention.

A. Delinquency proceedings. In proceedings on petitions alleging delinquency, the parties to the action are the child alleged to be delinquent and the state.

B. Neglect or abuse and family in need of court ordered services proceedings; parties. In proceedings on petitions alleging neglect or abuse or a family in need of court ordered services, the parties to the action are:

(1) the state;

(2) a parent who has allegedly neglected or abused a child or is in need of court ordered services; and

(3) the child alleged to be neglected or abused or in need of court ordered services. The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the child alleged to be neglected or abused or in need of court ordered services upon the filing of a petition alleging neglect or abuse or a family in need of court ordered services.

C. Neglect or abuse and family in need of court ordered services proceedings; permissive joinder. In proceedings on petitions alleging neglect or abuse or a family in need of court ordered services, the state may join as parties the non-custodial parent or parents, the guardian or custodian of the child or any other person permitted by law to intervene in the proceedings.

D. Termination of parental rights proceedings; necessary parties. In termination of parental rights proceedings, the parties are the state, the parents of the child who have a constitutionally protected liberty interest in the child, the legal guardians of the child and any other person required by law to be made a party. If a supplemental petition to terminate parental rights is filed in an abuse or neglect proceeding and a parent has not been joined as a party in the abuse or neglect proceeding, the department shall name the parent as a party in the termination of parental rights proceeding.

E. Intervention.

(1) At any stage of an abuse or neglect proceeding, a parent who has not been named as a party or, if the abused child is an Indian, the child's Indian tribe may intervene.

(2) Upon timely application the following persons may be permitted to intervene in a children's court proceeding under such terms and conditions as the judge may prescribe:

(a) in delinquency proceedings, the parents, guardian or custodian of the respondent;

(b) in neglect, abuse or family in need of court ordered services proceedings, a guardian or custodian of the child alleged to have been abused or neglected or in need of court ordered services or any other person permitted by law;

(c) in a delinquency, neglect, abuse or family in need of court ordered services proceeding any person with a statutory right to intervene in the proceedings; or

(d) any person who has a constitutionally protected liberty interest in the proceedings if the disposition of the action may as a practical matter impair or impede the applicant's ability to protect that interest, unless the applicant's interest is adequately represented by existing parties.

In exercising its discretion pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph the court shall consider whether the intervention will unduly delay or prejudice the adjudication of the rights of the original parties.

[As amended, effective July 1, 1995; February 15, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-108 is essentially a definitional section. It was changed in 1978 to reflect the enactment of Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978 (formerly Section 13-14-44.1 NMSA 1953), allowing the parent of an alleged delinquent child to be named a party to the action.

Under Paragraph A of Rule 10-108, the parties in delinquency and need of supervision proceedings are the respondent - the accused child - the state, a parent of a child alleged to be delinquent if named pursuant to Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978, and, of course, anyone allowed to intervene under the rule. Depending on the stage of the proceeding, the state may be represented by either a juvenile probation officer or the children's court attorney. The children's court attorney must represent the state at adjudicatory hearings under Rules 10-227 and 10-308. Otherwise, his appearance at the various hearings is discretionary, although it would be unlikely that a probation officer would represent the state at release or transfer hearings.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-108 defines the parties in neglect and abuse cases. In addition to the accused and the state, the alleged neglected or abused child, represented by a guardian ad litem, is a party. The guardian ad litem must be appointed upon the filing of the neglect or abuse petition (Rule 10-305), although nothing prohibits appointment prior to the filing. The role of the guardian ad litem has been well defined. His appointment:

. . . is a position of the highest trust and no attorney should ever blindly enter an appearance as guardian ad litem and allow a matter to proceed without a full and complete investigation into the facts and law so that his clients will be fairly and competently represented and their rights fully and adequately protected and preserved. Bonds v. Joplin's Heirs, 64 N.M. 342 at 345, 328 P.2d 597 (1958).

In the 1978 revisions to the rules, the role of the guardian ad litem continues even after final disposition (Rule 10-309).

The major difference between the role of the guardian ad litem in a neglect or abuse case and the role of the accused's attorney in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding is that in the former, the guardian ad litem does what he considers to be in the best interests of the child, while in the latter the attorney, although he may advise differently, follows the instructions of his client, even though he may not consider those instructions to be in the client's best interests. The guardian ad litem has much greater freedom.

Paragraph D of Rule 10-108 allows the parents, guardian or custodian of the respondent in delinquency and need of supervision proceedings to become a party by moving the court for permission to intervene in the proceeding. In neglect or abuse proceedings, the parent, guardian or custodian who is not alleged to have neglected or abused the child may be permitted to intervene. The motion envisioned by the committee would be similar to an application for permissive intervention under Rule 1-024 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts, with the court considering whether the intervention would unduly delay the proceedings or prejudice the rights of the respondent. For example, in delinquency and need of supervision proceedings, the risks of delay and confusion seem most acute in those situations in which the parents, guardian or custodian filed the original complaint against their child. In such circumstances, intervention by the parents, guardian or custodian may result in both the state and the parents, guardian or custodian prosecuting the child. Intervention would probably be most desirable in those situations where the accused child does not wish to contest the allegations of the petition, but his parents, guardian or custodian do.

In the event that the court considers it necessary to have the parents, guardian or custodian appear before the court and intervention has not been sought and the parents have not been named as parties under Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978, their appearance may be compelled by subpoena under Rule 10-109. Compare In re Downs, 82 N.M. 319, 481 P.2d 107 (1971).

Rule 10-108 supersedes Subsections K and L of Section 32-1-27 NMSA 1978 relating to appointment of guardians ad litem to the extent that the rule is in conflict with these subsections. The court is left with the discretion to make such an appointment in other proceedings under the criteria set forth in the statute.

ANNOTATIONS

The 1995 amendment, effective July 1, 1995, added "intervention" in the section heading and rewrote this rule to an extent that a detailed analysis is impracticable.

The 1999 amendment, effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after February 15, 1999, in Subparagraph B(2), substituted "a parent who has allegedly" for "the custodial parent or parents of the child alleged to have been", added "a child or is" following "abused"; redesignated Paragraphs D and C as Paragraphs C and D respectively; in Paragraph D, added "who have a constitutionally protected liberty interest in the child" following "parents of the child" and added the last sentence; in Paragraph E, added Subparagraph (1), numbered the undesignated paragraph as Subparagraph (2), and redesignated Subparagraphs (1) through (4) as Items (2)(a) through (2)(d); in Item E(2)(b), deleted "parent" preceding "guardian"; in the undesignated paragraph following Item E(2)(d), substituted "subparagraph (2) of this paragraph" for "this paragraph".

State's representative authorized to execute affidavit of disqualification of judge. - The power and duty of the children's court attorney to represent the state necessarily includes the authority to execute an affidavit of disqualification of a judge when the disqualification is done on behalf of the state. Smith v. Martinez, 96 N.M. 440, 631 P.2d 1308 (1981).

Discretion of trial court in determining intervention. - The trial court has a good deal of discretion in determining whether to allow intervention, and the decision of the trial court will not be reversed absent a showing of abuse of that discretion. In re Termination of Parental Rights of Melvin B. 109 N.M. 18, 780 P.2d 1165 (Ct. App. 1989).

Applicability of child custody jurisdiction statute. - That the nonparent custodians of a child were "acting as parents" pursuant to 40-10-3H NMSA 1978 [now see 40-10A-102(13)] because they had physical custody of the child and claimed a right to custody, had no applicability in a neglect or abuse case so as to entitle the custodians to the protections afforded in a termination of parent rights case. In re Agnes P. 110 N.M. 768, 800 P.2d 202 (Ct. App. 1990).

Rights of de facto custodians. - Because the nonparent custodians of a child failed to establish any right to the child, other than their previous status as de facto custodians, the children's court could properly discontinue their involvement in a treatment plan, dismiss them from the neglect action, and direct that the child be freed for adoption by other qualified and suitable persons. While through their status they appeared to have assumed all the obligations of parents, an in loco parentis status did not entitle them to parental termination proceedings pursuant to former 32-1-55 NMSA 1978. In re Agnes P. 110 N.M. 768, 800 P.2d 202 (Ct. App. 1990).

10-109. Compelling attendance of witnesses.

The Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts shall apply to and govern the compelling of attendance of witnesses in children's court proceedings.

Committee commentary. - See Rule 1-045 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts.

Law reviews. - For survey, "Children's Court Practice in Delinquency and Need of Supervision Cases Under the New Rules," see 6 N.M.L. Rev. 331 (1976).

10-110. Witness immunity.

A. Issuance of order. If a person has been or may be called to testify or to produce a record, document or other object in an abuse or neglect, termination of parental rights or guardianship proceeding in the children's court, the judge before whom the proceeding is pending may upon the written application for immunity by the children's court attorney, issue a written order requiring the person to testify or to produce the record, document or other object notwithstanding the person's privilege against self-incrimination. The department shall serve the district attorney with a copy of the application for immunity and notice of hearing on the application.

B. Application. The court may grant the application and issue a written order pursuant to this rule if it finds:

(1) the testimony, or the record, document or other object may be necessary to the public interest; and

(2) the person has refused or is likely to refuse to testify or to produce the record, document or other object on the basis of the person's privilege against self-incrimination.

C. Extent of immunity. Evidence compelled under an order granted pursuant to this rule or any information directly or indirectly derived from such evidence may not be used against the person in any criminal case except as provided by Rule 11-412 NMRA of the Rules of Evidence.

[Adopted effective February 1, 1982, Court Rule 64 NMSA 1978; Rule 10-110 SCRA 1986; Rule 10-110 NMRA; as amended effective March 20, 2000.]

Committee commentary. - Prior to the March 20, 2000 amendment of this rule, this rule was the same as Rule 5-116 NMRA of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. The March 20, 2000, amendments limit the applicability of this rule to abuse or neglect, termination of parental rights or guardianship proceedings in which the respondent may be accused of a criminal offense arising out of the proceedings.

Paragraph C was added as part of the March 20, 2000 amendments.

ANNOTATIONS

The 2000 amendment, effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after March 20, 2000, in Paragraph A, substituted the enumerated types of proceedings in the children's court for "an official proceeding" in the first sentence and added the last sentence; added Paragraph C; and made gender neutral changes.

10-111. Special masters.

A. Appointment. A special master may be appointed by a children's court judge pursuant to the provisions of this rule to assist in any children's court proceeding.

B. Qualifications. Any person appointed to serve as a special master pursuant to this rule shall:

(1) have been licensed to practice law in the State of New Mexico for at least three (3) years; and

(2) shall be familiar with children's court matters.

C. Powers. Unless the order otherwise specifies, the special master has the power to perform any of the functions of a children's court judge pursuant to the provisions of the Children's Court Rules except that the special master shall not preside at a preliminary hearing or examination, jury trial, bench trial, adjudicatory hearing or dispositional hearing without concurrence of the parties. All recommendations of the special master are contingent upon the approval of the children's court judge.

D. Duties. The special master shall prepare a report including proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law on the matters submitted to the special master by the order of appointment. The report shall be filed with the court and copies shall be served on all parties in accordance with the provisions of these rules.

E. Exceptions to report. Any party may file exceptions to the special master's proposed findings, conclusions, recommendations or proposed orders. Exceptions shall be in writing, filed with the clerk within five (5) days after service of the master's report and shall set forth:

(1) those items to which exception is taken;

(2) a short resume of all facts relevant to the issues presented for review with appropriate references to the pages of the record proper and pages or sequential time or counter numbers of the transcript. If reference is made to evidence the admissibility of which is in controversy, reference shall be to the place in the transcript of proceedings where the evidence was identified, offered and received or rejected;

(3) a citation to any authority which may assist the children's court judge in reviewing the exceptions; and

(4) a statement of the precise relief sought.

F. Review of the special master's report. After the time for filing exceptions has expired the children's court may:

(1) adopt the report or proposed order, modify it or reject it in whole or in part; or

(2) receive evidence excluded by the special master to which exceptions have been taken.

G. Removal of special masters. In any proceeding, upon motion of any party upon good cause shown, or upon the court's own motion, the children's court may at any time remove the special master from acting in that proceeding.

H. Time limits. No time limit set forth in these rules shall be tolled or enlarged because of the appointment of a special master. If a special master is assigned to make recommendations on a proposed admission or consent decree for a child who is in detention, the special master shall submit the special master's recommendations to the court within five (5) days after the admission or consent decree has been referred to the special master.

[As amended, effective March 1, 1991; November 1, 1991; September 1, 1995; August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-111 was added in 1978 to provide assistance to the children's court judge in large judicial districts by allowing a special master to exercise all powers of the court, other than power to preside at jury trials, transfer hearings and dispositional hearings. The 1981 legislature specifically provided for the use of special masters in other judicial districts and provided less restrictive qualifications than provided in this rule. The committee believes that the use of special masters is an inherent power of the judiciary; however, consistent with legislative intent, the court deleted the geographical limitations in Rule 10-111. The committee did not recommend any change in the qualifications for special masters. See Section 32-1-38.1 NMSA 1978 and the definition of "court" found as Subsection C of Section 32-1-3 NMSA 1978.

A major goal of the juvenile justice system is early and prompt judicial disposition of a case. Rule 10-111 is designed to allow supplementation of judicial resources whenever the children's court judge "is unable to expeditiously dispose of pending children's court cases" or some other "exceptional condition" requires the appointment. The supreme court need not approve the appointment of a special master in each individual case.

The power to appoint special masters is an inherent power of the judiciary. McCann v. Maxwell, 170 Ohio St. 282, 189 N.E.2d 143 (1963). See North Carolina R.R. v. Swasey, 90 U.S. 405, 23 L. Ed. 136 (1875). Typically, this power has been limited to unusual or complex cases. Thus, Rule 1-053 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Court provides:

A reference to a master shall be the exception and not the rule. In actions to be tried by a jury, a reference shall be made only when the issues are complicated; in actions to be tried without a jury, save in matters of account and of difficult computation of damages, a reference shall be made only upon a showing that some exceptional condition requires it.

The committee believed that the court's inability to "expeditiously dispose of pending children's court cases" was the type of exceptional condition which warranted appointment of a special master. This conclusion was based on two considerations: (1) the goal of prompt disposition, previously discussed and (2) the very short time limits established in the rules and the Children's Code.

The time limits in these rules are not to be tolled or enlarged if a special master is appointed.

Once it was determined that a special master was a necessary addition to the system, the committee endeavored to draft a rule which would meet the requirements of both the state and federal constitutions.

A special master in a juvenile case has been held to be a ministerial officer and not a judicial officer so long as the master's recommendations are not binding on the district judge. In re Anderson, 272 Md. 85, 321 A.2d 516 (Md. Ct. App. 1974). Under Rule 10-111F, the court is not bound by the findings and conclusions of the special master and may, in fact, receive evidence excluded by the special master if the claimed error is properly preserved. The court retains full power over the dispositional hearing pursuant to Paragraph C of Rule 10-111. The children's court judge always has responsibility for the final decision in the case.

Under Rule 10-111 a child is subject to a "single proceeding which begins with a master's hearing and culminates with an adjudication by the children's court judge". Thus there is no violation of the double jeopardy clause of the United States Constitution. Swisher v. Brady, 438 U.S. 204, 98 S. Ct. 2699, 57 L. Ed. 705 (1978).

This rule was amended in 1990 to authorize the appointment of special advocates to assist the children's court by investigating facts and making reports to the court. The 1991 amendments eliminated the authority of special advocates to enter into ex parte communications with the children's court judge. [As revised, effective November 1, 1991.]

ANNOTATIONS

Cross references. - For definition of "court appointed special advocate", see 32A-1-4 NMSA 1978.

The first 1991 amendment, effective for cases filed in the children's court on and after March 1, 1991, in the catchline, added "and CASA"; in Paragraph A, substituted "A special master or a court appointed special advocate ('CASA')" for "With the prior approval of the New Mexico Supreme Court a special master" at the beginning and inserted "or CASA" in Subparagraph (2); in Paragraph B, added the designations in Subparagraph (1) and added Subparagraph (2); in Paragraph C, added the Subparagraph (1) designation and Subparagraph (2); in Paragraph D, substituted "Duties" for "Report" in the heading, added the Subparagraph (1) designation, substituting "submitted to the special master" for "submitted to him" and added Subparagraph (2); in Paragraph F, inserted "the special masters" in the heading; and, in Paragraph H, added "or a CASA" at the end.

The second 1991 amendment, effective for cases filed in the children's courts on or after November 1, 1991, in Paragraph C, added "with copies to the parties" to the end of Subparagraph (2); in Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph D, deleted the heading "CASA" from the beginning and deleted former Sentence (f), relating to ex parte communications with judges by CASA volunteers; and added Subparagraph (3) of Paragraph D.

The 1995 amendment, effective September 1, 1995, deleted "and CASA" from the rule heading and rewrote Paragraphs A to D and H to delete provisions relating to court appointed special advocates; deleted former Subparagraphs A(1) and A(2) relating to necessary showings for appointment; rewrote Paragraph C; inserted "special" in the introductory language of Paragraph E; inserted "or proposed order" in Subparagraph F(1); and in Paragraph G, substituted "Removal" for "Substitution" in the paragraph heading, substituted "In any proceeding, upon motion" for "Upon application", inserted "upon good cause shown", and added "from acting in that proceeding".

The 1999 amendment, effective August 1, 1999, substituted "be familiar with" for "be knowledgeable in the trial of" in Subparagraph B(2), and added the last sentence in Paragraph H.

Court is not bound by commentaries. - The court of appeals is not bound by the interpretations of the commentaries to this rule. State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 621, 603 P.2d 731 (Ct. App. 1979).

Rule limits the inherent power of a district judge to appoint a special master in children's court. State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 621, 603 P.2d 731 (Ct. App. 1979).

Appointment without prior approval is improper. - Where prior approval of the supreme court for a party to act as a special master to a children's court is never sought, either immediately prior to a particular case, or at some time more remote in the past, such an appointment is improper. State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 621, 603 P.2d 731 (Ct. App. 1979).

Effect of special master's recommendations. - As long as the special master's recommendations are not binding on the children's court judge, a special master is considered a ministerial, rather than a judicial officer, and is without powers of adjudication. Under Paragraph F of this rule, the children's court is not bound by the special master's findings and conclusions. Thus, there is no violation of the double jeopardy clause when the children's court judge remands to the special master prior to entering its findings and conclusions. State v. Billy M. 106 N.M. 123, 739 P.2d 992 (Ct. App. 1987).

Time limit for dispositional hearing is not suspended. - The running of the twenty-day time limit in Rule 10-229 NMRA within which a dispositional hearing must be held is not suspended until exceptions are filed under Paragraph E of this rule, and the children's court judge acts on the report of the special master. In re Paul T. 118 N.M. 538, 882 P.2d 1051 (Ct. App. 1994).

Where special master lacks authority to hear probation revocation petition, the court is without jurisdiction at the hearing on the petition. When the district judge disposes of the case more than 30 days after the petition is filed, the petition should be dismissed with prejudice. State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 621, 603 P.2d 731 (Ct. App. 1979).

10-112. Peremptory challenge to a children's court judge; recusal; procedure for exercising; disability.

A. Limit on excusals or challenges. No party shall excuse more than one judge. A party may not excuse a judge after the party has requested that judge to perform any discretionary act. Action by the court in connection with a detention or custody hearing or the appointment of counsel shall not preclude the disqualification of a judge.

B. Procedure for excusing a children's court judge. A party may exercise the statutory right to excuse the judge before whom the proceeding is pending by filing with the clerk of the children's court a peremptory election. The peremptory election to excuse must be signed by the party or an attorney representing a party within ten (10) days after the latter of:

(1) the first appearance of the party;

(2) service of the petition on the party; or

(3) mailing by the clerk of notice of assignment or reassignment of the case to a judge.

C. Notice of reassignment; service of excusal. After the filing of the petition, if the case is reassigned to a different judge, the clerk shall give notice of reassignment to all parties. Any party electing to excuse a judge shall serve notice of such election on all parties.

D. Recusal. No children's court judge shall sit in any action in which the judge's impartiality may reasonably be questioned under the provisions of the Constitution of New Mexico or the Code of Judicial Conduct, and the judge shall file a recusal in any such action. Upon receipt of notification of recusal from a children's court judge, the clerk of the court shall give written notice to each party.

E. Disability. If a trial or hearing has been commenced and the judge is unable to proceed, any other judge may proceed with it upon certifying familiarity with the record and determining that the proceedings in the case may be completed without prejudice to the parties. The successor judge may recall any witness.

[As amended, effective August 1, 1989; July 1, 1995.]

Committee commentary. - In 1989, Rule 10-112 was amended to adopt the peremptory disqualification procedures approved by the Supreme Court for civil cases. See Rule 1-088.1.

Paragraph D of Rule 10-112 applies to disqualifications pursuant to Section 38-3-9 NMSA 1978. In Frazier v. Stanley, 83 N.M. 719, 497 P.2d 230 (1972), the New Mexico Supreme Court held that the right to disqualify a judge pursuant to Section 38-3-9 NMSA 1978 (formerly Section 21-5-8 NMSA 1953) was applicable to the Juvenile Code, predecessor statute to the Children's Code. The court held that Juvenile Code proceedings were "either civil or criminal (and) (i)n either case, petitioner was a party to the action or proceeding and entitled to exercise the right of disqualification given her by Section 38-3-9, supra". 83 N.M. at 720.

Under Section 38-3-9 NMSA 1978, the party himself, not his attorney, must sign the affidavit of disqualification, and this procedure is continued under Rule 10-112. Rule 10-112, although following the procedures outlined in Section 38-3-9 NMSA 1978, does not follow the time limits for disqualification set forth in Section 38-3-10 NMSA 1978.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-112 is intended to make clear that the action of a judge at a detention or custody hearing or the action of the judge in appointing counsel is not considered an exercise of discretion in determining the validity of a later disqualification. See Smith v. Martinez, 96 N.M. 440, 631 P.2d 1308 (1968).

Paragraph C of Rule 10-112 follows Rule 5-106 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Rule 10-112 is not meant to restrict disqualifications pursuant to Art. VI, Sec. 18, of the New Mexico Constitution, nor to disqualifications pursuant to Sections 32-1-29 or 32-1-36 NMSA 1978. Section 32-1-36 NMSA 1978 allows disqualification upon objection by the child in certain situations involving consent decrees, and Section 32-1-29 NMSA 1978 permits disqualification upon objection of a party when the judge presides at a transfer hearing.

ANNOTATIONS

The 1989 amendment, effective on and after August 1, 1989, substituted present Paragraph A for former Paragraph A, relating to filing by party of affidavit that judge cannot preside with impartiality; redesignated former Paragraph C as present Paragraph G; and added present Paragraphs C through F.

The 1995 amendment, effective July 1, 1995, rewrote this rule to an extent that a detailed analysis is impracticable.

State's representative authorized to execute affidavit of disqualification of judge. - The power and duty of the children's court attorney to represent the state necessarily includes the authority to execute an affidavit of disqualification of a judge when the disqualification is done on behalf of the state. Smith v. Martinez, 96 N.M. 440, 631 P.2d 1308 (1981).

Am. Jur. 2d, A.L.R. and C.J.S. references. - 47 Am. Jur. 2d Juvenile Courts § 8.

10-113. Attorneys appearances; withdrawal and substitution of counsel; signing of pleadings.

A. Entry of appearance. Whenever an attorney undertakes to represent a party in any children's court action, the attorney shall file a written entry of appearance in the cause, unless the attorney was appointed by written order of the court. For the purpose of this rule, the filing of any pleading signed by an attorney constitutes an entry of appearance.

B. Continued representation; delinquency proceedings. An attorney who has entered an appearance in a delinquency proceeding, or who has been appointed by the court to represent a child in a delinquency proceeding shall continue such representation until relieved by the court, unless a substitution of counsel is filed not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the adjudicatory hearing.

C. Substitution of counsel. Except as provided in Paragraph B of this rule, no attorney or firm who has entered an appearance in a children's court proceeding may withdraw as counsel without a written order of the court. The court may condition consent to withdraw upon substitution of other counsel or the filing by a party of proof of service on all other parties of an address at which service may be made upon the party. Following withdrawal by counsel, an unrepresented party shall have twenty (20) days within which to secure counsel or be deemed to have entered an appearance pro se. Notice of withdrawal and substitution of counsel shall be filed with the court and served on all parties either by withdrawing counsel or by substituted counsel.

D. Failure to observe rules. An attorney who willfully fails to observe the requirements of these rules, including prescribed time limitations, may be held in contempt of court and subject to disciplinary action.

E. Signing of pleadings. Every pleading of a party represented by an attorney shall be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, whose address and telephone number shall be stated. A party who is not represented by an attorney shall sign the party's pleading and state the party's address and telephone number. Except when otherwise specifically provided by rule, pleadings need not be verified or accompanied by affidavit. The signature of an attorney constitutes a certificate by the signer that the signer has read the pleading; that to the best of the signer's knowledge, information and belief there is good ground to support it; and that it is not interposed for delay.

[As amended, effective May 1, 1986; April 2, 2001.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-113 was formerly Rule 12. It was renumbered in 1978. See Rules 5-107 and 5-112 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. See also discussion of attorney discipline in commentary to Rule 10-204.

The requirement in Paragraph A of Rule 10-113 that counsel "immediately" file a written entry of appearance is designed to prevent the unnecessary appointment of an attorney for a respondent alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision when that respondent already has retained private counsel. Under Rule 10-204, appointment of counsel occurs automatically within five days of the filing of a petition or at the conclusion of the detention hearing unless counsel has entered an appearance on behalf of the respondent.

It should also be noted that the time limits for pretrial motions in Rule 10-114 and the time limit for a demand for jury trial in Rule 10-228 begin running from the time of appointment or entry of appearance.

Paragraph D was derived from Rule 1-011 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts. It eliminates any need for endorsements on petitions by the children's court attorney. See Section 32-1-17 NMSA 1978.

The 2001 amendment, effective April 2, 2001, rewrote the rule heading which read "Attorneys; fees"; in Paragraph B, inserted "delinquency proceedings" in the bold heading, inserted "in a delinquency proceeding" preceding "appearance", inserted "to represent a child in a delinquency proceeding" preceding "by the court" and inserted "unless a substitution of counsel is filed not less than fifteen (15) days prior to the adjudicatory hearing" at the end; redesignated former Paragraphs C and D as present Paragraphs D and E; added Paragraph C pertaining to substitution of counsel; deleted former Paragraph E relating to fees; and in present Paragraph E, inserted "telephone number" in two places.

Compiler's notes. - Rule 10-204 NMRA, referred to in the second sentence in the second paragraph of the committee commentary, was amended in 1982 and no longer deals with the appointment of an attorney.

Entry of appearance. - Since the state was unable to establish the date the child's attorney was served with a copy of her appointment, the 10-day period within which to demand a jury trial began to run on the day following the appearance of the attorney at the detention hearing. In re Ruben O. 120 N.M. 160, 899 P.2d 603 (Ct. App. 1995).

10-115. Rules of evidence.

Except as otherwise provided by these rules, the New Mexico Rules of Evidence shall govern all proceedings in the children's court.

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-115 was formerly Rule 14. It was renumbered in 1978.

Rule 10-115 carries forth the provision of Rule of Evidence 11-1101 that the Rules of Evidence apply to all the courts of the state.

Rule of Evidence 11-1101 makes the rules inapplicable to sentencing proceedings, issuance of arrest warrants and search warrants, granting or revoking probation and proceedings with respect to release on bail or otherwise. By analogy, these exceptions apply to the issuance of arrest and search warrants under Rule 10-206, to detention hearings under Rule 10-211 (a proceeding with respect to release on bail or otherwise), to dispositional hearings under Rules 10-229 and 10-309 (sentencing proceedings) and to reviews of dispositional judgments under Rule 10-311.

Within specific children's court rules, the Rules of Evidence are specifically made inapplicable to the determination of a factual basis for an admission or consent decree, Rules 10-224 and 10-307; to ex parte custody proceedings, Rule 10-301; custody hearings, Rule 10-303; and the release hearing, Rule 10-212, under the general policy of Rule 11-1101 of the Rules of Evidence.

The only other provisions of the Children's Court Rules which deal with evidentiary matters are Rules 10-224 and 10-307 relating to the inadmissibility of consent decree discussions in other proceedings.

The Children's Code itself contains two evidentiary provisions which are apparently in conflict with one another and at least partially in conflict with the Rules of Evidence. The New Mexico Supreme Court applies the same constitutional standards for waiver of constitutional rights to children and adults. State v. Henry, 78 N.M. 573, 434 P.2d 692 (1967). See also Section 32-1-27 NMSA 1978. Children may waive their constitutional rights. See *Neller v. ANNOTATIONS

Withdrawals. - Pursuant to a court order dated July 17, 1995, this rule, relating to clerical mistakes, is withdrawn effective September 1, 1995.

10-117. Harmless error; failure to comply with time limits.

Error or defect in any ruling, order, act or omission by the court or by any of the parties including failure to comply with time limits is not grounds for granting a new hearing or for setting aside a verdict, for vacating, modifying or otherwise disturbing a judgment or order, or for dismissing an action, unless refusal to take any such action appears to the court inconsistent with substantial justice or unless these rules expressly provide otherwise.

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-117 was formerly Rule 18. It was renumbered in 1978.

See Rule 1-061 of the Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts and Rule 5-113 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Rule 11-103 of the Rules of Evidence governs harmless error in the admission or exclusion of evidence.

Rule 10-117 was amended in 1981 to clarify that failure to comply with time limits is not grounds for dismissal of an action unless expressly provided otherwise by the rules. Rules 10-226, 10-229 and 10-308 provide for dismissal with prejudice for failure to comply with the time limits for adjudicatory and dispositional hearings.

In State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 393, 574 P.2d 1021 (Ct. App. 1978), the New Mexico Court of Appeals dismissed a petition with prejudice which had not been filed within the time prescribed by Section 32-1-14 NMSA 1978. The court dismissed the petition with prejudice, basing its decision on the statute. Section 32-1-14 NMSA 1978 was amended in 1981 to delete both the time limit and dismissal with prejudice requirement provisions.

Rules 10-226 and 10-308 provide time limits for adjudicatory hearings and Rule 10-229 provides time limits for dispositional hearings. These rules specifically require dismissal with prejudice if the time limit is not met. Since the decision in State v. Doe, supra, and apparently based on that holding, the court of appeals has dismissed petitions for failure to comply with time limits for dispositional and probation revocation hearings.

State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 31, 595 P.2d 1221 (Ct. App. 1979), held that a violation of the time requirements of Rule 10-229 requires dismissal. The delay of a child's arrival at the youth diagnostic center, followed by the withdrawal of the child's original attorney and a request for continuance of the hearing by a second attorney, resulting in the hearing being held more than seventy-five days following the completion of the adjudicatory hearing, does not affect the requirement of dismissal. State v. Doe, 94 N.M. 282, 609 P.2d 729 (Ct. App. 1980).

State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 621, 603 P.2d 731 (Ct. App. 1979), held that failure of the court to commence the hearing to revoke probation within the time prescribed by the rules requires that the revocation petition be dismissed with prejudice.

State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 748, 605 P.2d 256 (Ct. App. 1980), held that the hearing on a petition to extend custody pursuant to 32-1-38 NMSA 1978 must be held within 30 days after the date of termination of the prior custody or the date the respondent is arrested after his failure to appear, whichever shall last occur. The time limits of Rule 10-226 are applicable to petitions to extend custody. Failure to hold the hearing on the petition to extend custody within 30 days of the date of the applicable occurrence stated above requires dismissal with prejudice of the petition to extend custody.

ANNOTATIONS

Fundamental error. - Fundamental error will only be heard to prevent a plain miscarriage of justice where someone has been deprived of rights essential to a defense, or to protect those whose innocence appears indisputable or is open to such question that it would shock the conscience to permit the conviction to stand. Doe v. State, 88 N.M. 347, 540 P.2d 827 (Ct. App.), cert. denied, 88 N.M. 318, 540 P.2d 248 (1975).

Prejudicial error needed for reversal. - In children's court cases, no less than in adult cases, error must be prejudicial to be reversible. State v. Doe, 103 N.M. 233, 704 P.2d 1109 (Ct. App. 1985).

Improper admission of evidence not reversible error absent reliance. - The erroneous admission of evidence is not reversible error in a nonjury proceeding unless it appears that the court must have relied upon such evidence in reaching its decision; court's remarks at conclusion of child's transfer hearing showed that court did not rely on any of possibly inadmissible testimony based on contents of probation file, but rather on probation officer's personal knowledge of activities involving the child. In re Doe, 89 N.M. 700, 556 P.2d 1176 (Ct. App. 1976).

10-118. Stay pending appeal; application in the court of appeals.

A party appealing a judgment of the children's court may request that the judgment be stayed by filing and serving an application for stay in the manner provided by the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

[As amended, effective July 1, 1988.]

Committee commentary. - This rule was revised in two ways in 1978: (1) the time in which an answer is to be filed in response to an application for stay was expanded from three days to seven days (see Rule 10-106 for computation of time limits), and (2) the role of the children's court judge in the appellate stay procedure was deleted.

Requirements regarding reports of the evidence submitted in the children's court are now fulfilled by certificate of counsel.

This rule sets forth the general procedure for staying a judgment of the children's court. Both the attorney general and the children's court attorney must be served with the application. Although the attorney general represents the state on appeal, the trial attorney may be involved in opposing the application. To give effect to 32-1-39B NMSA 1978, the rule requires the application to present alternatives for placement of the child pending the appeal.

ANNOTATIONS

Cross references. - As to appeals from children's court, see 32A-1-17 NMSA 1978.

The 1988 amendment, effective July 1, 1988, deleted the Paragraph A designation, substituted "in the manner provided by the Rules of Appellate Procedure" for the former provisions regarding filing and serving in the courts of appeals at the end of the rule, and deleted former Paragraphs B to E, regarding contents of the application, response to the application, stay pending disposition of the application, and disposition of the application.

10-119. Judgments or orders on mandate.

A. Party responsible. Within thirty (30) days after an appellate court has sent its mandate to the children's court, the prevailing party on appeal shall either:

(1) present to the court a proposed judgment or order on the mandate containing the specific directions of the appellate court; or

(2) if necessary, request a hearing.

B. Service. The proposed judgment or order on the mandate shall be served on all parties.

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated September 14, 2000, this rule is effective November 1, 2000.

10-121. Court appointed special advocates.

A. Appointment. A court appointed special advocate ("CASA") may be appointed by a children's court judge pursuant to the provisions of this rule to assist in any children's court proceeding.

B. Qualifications. Any volunteer appointed to serve as a CASA pursuant to this rule shall:

- (1) be of the age of majority;
- (2) have successfully passed screening requirements, including a written application, personal interview, reference checks, and criminal records checks;
- (3) have successfully completed a minimum of fifteen (15) hours initial training in accordance with the guidelines of the National CASA Association;
- (4) receive regular in-service training; and
- (5) remain under the supervision of the local CASA director.

C. Powers. The CASA may assist the children's court:

- (1) in determining the best interests of the child by investigating the facts of the situation when directed by the court and submitting reports to the parties; and
- (2) by monitoring compliance with the treatment plan and submitting reports to the court and the parties subsequent to adjudication.

D. Duties. Any volunteer appointed to serve as a CASA pursuant to this rule shall be assigned duties consistent with the best interest of the child, which includes but is not limited to:

- (1) reviewing records other than those records to which access is limited by the court;
- (2) interviewing appropriate parties;
- (3) monitoring of case progress;
- (4) preparing reports based on the investigation conducted by the CASA, and including recommendations to the court; and
- (5) conducting business while maintaining confidentiality of information obtained.

E. Ex parte communications. A CASA volunteer shall not engage in any ex parte communications with the judge assigned to any case on which the CASA volunteer is working.

F. Reports. Any reports prepared by the CASA volunteer shall not be filed with or considered by the children's court judge prior to the conclusion of the adjudicatory proceeding. The report shall be served on the parties, but not the court, at least five (5) days prior to the hearing at which it will be considered.

G. Time limits. No time limit set forth in these rules shall be tolled or enlarged because of the appointment of a CASA.

10-204. Preliminary inquiry; filing of petition.

A. Preliminary inquiry. Prior to the filing of a petition alleging delinquency, probation services shall complete a preliminary inquiry in accordance with the Children's Code.

B. Petitions; form. Petitions shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court. The petition shall be signed by the children's court attorney or a staff attorney as permitted by the Children's Code.

C. Time limit. If the child is in detention a petition shall be filed within two (2) days from the date of detention.

D. Notice of filing of petitions in delinquency proceedings. If the parents, guardians or custodians of a child alleged to be a delinquent child are not joined as parties in the delinquency proceeding, they shall be given notice of the filing of the petition in the manner provided by Rule 10-105 of these rules.

[As amended, effective October 1, 1996.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-204 was formerly Rule 23. It was renumbered in 1978.

The rule sets forth the procedure for initiating formal court action in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding.

Under Paragraph A of Rule 10-204 the filing of a petition is a two-step process: (1) probation services conducts a preliminary inquiry and either authorizes or refuses to authorize the filing of a petition; and (2) the children's court attorney reviews the matter to determine if there are legally sufficient grounds to proceed to court with the case. The children's court attorney makes the final determination whether or not to prosecute the child. He may do so even if probation services has not authorized a petition. He may refuse to do so even if probation services has authorized the filing of the petition. However, probation services must have completed a preliminary inquiry before the petition can be filed. The original committee believed that the children's court attorney is responsible for prosecuting the case, and he should make the ultimate decision whether or not to proceed.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-204 sets forth the form and contents of the petition. Forms for petitions have been approved by the supreme court.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-204 establishes time limits for filing of the petition. The time limit for filing of a petition when the child is in detention is also the time limit for completion of the preliminary inquiry. For computation of the time limits see Rule 10-106.

Rule 10-204 covers the subject matter dealt with in Sections 32-1-14D, 32-1-17, 32-1-18, 32-1-19 and 32-1-26A(1) NMSA 1978. The most significant changes are in the procedure for filing a petition and in the time limits for filing a petition when the child is not in detention.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-204 supersedes conflicting provisions contained in Sections 32-1-17 and 32-1-18 NMSA 1978. Initiating formal court action is a procedural matter.

The requirement that the children's court attorney consult with probation services is believed to be directory and not mandatory. See State ex rel. Attorney General v. Reese, 78 N.M. 241, 430 P.2d 399 (1967). Rule 10-113 of these rules makes the endorsement on each petition that the filing of the petition is in the best interest of the child and the public unnecessary. See also art. 20, § 1 of the New Mexico Constitution.

In no case may anyone but the children's court attorney file a petition. (See Rule 10-305 for the filing of neglect petitions.) Probation officers are not allowed to sign any petitions, including petitions to revoke probation. (See Rule 10-232.) Of course, a parent, guardian, a representative of an agency licensed or authorized to provide care or supervision of children, etc., may make a complaint to probation services or the human services department.

In State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 393, 574 P.2d 1021 (Ct. App. 1978), the court held that a petition not filed within the mandatory time period must be dismissed with prejudice pursuant to the language of former Section 32-1-14D NMSA 1978. Under Rule 10-117, the only jurisdictional time limits are those contained in Rules 10-226 and 10-308 regarding the commencement of adjudicatory hearings on delinquency, need of supervision and abuse and neglect petitions and Rule 10-229 regarding the commencement of dispositional hearings. This is consistent with the general policy followed in the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Enforcement of the other provisions of the rules, including time limits, is through Rule 10-113 which allows the court to impose sanctions on an attorney who willfully violates the rules. This is also consistent with the policy of the Rules of Criminal Procedure and similar provisions in other rules adopted by the supreme court. For example, in State v. Lucero, 87 N.M. 369, 533 P.2d 758 (1975), the supreme court directed the court of appeals to hear an appeal on its merits with leave to "impose such sanctions as it deems appropriate" on an attorney for violation of the appellate rules. See also Rule 5-702 and commentary thereto of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Although Section 32-1-3PNMSA 1978 was amended to delete the requirement that a delinquent child be in need of care or rehabilitation, Section 32-1-31E NMSA 1978 requires the court to find that a delinquent child is in need of care and rehabilitation and if the court does not so find, the petition shall be dismissed and the child released. "Need of care and rehabilitation" is still a requirement for delinquency.

The 1996 amendment, effective October 1, 1996, added "Preliminary inquiry" to the rule heading, rewrote Paragraphs A, B and C, and added Paragraph D.

Determination whether to file delinquency petition deemed social, not legal. - The "best interests" determination as to the filing of a delinquency petition is a social determination, not a legal determination. State v. Doe, 97 N.M. 792, 643 P.2d 1244 (Ct. App. 1982).

And involves exercise of discretion. - A best interest determination, whether by probation services, the children's court attorney or both, involves the exercise of discretion. State v. Doe, 97 N.M. 792, 643 P.2d 1244 (Ct. App. 1982).

Although determination by children's court attorney subject to judicial review. - The best interests determination of the children's court attorney is subject to judicial review by the children's court and by the New Mexico Court of Appeals. State v. Doe, 97 N.M. 792, 643 P.2d 1244 (Ct. App. 1982).

Children's court attorney authorized to execute affidavit of disqualification of judge. - The power and duty of the children's court attorney to represent the state necessarily includes the authority to execute an affidavit of disqualification of a judge when the disqualification is done on behalf of the state. Smith v. Martinez, 96 N.M. 440, 631 P.2d 1308 (1981).

Rule does not apply to a petition to revoke probation; such petitions are governed by Rule 10-232. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 364, 574 P.2d 288 (Ct. App. 1978).

Subparagraph C(1) is mandatory. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 393, 574 P.2d 1021 (Ct. App. 1978).

And controls over conflicting statute. - There was a conflict between Subparagraph C(1) and 32-1-14D NMSA 1978 (prior to 1981) as to the time period the petition must be filed. As to this time period, the court rule is controlling. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 393, 574 P.2d 1021 (Ct. App. 1978).

However, it does not provide for the dismissal of a petition for a failure to file the petition within the 30-day time period. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 393, 574 P.2d 1021 (Ct. App. 1978).

Dismissal of petition inappropriate where procedural violation tangential to remedy. - The normal remedy for a violation of the children's court time limits, dismissal of the petition, would be inappropriate where the procedural violation is only tangentially related to the asserted remedy. State v. Doe, 94 N.M. 446, 612 P.2d 238 (Ct. App. 1980).

Delinquency petition based on alleged burglary not insufficient. - A best interests determination that a delinquency petition be filed, based on the fact that the child allegedly committed a burglary, is not insufficient as a matter of law. State v. Doe, 97 N.M. 792, 643 P.2d 1244 (Ct. App. 1982).

10-204.1. Delinquency proceedings; joinder of offenses and parties; severance.

A. Joinder of offenses. Two or more offenses may be joined in a single petition alleging delinquency, with each such allegation stated in a separate count if such allegations, whether felonies or misdemeanors or both:

- (1) are of the same or similar character, even if not part of a single scheme or plan; or
- (2) are based on the same conduct or on a series of acts either connected together or constituting parts of a single scheme or plan.

B. Joinder of respondents. A separate petition shall be filed for each respondent who is a child alleged to have committed a delinquent act. Two or more respondents may be joined on motion of a party, or by the filing of a statement of joinder by the state contemporaneously with the filing of the petitions charging such respondents:

- (1) when each of the respondents is charged with accountability for each offense included;
- (2) when all of the respondents are charged with conspiracy and some of the respondents are also charged with one or more offenses alleged to be in furtherance of the conspiracy; or
- (3) when, even if conspiracy is not charged and not all of the respondents are charged in each count, the several offenses charged:
 - (a) were part of a common scheme or plan; or
 - (b) were so closely connected in respect to time, place and occasion that it would be difficult to separate proof of one charge from proof of others.

C. Motion for severance. If it appears that a respondent or the state is prejudiced by the joinder of offenses or of parties by the filing of a statement of joinder for trial, the court may order separate trials of offenses, grant a severance of respondents or provide whatever other relief justice requires. In ruling on a motion by a respondent for severance, the court may order the state to deliver to the court for inspection in camera any statements or confessions made by the respondents which the state intends to introduce in evidence at the trial.

[As amended and recompiled, effective May 1, 1998.]

Committee commentary. - The rule sets forth the bases for joining offenses and respondents in children's court proceedings and the basis and method of relief from prejudicial joinder.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-107 on joinder of allegations of offenses follows Rule 5-203 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. The issue of whether mandatory joinder is required by the supreme court order issued in December, 1979, was raised by the committee in December, 1981. It was the consensus of the supreme court that its earlier order did not extend to juvenile proceedings. See commentaries to Rule 5-203 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Paragraph B of Rule 10-107 relating to joinder of respondents is patterned after Paragraph B of Rule 5-203 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. See also Section 32-1-47 NMSA 1978 for permissive joinder of parents in delinquency proceedings and Rule 10-108 of these rules.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-107 governs joinder in neglect or abuse actions. A single petition may allege that a parent, guardian or custodian has neglected or abused more than one child or that both parents, guardians or custodians have neglected or abused one or more children. Of course, some connection between the alleged acts of neglect or abuse or the children involved is envisioned. Thus, Paragraph C of Rule 10-107 would permit joinder in a single petition of allegations that one parent neglected or abused only one of a couple's children and that the other parent neglected or abused another of their children. It would allow in a single petition allegations of separate acts each amounting to neglect or abuse.

Under Paragraph D of Rule 10-107, relief from joinder is available only to the respondent. The relief may be granted only upon motion and hearing, and the moving respondent must show prejudice.

Evidence against a joint respondent which violates the constitutional right of confrontation of the moving respondent is not admissible against the moving respondent. Bruton v. United States, 391 U.S. 123, 130-31, 88 S. Ct. 1620, 20 L. Ed. 2d 476 (1968). The Bruton holding has been held applicable to delinquency proceedings in at least one jurisdiction. In re Appeal No. 977, 22 Md. App. 511, 323 A.2d 663 (1974).

The 1998 amendment, effective May 1, 1998, rewrote this rule.

10-205. Appointment of counsel; payment of fees.

A. Appointment. Within five (5) days from the date the petition is filed, or at the conclusion of the detention hearing, whichever occurs first, unless counsel has entered an appearance on behalf of the child, the court shall advise the public defender that the child is not represented by counsel and the public defender shall provide a defense for the child.

B. Notice to parents. If the public defender is asked to represent the child, the public defender shall serve on the parents, guardian or custodian a written notice on a form approved by the Supreme Court that if they can afford an attorney to represent the child, they will be ordered to reimburse the state for public defender representation. The notice shall be accompanied by a copy of the eligibility determination for indigent defense services form approved by the Supreme Court and shall advise the parents, guardian or custodian that if they do not complete the eligibility determination form return it to the public defender within the prescribed time, they may be charged for all legal representation of the child. The notice shall also advise the parents, guardian or custodian of the duty of the public defender to assist the parents, guardian or custodian in any indigency determination proceeding.

C. Hearing on indigency. Within ten (10) days after receipt of notice from the public defender pursuant to Paragraph B of this rule, the parents, guardian or custodian shall complete and return to the public defender the eligibility determination form or shall make satisfactory arrangements for payment for legal services performed for the child. Upon motion the children's court shall review the determination by the public defender that the parent, guardian or custodian is not indigent as provided by the procedures set forth in Children's Court Rule 10-408.

Committee commentary. - Prior to the 1982 amendments, the Children's Code provided for the appointment of counsel to represent any child who cannot afford counsel and for the reimbursement of the state if the parents, guardian or custodian can afford to pay the costs of representation. Subsection B of Section 32-1-27 NMSA 1978 requires the public defender to represent a child determined indigent.

The 1981 session of the legislature did not amend several other sections of the Code which provide for the appointment of counsel by the court. See Subsection H of Section 32-1-27 NMSA 1978 (appointment of counsel by the court in delinquency and need of supervision cases); Subsection J of Section 32-1-27 NMSA 1978 (appointment of counsel by the court in neglect and abuse cases); and Section 32-1-41 NMSA 1978 (appointment of counsel is a charge upon the funds of the court). Since counsel appointed by the court must be paid out of court funds, it is presumed that in most cases the public defender will be requested to represent the child. Rule 10-205 was drafted to implement the 1981 requirement that the public defender represent the child.

The committee was of the opinion that the provisions of the Indigent Defense Act apply to a determination of who is a needy parent, guardian or custodian under the Children's Code. See Sections 31-16-1 through 31-16-10 NMSA 1978.

The committee did not believe that it was necessary to advise the child at each stage of the proceedings of the child's right to counsel in that the public defender has a duty to represent the child under the Children's Code and presumably will be present at each stage of the proceedings.

ANNOTATIONS

The 1995 amendment, effective November 1, 1995, substituted "child" for "respondent" near the beginning of Paragraph A; in Paragraph B, substituted "a copy of the eligibility determination for indigent defense services form" for "an affidavit of indigency" and "eligibility determination form" for "affidavit"; in Paragraph C, substituted "ten (10) days" for "thirty (30) days", "eligibility determination form" for "affidavit of indigency", and substituted the last sentence for "The public defender shall assist any parent, guardian or custodian in any hearing before the court to determine the indigency of the parents, guardian or custodian"; and deleted former Paragraph D relating to court orders.

10-206. Warrants.

A. Arrest warrants. Warrants for the arrest of a child alleged to have committed a delinquent act or a criminal offense may be issued by a children's court or district court judge. The issuance, execution and return of the warrant for arrest shall be in accordance with the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. The warrant for arrest shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

B. Bench warrants. If any person who has agreed in writing to appear in court at a specified time and place or who is ordered by the court to appear at a specified time and place fails to appear at such specified time and place in person or by counsel when permitted by these rules, the court may issue a warrant for the person's arrest.

C. Search warrants. Search warrants may be issued by the court. The issuance, execution and return of the search warrant shall be in accordance with the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. The search warrant shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

[As amended, effective November 1, 2000.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-206 was formerly Rule 24. It was renumbered in 1978.

The rule governs the use of arrest, search and bench warrants in delinquency and need of supervision proceedings.

Under Paragraph A of Rule 10-206, arrest warrants are specifically authorized for both children alleged to be delinquent and those in need of supervision. The manner of obtaining, executing and returning the warrant does not differ materially from that used in adult criminal proceedings and is governed by Paragraph C of Rule 5-208 and by Rule 5-210 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. However, in children's court proceedings, only the district court or children's court is authorized to issue the warrants.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-206 on bench warrants applies not only to respondents but to any other person who has agreed in writing to appear in court at a specified time and place or who is ordered by the court to appear at a specified time and place. Thus a bench warrant may be issued for the arrest of a parent, guardian, custodian or witness who disobeys a subpoena.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-206 technically allows the use of search warrants in both delinquency and need of supervision proceedings. The original committee felt that it would be an unusual case in which a search warrant would be justified in a need of supervision proceeding. Accordingly, the search warrant form approved by the supreme court is designed for use in cases involving allegations of delinquency. The issuance, execution and return of the search warrant is governed by Rule 5-211 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Rule 10-206 does not apply to neglect or abuse proceedings. The original committee decided that neglect proceedings generally lack sufficient similarity to criminal cases for warrants to be appropriate.

Rule 10-206 supersedes the provisions of Section 32-1-22A NMSA 1978 when such arrests would require warrants if the person to be arrested were an adult. Nothing in the rule is designed to limit the authority of a law enforcement officer to make a warrantless arrest in those situations when such an arrest would be valid if the person arrested were an adult.

A. Delinquents. An alleged or adjudicated delinquent may not be detained in an adult facility.

B. Youthful offender. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other children's court rule, an alleged or adjudicated youthful offender may not be detained in an adult facility unless the court has determined to impose adult sanctions.

C. Serious youthful offender. Notwithstanding the provisions of any other children's court rule, a child alleged to be a serious youthful offender shall not be detained in an adult facility unless the court makes findings that such detention is appropriate.

[As amended, effective November 1, 1995.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-207 was formerly Rule 25. It was renumbered in 1978.

The provisions for release provided in Rule 10-207 are essentially those contained in Section 32-1-23 NMSA 1978. The only significant difference is that release may be made upon the written promise of the child to appear before the court when directed to do so, rather than the written promise of the parents, guardian or custodian that the child will appear before the court when directed to do so. The rule is not meant to allow the issuance of a bench warrant to the child or his parents, guardian or custodian for failure to appear before probation services as part of the preliminary inquiry. Under Section 32-1-14B NMSA 1978, participation in the preliminary inquiry is voluntary.

Even if the child is released, the matter may be referred to probation services for further action. If the child is taken to a medical facility, the child also may be referred to probation services for determination of the appropriateness of detention prior to the detention hearing.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-207 is directed to advisement of rights by law enforcement officers. Subparagraphs (1), (2) and (4) of Paragraph B essentially restate Miranda v. Arizona, 384 U.S. 436, 86 S. Ct. 1602, 16 L. Ed. 2d 694 (1966). Subparagraph (3) is a right granted the child in Section 32-1-27 NMSA 1978. See the commentary to Rule 10-208 for a full discussion of the distinction between the use of the terms "in custody" and "detention".

Delinquency proceedings "criminal". - Juvenile proceedings to determine delinquency, which may lead to commitment to state institution, must be regarded as "criminal" for purposes of privilege against self-incrimination. Peyton v. Nord, 78 N.M. 717, 437 P.2d 716 (1968).

Inadmissible confessions. - Use of confession obtained from minor, when one obtained from adult under similar circumstances would not be admissible, would be grossly unfair and could not be justified on any theory. State v. Ortega, 77 N.M. 7, 419 P.2d 219 (1966).

Statements made without advice of counsel. - A child's statements manifesting truth of accusers' claims, but made to police after being taken into custody without benefit of advice of counsel, were inadmissible under former 32-1-27 NMSA 1978. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 92, 570 P.2d 923 (Ct. App. 1977).

Confessions not tainted. - Where juveniles were advised of rights guaranteed in criminal proceedings, and there was no suggestion that they thought they were confessing as juveniles or to improve their position with police or juvenile authorities, fact that defendants were technically in custody of juvenile court, although not yet delivered to juvenile authorities, during taking of confessions by interrogating officers, did not taint confessions to such an extent as to make them involuntary or to make their use "fundamentally unfair". State v. Ortega, 77 N.M. 7, 419 P.2d 219 (1966).

10-208. Placing child in detention.

A. Referral to probation services. Upon delivery of a child who may be held in custody to probation services or to a place of detention, a probation officer shall interview the child and, if possible, the child's parents, guardian or custodian to determine if continued detention is necessary under the criteria set forth in Rule 10-209 of these rules or the provisions of the Children's Code.

B. Notice of detention. If the probation officer determines that continued detention is necessary, the person in charge of the place of detention shall advise the child's parents, guardian or custodian as soon as practicable but no later than twenty-four (24) hours from the time the child was delivered to probation services or to a place of detention, including Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays:

- (1) the child has been placed in detention;
- (2) the reason the child has been placed in detention;
- (3) the place where the child is detained and the visiting hours there;
- (4) if no petition is filed, the child will be released;
- (5) if a petition is filed a detention hearing will be held to determine whether continued detention is necessary; and
- (6) the child has a right to an attorney and, if they do not obtain an attorney for the child, the public defender will represent the child.

C. Statement of probable cause. In warrantless arrests, other than arrests for alleged parole violations, if the child is to be detained, at the time of the detention the arresting officer shall prepare a statement of probable cause and shall give a copy to the child. If a petition is filed the statement of probable cause shall be filed with the petition. A statement of probable cause shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

[As amended, effective November 1, 1995.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-208 establishes the procedure for placing a child in detention when he is not released pursuant to Rule 10-207.

In the rules, the terms "custody" and "detention" have distinct meanings. "Detention" is never used in reference to alleged neglected or abused children; such children are "in custody". Children alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision are "detained" or "placed in detention" upon their delivery to a place of detention or to probation services. The only time children alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision are "in custody" is when they are under the supervision of a law enforcement officer or agency. The period of custody cannot exceed 24 hours under Section 32-1-23E NMSA 1978.

Within that 24 hours, the law enforcement officer must either release the child, deliver him to a medical facility or deliver him to a place of detention or to probation services. Whether or not delivery to a medical facility constitutes "detention" will depend on the circumstances of the case.

Delivery to probation services or to a place of detention does not constitute placing the child in detention. Under Paragraph A of Rule 10-208, probation services must determine whether continued detention is appropriate under the provisions of Sections 32-1-8 or 32-1-22 NMSA 1978 or the criteria set forth in Rule 10-209. The emphasis is on release.

If the child is detained, and a petition is or has been filed, the need for detention is reviewed by the court at a detention hearing under Rule 10-211. If no petition is filed within the time limits, the child must be released.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-208 specifies the provisions of the notice which must be given the parents, guardian or custodian if the child is continued in detention. The notice need not be in writing, and the person in charge of the place of detention gives the notice, not the person (i.e., the law enforcement officer) who originally took the child into custody. The notice must be given within 24 hours of the time the child is formally placed in detention, including Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays. As in most of the other notice provisions, the person responsible for the notice is expected to make a good faith effort to locate the parents, guardian or custodian of the child. The notice need only go to one parent. If the parents, guardian or custodian cannot be located within the initial 24-hour period, the effort to give them notice should continue. See In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527 (1967). A written notice of detention form has been provided and approved by the supreme court for this purpose.

10-208A. Probable cause determination.

A. When required. A probable cause determination shall be made in all cases in which the arrest has been made without a warrant and the child has not been released. The probable cause determination shall be made promptly by a district judge, metropolitan court judge, magistrate or special master, but in any event within forty-eight (48) hours after custody commences and no later than the first appearance of the child whichever occurs earlier.

B. How conducted. The determination that there is probable cause shall be nonadversarial and may be held in the absence of the child and of counsel. No witnesses shall be required to appear unless the court determines that there is a basis for believing that the appearance of one or more witnesses might lead to a finding that there is no probable cause.

C. Amended statement of probable cause. If the statement of probable cause fails to make a written showing of probable cause, an amended statement of probable cause may be filed with sufficient facts to show probable cause for detaining the child.

D. Dismissal for failure to show probable cause. If the court finds that there is no probable cause to believe that the child has committed an offense, the court shall order the immediate release of the child.

[Adopted, effective November 1, 1995.]

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated September 12, 1995, this rule is effective November 1, 1995.

10-208B. First appearance; explanation of rights.

Upon the first appearance of a child before a court in response to summons or warrant or following arrest, the court shall inform the child of the following:

- A. the offense charged;
- B. the penalty provided by law for the offense charged;
- C. the right, if any, to bail;
- D. the right, if any, to trial by jury;
- E. the right to the assistance of counsel at every stage of the proceedings;
- F. the right, if any, to representation by an attorney at state expense;
- G. the right to remain silent, and that any statement made by the child may be used against the child; and
- H. the right, if any, to a preliminary examination.

[Adopted, effective November 1, 1995.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated September 12, 1995, this rule is effective November 1, 1995.

10-209. Criteria for detention.

A child shall not be placed in detention prior to the court's disposition unless probable cause exists to believe that:

- A. if not detained, the child will commit injury to the persons or property of others, cause self-inflicted injury or be subject to injury by others;
- B. the child has no parent, guardian, custodian or other person able to provide adequate supervision and care for the child;
- C. the child will run away or be taken away so as to be unavailable for proceedings of the court or its officers; or
- D. the custody or detention is otherwise authorized by the provisions of the Children's Code.

Committee commentary. - A child may be detained only when authorized by Sections 32-1-8 or 32-1-22 NMSA 1978 or by the provisions of these rules.

Rule 10-209 sets forth three criteria for detention which are in addition to the statutory criteria. In addition to the other criteria set forth in Rule 10-209, the child may be detained if probable cause exists to believe that if not detained the child will "be subject to injury by others." This language is contained in Section 32-1-24A(1) NMSA 1978. The other criteria are also taken from Section 32-1-24 NMSA 1978.

The criteria for placing children who are alleged to be neglected or abused in the custody of the Human Services Department is contained in Rule 10-303.

10-210. Explanation of rights at first appearance.

At his first appearance before the court in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding, the respondent and the parent, guardian or custodian of the respondent shall be informed by the court:

- A. of the allegations against him;
- B. of the right, if any, to a release hearing and the right, if any, to trial by jury;
- C. of the right of the child to an attorney and that if he cannot afford an attorney, the public defender will represent the child;
- D. of the right to remain silent and that any statement made by him may be used against him; and
- E. of the possible consequences if the allegations of the petition are found to be true.

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-210 was split into two parts in 1978: Rule 27 (now see Rule 10-210) governing advisement of rights in delinquency and need of supervision proceedings and Rule 55 (now see Rule 10-304) governing advisement of rights in neglect and abuse proceedings.

Rule 10-210 is patterned after Rule 5-301 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. It relates to advisement of rights once a petition has been filed and the respondent is before the court; it does not apply to advisement of rights by probation services at the commencement of a preliminary inquiry (see Rule 10-202) or to advisement of rights when a child is first placed in detention or in the custody of the human services department (see Rules 10-208 and 10-302).

Two provisions of Rule 10-210 require special comment. The advisement of the right to an attorney is made to the respondent; if the respondent cannot afford counsel, the public defender will represent the child. The parents, guardian or custodian of a child alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision cannot waive this right for the child, nor is appointment of an attorney for their child dependent on their financial status. (See Rules 10-202, 10-205 and 10-208 on advising the parents, guardian or custodian that they may be assessed attorney's fees under Section 32-1-27B or Section 32-1-41B NMSA 1978.) Under Rule 10-205, a respondent not in detention should already have an attorney by the time he first appears before the court. The detained respondent's first appearance before the court will be the detention hearing which, under Rule 10-205, may be the point at which counsel is appointed for the respondent in detention. For a discussion of waiver of the right to counsel by the child, see Bouldin v. Cox, 76 N.M. 93, 412 P.2d 392 (1966).

Secondly, the requirement that the respondent be advised of the possible consequences if the allegations of the petition are found to be true does not mean that every possible disposition must be reviewed. Rather, the intent of the original committee was that the respondent be advised of the most serious consequences if the allegations of the petition are proved. For example: on a delinquency petition, advisement that the child might be kept at the boys' school at Springer or the girls' welfare home until twenty-one years of age; and on a need of supervision petition, advisement that the child might be placed on probation for a period of up to two years and/or committed for diagnostic evaluation for a period of up to sixty days.

Rule 10-210 supersedes a number of Children's Code provisions. Specifically, Sections 32-1-26, 32-1-27 and 32-1-31 NMSA 1978 requiring that there be advisement of rights at each appearance before the court, that all "parties" or "persons" before the court be advised of their rights and that these parties or persons be advised of their basic rights under the Children's Code and any other rights existing under other laws are replaced by the provisions of Rule 10-210.

10-211. Detention hearing; conditions of release.

A. Detention hearing. A detention hearing shall be held within twenty-four (24) hours, excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays, from the time:

- (1) the petition is filed if the child is in detention at the time the petition is filed; or
- (2) the child is placed in detention if the child is placed in detention after the petition is filed.

B. Notice. Probation services shall make a reasonable effort to give oral or written notice of the time and place of the detention hearing to the child and, if they can be found, to the parents, guardian or custodian of the child.

C. Conditions of release. The court shall review the need for detention pursuant to Rule 10-209. If none of the criteria for detention exist, the court shall release the child on the child's written promise to appear before the court at a stated time and place or impose the first of the following conditions of release which will reasonably assure the appearance of the child at the adjudicatory hearing or, if no single condition gives that assurance, any combination of the following conditions:

- (1) place the child in the custody of a designated person or organization agreeing to supervise the child;
- (2) place restrictions on the travel, association or place of abode of the child during the period of release;
- (3) impose any other condition deemed reasonably necessary to assure appearance as required, including a condition requiring that the child return to detention as required.

D. Review. A denial of release may be reviewed at any time.

E. Failure to appear. If the child violates a condition of release, the children's court may order the child taken into custody.

F. Special master. The provisions of Paragraphs A through D of this rule may be carried out by a metropolitan court judge, a magistrate or by a special master appointed by a district judge.

[As amended, effective November 1, 1995; February 1, 1997.]

Committee commentary. - The rule governs the procedure at the first formal court appearance for a child in detention who is alleged to be delinquent or in need of supervision.

Paragraph A requires that the detention hearing be held within one day after a petition is filed or within one day of the date the respondent was placed in detention if a petition had previously been filed. The latter requirement is designed to cover those situations in which the petition has already been filed and a later determination is made to arrest the child. To compute the time limits see Rule 10-106.

Paragraph B specifies that the purpose of the detention hearing is to review the necessity for detention under the criteria established in Rule 10-209 and that it is not to determine probable cause. The rule does not provide for release on bail. Bail does not appear to be constitutionally required in juvenile cases if adequate substitutes for bail are provided. See Williams v. Sanders, 80 N.M. 619, 459 P.2d 145 (1969).

Paragraph C requires that reasonable notice of the hearing be given the parents, guardian or custodian of the child. The person giving the notice is expected to use good faith in providing notice to the parents, guardian or custodian of the child as soon as it appears that a petition will be filed and a date and time for the detention hearing is ascertained. The notice may be written or oral, although, because of the time restrictions, it would normally be oral or left in writing at the residence of the parents, guardian or custodian. Only one parent need be notified.

ANNOTATIONS

Cross references. - For detention hearing, see 32A-2-13 NMSA 1978.

The 1995 amendment, effective November 1, 1995, rewrote Paragraph A, added Paragraph C and redesignated former Paragraphs C and D as Paragraphs D and E, rewrote the paragraph heading and substituted "special master" for "referee" and "a district judge, a metropolitan court judge or a magistrate" for "the judge" in Paragraph E, and made gender neutral changes throughout the rule.

The 1997 amendment, effective February 1, 1997, substituted "Detention hearing" for "Time limits" in the paragraph heading of Paragraph A, added Paragraph B, redesignated former Paragraphs B and C as Paragraphs C and D, deleted former Paragraph D relating to notice, added Paragraph E, redesignated former Paragraph E as Paragraph F, and inserted "Paragraphs A through D" and made stylistic changes in Paragraph F.

10-212. Withdrawn.

ANNOTATIONS

Withdrawals. - Pursuant to a court order dated September 12, 1995, this rule, relating to release hearing and probable cause determination, is withdrawn effective November 1, 1995.

10-213. Disclosure by the state.

A. Information subject to disclosure. Unless a shorter period of time is ordered by the court, within ten (10) days after the date of filing of a petition alleging delinquency or need of supervision, subject to Paragraph E of this rule, the state shall disclose or make available to the respondent:

(1) any statement made by the respondent, or co-respondent, or copies thereof, within the possession, custody or control of the state, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of due diligence may become known, to the children's court attorney;

(2) the respondent's prior record or delinquent acts or other children's court or probation record, if any, as is then available to the state;

(3) any books, papers, documents, photographs, tangible objects, buildings or places, or copies or portions thereof, which are within the possession, custody or control of the state, and which are material to the preparation of the defense or are intended for use by the state as evidence at the adjudicatory hearing, or were obtained from or belong to the respondent;

(4) any results or reports of physical or mental examinations, and of scientific tests or experiments, made in connection with the particular case, or copies thereof, within the possession, custody or control of the state, the existence of which is known, or by the exercise of due diligence may become known to the children's court attorney;

(5) a written list of the names and addresses of all witnesses which the children's court attorney intends to call at the adjudicatory hearing, together with any statement made by the witness and any record of prior convictions of any such witness which is within the knowledge of the children's court attorney; and

(6) any material evidence favorable to the respondent which the state is required to produce under the due process clause of the United States Constitution.

B. Examining, photographing or copying evidence. The respondent may examine, photograph or copy any material disclosed pursuant to Paragraph A of this rule.

C. Depositions. The state may move the court to perpetuate the testimony of any such witness by taking his deposition pursuant to Rule 10-216.

D. Certificate. The children's court attorney shall file with the clerk of the court at least ten (10) days prior to the adjudicatory hearing a certificate stating that all information required to be produced pursuant to Paragraph A of this rule has been produced, except as specified. The certificate shall contain an acknowledgment of the continuing duty to disclose additional information. If information specifically excepted from the certificate is furnished by the children's court attorney to the respondent after the filing of the certificate, a supplemental certificate shall be filed with the court setting forth the material furnished. A copy of the certificate and any supplemental certificate shall be served on the respondent.

E. Information not subject to disclosure. The children's court attorney shall not be required to disclose any material required to be disclosed by this rule if:

(1) the disclosure will expose a confidential informer; or

(2) there is substantial risk to some person of physical harm, intimidation, bribery, economic reprisals or unnecessary annoyance or embarrassment resulting from such disclosure, which outweighs any usefulness of the disclosure to defense counsel.

F. Failure to comply. If the state fails to comply with any of the provisions of this rule, the court may enter an order pursuant to Rule 10-215 or hold the children's court attorney in contempt or take other disciplinary action pursuant to Rule 10-113 of these rules.

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-213 was revised in 1982 to be consistent with the revised discovery rule for criminal cases in the district courts. The information discoverable under Rule 10-213 is the same that the state must disclose in adult cases pursuant to Rule 5-501 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Appropriate language changes have been made in this rule to reflect the children's court terminology.

See the commentary to Rule 5-501 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts for the derivation of this rule.

The definition of "statement" is found in Rule 10-102.

10-214. Disclosure of evidence and witnesses by the respondent.

A. Information subject to disclosure. Unless a shorter period of time is ordered by the court, within thirty (30) days after the date of the filing of a petition or not less than ten (10) days before the adjudicatory hearing, whichever date occurs earlier, the respondent in a petition alleging delinquency or need of supervision shall disclose or make available to the state:

(1) books, papers, documents, photographs, tangible objects, or copies or portions thereof, which are within the possession, custody or control of the respondent, and which the respondent intends to introduce in evidence at the adjudicatory hearing;

(2) any results or reports of physical or mental examinations and of scientific tests or experiments made in connection with the particular case, or copies thereof, within the possession or control of the respondent, which the respondent intends to introduce in evidence at the adjudicatory hearing or which were prepared by a witness whom the respondent intends to call at the adjudicatory hearing if the results or reports relate to his testimony; and

(3) a list of the names and addresses of the witnesses the respondent intends to call at the adjudicatory hearing, together with any statement made by the witness.

B. Examining, photographing or copying evidence. The state may examine, photograph or copy any material disclosed pursuant to Paragraph A of this rule.

C. Information not subject to disclosure. Except as to scientific or medical reports, this rule does not authorize the discovery or inspection:

(1) of reports, memoranda, or other internal defense documents made by the respondent, his attorneys or agents, in connection with the investigation or defense of the case; or

(2) of statements made by the respondent to his agents or attorneys.

D. Certificate. The respondent shall file with the clerk of the court at least ten (10) days prior to the adjudicatory hearing a certificate stating that all information required to be produced pursuant to Paragraph A of this rule has been produced, except as specified. The certificate shall contain an acknowledgment of the continuing duty to disclose additional information. If information specifically excepted from the certificate is furnished by the respondent after the filing of the certificate, a supplemental certificate shall be filed with the court setting forth the material furnished. A copy of the certificate and any supplemental certificate shall be served on the state.

If the respondent fails to comply with any of the provisions of this rule, the court may enter an order pursuant to Rule 10-215 or hold the respondent or the defense counsel in contempt or take other disciplinary action pursuant to Rule 10-113 of these rules.

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-214 was amended in 1982 to be consistent with Rule 5-502 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. See commentary to Rule 5-502 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts for the derivation of this rule. It governs discovery by the state in delinquency and need of supervision proceedings.

See Rule 10-102 for the definition of "statement" as used in this rule.

10-215. Continuing duty to disclose; failure to comply.

A. Duty to disclose. If, subsequent to compliance with a request or order for discovery pursuant to Rule 10-213 or 10-214 of these rules, and prior to or during the adjudicatory hearing, a party discovers additional material or witnesses which he would have been under a duty to produce or disclose at the time of such previous compliance if it were then known to the party, he shall promptly give written notice to the other party of the existence of the additional material or witnesses.

B. Failure to comply. If at any time during the course of the proceedings it is brought to the attention of the court that a party has failed to comply with this rule or with an order issued pursuant to this rule, the court may order such party to permit the discovery or inspection of materials not previously disclosed, grant a continuance, or prohibit the party from calling a witness not disclosed, or from introducing in evidence the material not disclosed, or it may enter such other order as it deems appropriate under the circumstances, including, but not limited to, holding an attorney in contempt of court pursuant to Rule 10-113 of these rules.

Committee commentary. - See Rule 5-505 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts and commentary to Rule 5-505 of those rules. This rule was added in 1978.

This rule was amended in 1982 to be consistent with Rule 5-505 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

10-216. Depositions.

A. When allowed. Upon motion, and after notice to opposing counsel, at any time after the filing of a petition alleging delinquency, the children's court may order the taking of the deposition of any person other than the respondent upon a showing that his testimony may be material and relevant to the offense charged, that it is necessary to take his deposition to prevent injustice, and either:

- (1) the person will not cooperate in giving a statement to the moving party; or
- (2) the person may be unable to attend the adjudicatory hearing or any other hearing.

B. Scope of discovery. Unless otherwise limited by order of the court, parties may obtain discovery regarding any matter, not privileged, which is relevant to the offense charged or the defense of the respondent, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition and location of any books, documents or other tangible things and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of any discoverable matter. It is not ground for objection that the information sought will be inadmissible at the adjudicatory hearing if the information sought appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

C. Time and place of deposition. Unless otherwise stipulated to by the parties, any deposition allowed under this rule shall be taken at such time and place as ordered by the court.

D. Persons before whom depositions may be taken.

(1) Within the United States or within a territory or insular possession subject to the dominion of the United States, depositions shall be taken before an officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the United States or of the place where the examination is held, or before a person appointed by the court in which the action is pending. A person so appointed has power to administer oaths and take testimony.

(2) In a foreign country, depositions may be taken:

(a) on notice before a person authorized to administer oaths in the place in which the examination is held, either by the law thereof or by the law of the United States;

(b) before a person commissioned by the court, and a person so commissioned shall have the power by virtue of his commission to administer any necessary oath and take testimony; or

(c) pursuant to a letter rogatory.

A commission or a letter rogatory shall be issued on application and notice and on terms that are just and appropriate. It is not requisite to the issuance of a commission or a letter rogatory that the taking of the deposition in any other manner is impracticable or inconvenient; and both a commission and a letter rogatory may be issued in proper cases. A notice or commission may designate the person before whom the deposition is to be taken either by name or descriptive title. A letter rogatory may be addressed "To the Appropriate Authority in (here name the country)." Evidence obtained in response to a letter rogatory need not be excluded merely for the reason that it is not a verbatim transcript or that the testimony was not taken under oath or for any similar departure from the requirements for depositions taken within the United States under these rules.

(3) No deposition shall be taken before a person who is a relative, employee, attorney or counsel of any of the parties, or is a relative or employee of such attorney or counsel, or is interested in the action.

E. Notice of examination: general requirements; nonstenographic recording.

(1) A party desiring to take the deposition of any person upon oral examination shall give notice in writing to every other party to the action. The notice shall state the time and place set for taking the deposition and the name and address of each person to be examined.

(2) The court may for cause shown enlarge or shorten the time previously set for taking the deposition.

(3) The court may upon motion order that the testimony at a deposition be recorded by other than stenographic means including by videotape, in which event the order shall designate the manner of recording, preserving and filing the deposition, and may include other provisions to assure that the recorded testimony will be accurate and trustworthy. If the order is made, a party may nevertheless arrange to have a stenographic transcription made at his own expense.

F. Record of examination. The officer before whom the deposition is to be taken shall put the witness on oath and shall personally, or by someone acting under his direction and in his presence, record the testimony of the witness.

G. Depositions of corporations, partnerships and governmental agencies. A party may in his notice name as the deponent a public or private corporation or a partnership or association or governmental agency and designate with reasonable particularity the matters on which examination is requested. The organization so named shall designate one or more officers, directors or managing agents or other persons who consent to testify on its behalf, and may set forth, for each person designated, the matters on which he will testify. The persons so designated shall testify as to matters known or reasonably available to the organization. This paragraph does not preclude taking a deposition by any other procedure authorized in these rules.

H. Examination and cross-examination; objections. Examination and cross-examination of witnesses may proceed as permitted at the adjudicatory hearing under the provisions of Rule 11-611 of the New Mexico Rules of Evidence. All objections made at time of the examination to the qualifications of the officer taking the deposition, the manner of taking it, the evidence presented or the conduct of any party, and any other objection to the proceedings, shall be noted by the officer upon the deposition. Evidence objected to shall be taken subject to the objections. In lieu of participating in the oral examination, parties served with notice of taking a deposition may transmit written interrogatories to the officer taking the deposition who shall propound them to the witness and record the answers verbatim.

I. Motion to terminate or limit examination. At any time during the taking of the deposition, on motion of a party or of the deponent and upon a showing that the examination is being conducted in bad faith or in such manner as unreasonably to annoy, embarrass or oppress the deponent or party, the court in which the action is pending, or the court in the district where the deposition is being taken, may order the officer conducting the examination to cease forthwith from taking the deposition or may limit the scope and manner of the taking of the deposition pursuant to Rule 10-218. If the order made terminates the examination, it shall be resumed thereafter only upon the order of the court in which the action is pending. Upon demand of the objecting party or deponent, the taking of the deposition shall be suspended for the time necessary to make a motion for an order.

J. Submission to witness; changes; signing. When the testimony is fully transcribed, the deposition shall be submitted to the witness for examination and shall be read to or by him, unless such examination and reading are waived by the witness and by the parties. Any changes in form or substance which the witness desires to make shall be entered upon the deposition by the officer with a statement of the reasons given by the witness for making them. The deposition shall then be signed by the witness, unless the parties by stipulation waive the signing or the witness is ill, cannot be found or refuses to sign. If the deposition is not signed by the witness, the officer shall sign it and state on the record the fact of the waiver, the illness or absence of the witness, or the fact of the refusal by the witness to sign together with the reason, if any, given therefor; and the deposition may then be used as fully as though signed, unless on a motion to suppress the court holds that the reasons given for the refusal to sign require rejection of the deposition in whole or in part.

K. Certification and filing by officer; copies; notice of filing.

(1) The officer shall certify on the deposition that the witness was duly sworn by him and that the deposition is a true record of the testimony given by the witness. He shall then securely seal the deposition in an envelope endorsed with the title of the action and marked "Deposition of (here insert name of witness)" and shall promptly file it with the court in which the action is pending or send it by registered or certified mail to the clerk thereof for filing.

(2) Upon payment of reasonable charges therefor, the officer shall furnish a copy of the deposition to any party or to the deponent.

(3) The party taking the deposition shall give prompt notice of its filing to all other parties.

L. Stipulations regarding discovery procedure. Unless the court orders otherwise, the parties may by written stipulation:

(1) provide that depositions may be taken before any person, at any time or place, upon any notice, and in any manner and when so taken may be used like other depositions; or

(2) provide for other methods of discovery.

M. Attendance. A resident of the state may be required to attend an examination only in the county wherein he resides, or is employed, or regularly transacts his business, in person. A person who refuses to obey a subpoena served upon him may be adjudged in contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. The deposition of any witness confined in prison shall be taken where the witness is confined.

N. Use of depositions. At the adjudicatory hearing, or at any other hearing, any part or all of a deposition may be used as evidence if:

(1) the witness is unavailable, as unavailability is defined in Paragraph A of Rule 11-804 of the Rules of Evidence;

(2) the witness gives testimony at the adjudicatory or any other hearing inconsistent with his deposition; or

(3) it is otherwise admissible under the Rules of Evidence.

If only part of a deposition is offered in evidence by a party, any adverse party may require him to offer any other part or parts relevant to the part offered, and any party may introduce any other parts, subject to the Rules of Evidence.

O. Objections to admissibility. Subject to the provisions of Subparagraph (3) of Paragraph Q, objection may be made at the adjudicatory hearing or any other hearing to receiving in evidence any deposition or part thereof for any reason which would require the exclusion of the evidence if the witness were then present and testifying.

P. Effect of taking or using depositions. A party does not make a person his own witness for any purpose by taking his deposition. The introduction in evidence of the deposition or any part thereof for any purpose other than that of contradicting or impeaching the deponent makes the deponent the witness of the party introducing the deposition. At the adjudicatory hearing or any other hearing any party may rebut any relevant evidence contained in a deposition whether introduced by him or by any other party.

Q. Effect of errors and irregularities in depositions.

(1) All errors and irregularities in the notice for taking a deposition are waived unless written objection is promptly served upon the party giving the notice.

(2) Objection to taking a deposition because of disqualification of the officer before whom it is to be taken is waived unless made before the taking of the deposition begins or as soon thereafter as the disqualification becomes known or could be discovered with reasonable diligence.

(3) (a) Objections to the competency of a witness or admissibility of evidence are not waived by failure to make them before or during the taking of the deposition, unless the ground of the objection is one which might have been obviated or removed if presented at that time.

(b) Errors and irregularities occurring at the oral examination in the manner of taking the deposition, in the form of the questions or answers, in the oath or affirmation, or in the conduct of parties, and errors of any kind which might be obviated, removed or cured if promptly presented, are waived unless seasonable objection thereto is made at the taking of the deposition.

(c) Objections to the form of written interrogatories submitted pursuant to this rule are waived unless served in writing upon the party propounding them within three (3) days after service of the interrogatories.

(4) Errors and irregularities in the manner in which the testimony is transcribed or the deposition is prepared, signed, certified, sealed, endorsed, transmitted, filed or otherwise dealt with by the officer under this rule are waived unless a motion to suppress the deposition or some part thereof is made with reasonable promptness after such defect is, or with due diligence might have been, ascertained.

R. Contempt. If a witness refuses to be sworn or refuses to answer any question after being directed to do so by the court in the county in which the deposition is being taken, the refusal may be considered a contempt of that court.

Committee commentary. - See Rule 5-503 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts and commentary to that rule. Depositions may not be taken in need of supervision proceedings.

10-217. Videotaped depositions; testimony of certain minors who are victims of sexual offenses; delinquency proceedings.

A. Videotaped depositions. Upon motion, and after notice to opposing counsel, at any time after the filing of a petition in children's court delinquency proceeding alleging criminal sexual penetration or criminal sexual contact on a child under sixteen (16) years of age, the children's court may order the taking of a videotaped deposition of the victim, upon a showing that the child may be unable to testify without suffering unreasonable and unnecessary mental or emotional harm. The children's court judge must attend any deposition taken pursuant to this paragraph and shall provide such protection of the child as the judge deems necessary.

B. Use of videotaped depositions. At the adjudicatory hearing of a child charged with criminal sexual penetration or criminal sexual contact on a child under sixteen (16) years of age, any part or all of the videotaped deposition of a child under sixteen (16) years of age taken pursuant to Paragraph A of this rule, may be shown to the children's court judge or the jury and admitted as evidence as an additional exception to the hearsay rule of the Rules of Evidence if:

(1) the child is unable to testify before the court without suffering unreasonable and unnecessary mental or emotional harm;

(2) the deposition was presided over by a children's court judge and the child was present and was represented by counsel or waived counsel; and

(3) the child was given an adequate opportunity to cross-examine the child, subject to such protection of the child as the judge deems necessary.

C. Other uses. In addition to the use of a videotaped deposition as permitted by Paragraph B of this rule, a videotaped deposition may be used for any of the reasons set forth in Paragraph N of Rule 10-216 NMRA.

[As amended, effective January 1, 2001.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-217 is almost identical to Rule 5-504 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. See the commentary to that rule for a discussion of the history of that rule.

ANNOTATIONS

The 2000 amendment, effective January 1, 2001, inserted "delinquency proceeding" following "children's court" in the first sentence of Paragraph A and substituted "child" for "respondent" and "sixteen (16)" for "thirteen (13)" throughout the rule.

10-218. Depositions; protective orders.

A. Motion. Upon motion by a party or by a person to be examined pursuant to Rule 10-216 and for good cause shown, the children's court in which the action is pending, or the children's court in the district where the deposition is to be taken, may make any order which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, undue burden, or from the risk of physical harm, intimidation, bribery or economic reprisals. The order may include one or more of the following restrictions:

- (1) the deposition requested not be taken;
- (2) the deposition requested be deferred;
- (3) the deposition may be had only on specified terms and conditions including a designation of time or place;
- (4) certain matters not be inquired into, or that the scope of the discovery be limited to certain matters;
- (5) the deposition be conducted with no one present except persons designated by the court;
- (6) a deposition after being sealed be opened only by order of the children's court;
- (7) a trade secret or other confidential research, development or commercial information not be disclosed or be disclosed only in a designated way; or
- (8) the parties simultaneously file specified documents or information enclosed in sealed envelopes to be opened as directed by the children's court.

B. Showing of good cause. Upon motion, the children's court may permit the showing of good cause required under Paragraph A of this rule to be in the form of a written statement for inspection by the court in camera, if the court concludes from the statement that there is a substantial need for the in camera showing. If the children's court does not permit the in camera showing, the written statement shall be returned to the movant upon request. If no such request is made, or if the court enters an order granting the relief sought, the entire text of the statement shall be sealed and preserved in the records of the court to be made available to the appellate court having jurisdiction in the event of an appeal.

C. Denial. If the motion for a protective order is denied in whole or in part, the children's court may, on such terms and conditions as are just, order that any person provide or permit discovery.

Committee commentary. - See Rule 5-507 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts and commentary to Rule 10-213. This rule was added in 1978.

10-219. Notice of alibi.

A. Notice. In delinquency proceedings, upon the written request of the children's court attorney, specifying as particularly as is known to the children's court attorney, the place, date and time of the commission of the delinquent act charged, a respondent child who intends to offer evidence of an alibi in his defense shall, not less than ten (10) days before the adjudicatory hearing or such other time as the children's court may direct, serve upon such children's court attorney a notice in writing of his intention to claim such alibi. Such notice shall contain specific information as to the place at which the respondent child claims to have been at the time of the alleged offense and, as particularly as known to respondent or his attorney, the names and addresses of the witnesses by whom he proposes to establish such alibi. Not less than five (5) days after receipt of respondent's witness list or at such other time as the children's court may direct, the children's court attorney shall serve upon the respondent the names and addresses, as particularly as known to the children's court attorney, of the witnesses the state proposes to offer in rebuttal to discredit the respondent's alibi at the adjudicatory hearing.

B. Continuing duty to give notice. Both the respondent and the children's court attorney shall be under a continuing duty to promptly disclose the names and addresses of additional witnesses which come to the attention of either party subsequent to filing their respective witness lists as provided in this rule.

C. Failure to give notice. If a respondent fails to serve a copy of such notice as herein required, the children's court may exclude evidence offered by such defendant for the purpose of proving an alibi, except the testimony of the respondent himself. If such notice is given by a respondent, the children's court may exclude the testimony of any witness offered by the respondent for the purpose of proving an alibi if the name and address of such witness was known to respondent or his attorney but was not stated in such notice. If the children's court attorney fails to file a list of witnesses and serve a copy thereof on the respondent as provided in this rule, the children's court may exclude evidence offered by the state to contradict the respondent's alibi evidence. If such notice is given by the children's court attorney, the children's court may exclude the testimony of any witnesses offered by the children's court attorney for the purpose of contradicting the defense of alibi if the name and address of such witness is known to the children's court attorney but was not stated in such notice. For good cause shown the children's court may waive the requirements of this rule.

D. Notice inadmissible. The fact that a notice of alibi was given or anything contained in such notice shall not be admissible as evidence in the adjudicatory hearing.

Committee commentary. - See Rule 5-508 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts and commentary to Rule 10-213. This rule applies only to delinquency proceedings since a need of supervision charge typically involves a course of conduct rather than a specific act. This rule was added in 1978.

10-220. Insanity at time of commission of delinquent act; notice of incapacity to form specific intent.

A. Defense of insanity. In delinquency proceedings:

(1) notice of the defense of insanity of the respondent child at the time of the commission of the delinquent act must be given within ten (10) days after service of the petition or within ten (10) days after an attorney is appointed or enters an appearance on behalf of the respondent child, whichever is later, unless upon good cause shown the court waives the time requirement of this rule.

(2) when the defense of insanity at the time of the commission of the delinquent act is raised, the issue shall be determined in nonjury trials by the court and in jury trials by a special verdict of the jury. When the determination is made and the respondent child is discharged on the ground of insanity, a judgment dismissing the petition with prejudice shall be entered, and any proceedings for commitment of the respondent child because of any mental disorder or developmental disability shall be pursuant to law.

B. Mental examination. Upon motion and upon good cause shown the children's court judge shall order a mental examination of the respondent child.

C. Determination of issue of insanity. When the defense of insanity at the time of the commission of the delinquent act is raised, the issue shall be determined in nonjury trials by the court and in jury trials by a special verdict of the jury. When the determination is made and the respondent child is discharged on the ground of insanity, a judgment dismissing the petition with prejudice shall be entered, and any proceedings for commitment of the respondent child because of any mental disorder or developmental disability shall be pursuant to law.

D. Statement made during psychiatric examination. A statement made by the child during a psychiatric examination or treatment subsequent to the commission of the alleged delinquent act shall not be admissible in evidence in any criminal or delinquency proceeding on any issue other than that of the child's sanity, ability to form specific intent or competency to participate in the proceedings.

E. Notice of incapacity to form specific intent. If the respondent child intends to call an expert witness on the issue of whether the respondent child was incapable of forming the specific intent required as an element of an alleged delinquent act, notice of such intention shall be given in the same manner and time as notice of insanity as a defense.

[As amended, effective January 1, 1987; as amended and recompiled effective May 15, 2000.]

Committee commentary. - This rule, which was added in 1978, sets forth the procedure to be used in delinquency proceedings if either the defense of insanity or incapacity to form specific intent is raised. The procedure is similar to that in Rule 5-602 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. However, the time for filing the notice of insanity or incapacity to form specific intent is tied to service of the petition on the respondent or entry of appearance by counsel, rather than arraignment as provided in Rule 5-602.

Paragraph B is similar to Paragraph C of Rule 5-602 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Reference to court payment in cases of indigency is deleted. Pursuant to 32-1-32B NMSA 1978, the court may order examination by a psychiatrist or psychologist of any child before the court prior to the adjudicatory hearing if there are indications that the child is mentally ill or mentally retarded. The statutory provision is not limited to the issue of competency. Section 32-1-35 NMSA 1978 further allows the court at any stage of the proceeding to transfer legal custody of the child for a period of up to 30 days for evaluation if the child appears to be mentally ill or mentally retarded. If at any time in the proceedings, the evidence indicates that the child is mentally retarded or mentally ill, the court may proceed pursuant to 32-1-35 NMSA 1978. Initiation of commitment proceedings is discretionary with the court. State v. John Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978).

Paragraph C follows Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph A of Rule 5-602 and Paragraph D of Rule 5-602; and Paragraph D follows Paragraph E of Rule 5-602.

Section 32-1-35 NMSA 1978 deals generally with the alternatives available when any child appears before the court and shows signs of mental illness or mental retardation. This rule does not modify the general provisions of 32-1-35 NMSA 1978; rather, this rule provides a structure in delinquency proceedings in which the issue of insanity or incapacity to form specific intent can be raised as a legal defense to a specific charge. If the issue of mental illness or mental retardation arises in need of supervision cases, reference should be made to 32-1-35 NMSA 1978 and to Rule 10-221. In neglect cases, 32-1-35 NMSA 1978 governs.

ANNOTATIONS

The 2000 amendment, effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after May 15, 2000, in Paragraph A, substituted the bold heading "Defense of insanity" for "Notice of insanity as a defense" and added Subparagraph A(2); deleted "before making any determination of competency" following "child" at the end of Paragraph B; in Paragraph C, substituted "by the child" for "by a person", inserted "criminal or delinquency" preceding "proceeding", substituted "of the child's" for "of respondent's", inserted "ability to form specific intent or" and "to participate in the proceedings"; and, in Subsection E substituted "the respondent child" for "he".

Effective dates. - Pursuant to an order of the supreme court dated September 24, 1986, the above rule is effective on or after January 1, 1987.

Compiler's notes. - Section 32-1-35 NMSA 1978, referred to in the second and last paragraphs in the committee commentary, was extensively amended in 1981 to no longer deal with all of the subject matter discussed in the commentary. The section was subsequently repealed in 1993.

10-221. Determination of competency to stand trial; lack of capacity.

A. How raised. The issue of respondent's competency to stand trial in delinquency or child in need of supervision proceedings may be raised by motion, or upon the court's own motion, at any stage of the proceedings.

B. Mental examination. Upon motion and upon good cause shown the children's court judge shall order a mental examination of the respondent child before making any determination of competency.

C. Determination. The issue of competency shall be determined by the children's court judge, unless the judge finds there is evidence which raises a reasonable doubt as to the respondent child's competency to stand trial.

(1) If a reasonable doubt is raised prior to the adjudicatory hearing, the children's court, without a jury, may determine the issue of competency; or, in its discretion, may submit the issue to a jury, other than the jury sitting at the adjudicatory hearing.

(2) If the issue of competency is raised during the adjudicatory hearing, the children's court judge in nonjury cases shall determine the issue; in jury cases, the jury shall be instructed upon the issue. If, however, the respondent child has been previously found to be competent to stand trial in the proceedings, the issue of competency shall be redetermined in accordance with this rule only if the children's court judge finds that there is evidence not previously submitted which raises a reasonable doubt as to the respondent child's competency to participate in the proceedings.

D. Proceedings on finding of incompetency. If a respondent child is found incompetent to stand trial:

(1) further proceedings on the petition shall be stayed until the respondent becomes competent to participate in the proceedings;

(2) where appropriate, the children's court judge may order treatment to enable the respondent to attain competency to stand trial; and

(3) the children's court judge may review and amend the conditions of release pursuant to Rules 10-209 and 10-211 of these rules.

E. Mistrial. If the finding of incompetency is made during the adjudicatory hearing, the children's court judge shall declare a mistrial.

[As amended, effective January 1, 1987.]

Committee commentary. - See Paragraph B of Rule 5-602 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. This rule applies to both delinquency and need of supervision proceedings. See commentary to Rule 10-220 for a discussion of the interrelationship of Rule 10-220 and this rule and the provisions of 32-1-35 NMSA 1978 relating generally to the mental illness or mental retardation of children appearing before the court.

Paragraph B is similar to Paragraph C of Rule 5-602 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. Reference to court payment in cases of indigency is deleted. Pursuant to 32-1-32B NMSA 1978, the court may order examination by a psychiatrist or psychologist of any child before the court prior to the adjudicatory hearing if there are indications that the child is mentally ill or mentally retarded. The statutory provision is not limited to the issue of competency. Section 32-1-35 NMSA 1978 further allows the court at any stage of the proceeding to transfer legal custody of the child for a period of up to 30 days for evaluation if the child appears to be mentally ill or mentally retarded. If at any time in the proceedings, the evidence indicates that the child is mentally retarded or mentally ill, the court may proceed pursuant to 32-1-35 NMSA 1978. Initiation of commitment proceedings is discretionary with the court. State v. John Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978).

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to an order of the supreme court dated September 24, 1986, the above rule is effective on or after January 1, 1987.

Compiler's notes. - Section 32-1-35 NMSA 1978, referred to in the committee commentary, was extensively amended in 1981 to no longer deal with all of the subject matter discussed in the commentary. The section was subsequently repealed in 1993.

Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph C of this rule controls over 32-1-35B NMSA 1978, providing for the dismissal of a delinquency petition without prejudice when a child is committed as a mentally disordered child. State v. Doe, 97 N.M. 189, 637 P.2d 1244 (Ct. App. 1981).

10-222. Youthful offender proceedings; filing of notice.

A. Notice of intent. Within ten (10) days after the filing of a petition, the children's court attorney may file with the children's court a notice of intent to request the court to treat the child as a "youthful offender", as that term is defined in the Children's Code. At any time prior to the commencement of the adjudicatory proceeding, upon good cause shown, the court may permit the filing of a notice of intent to invoke an adult sentence.

B. Probable cause determination. Within ten (10) days after a notice of intent to invoke an adult sentence is filed, a preliminary examination will be conducted unless the case is presented to a grand jury or the child waives the right to a preliminary hearing or grand jury. A preliminary hearing may be conducted by the children's court judge or by a magistrate court or metropolitan court judge.

C. Transfer for preliminary examination. If the children's court judge determines that the preliminary hearing is to be conducted by a magistrate or metropolitan court judge, upon completion of the examination, the magistrate or metropolitan court shall transfer the proceedings to the children's court with a finding that there is:

(1) no probable cause to believe that the child has committed a youthful offender offense; or

(2) probable cause to believe that the child committed a youthful offender offense.

D. Proceedings after transfer by magistrate or metropolitan court. Upon transfer of a children's case to the children's court by a magistrate or metropolitan court judge pursuant to Paragraph B of this rule, the proceedings shall be reopened and the case assigned to the children's court judge who transferred the proceedings to the magistrate or metropolitan court for a probable cause determination.

[As amended, effective July 1, 1995; April 1, 1997; May 3, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-222 was formerly Rule 30. It was renumbered in 1978.

Rule 10-222 establishes procedures for the hearing to determine whether a child should be transferred to district court to be tried as an adult. Rule 10-223 prescribes time limits for holding a transfer hearing.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-222 requires that the children's court attorney initiate proceedings with a motion for transfer prior to the adjudicatory hearing on the petition. See Breed v. Jones, 421 U.S. 519, 99 S. Ct. 1779, 44 L. Ed. 2d 346 (1975) and State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 515, 632 P.2d 750 (Ct. App. 1981). The committee believes that the term "adjudicatory hearing" is synonymous to the use of the term "trial" for purposes of double jeopardy. See State v. Rhodes, 76 N.M. 177, 413 P.2d 214 (1966).

A motion to transfer is not a preadjudicatory motion and therefore the time limits of Rule 10-114 for filing preadjudicatory motions do not apply to Rule 10-222. State v. Doe, supra.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-222 again emphasizes that the child has a right to be represented by counsel. That question was left undecided in Neller v. State, 79 N.M. 528, 445 P.2d 949 (1968), but is guaranteed by Section 32-1-27H NMSA 1978. However, under Neller, the right may be waived if not timely raised. See also State v. Salazar, 79 N.M. 592, 446 P.2d 644 (1968) and State v. Gallegos, 82 N.M. 618, 485 P.2d 374 (Ct. App. 1971).

Under Paragraph B of Rule 10-222, the hearing is both a probable cause determination and a determination of whether the criteria for transfer set forth in Sections 32-1-29 and 32-1-30 NMSA 1978 exist.

The specific provisions of Paragraph D of Rule 10-222 relating to the conduct of the hearing are taken from the preliminary examination procedures contained in Rule 5-302 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

If transfer is ordered, the transfer hearing, although substantially similar to a preliminary examination under Rule 5-302 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts, is not a substitute for the defendant's constitutional right to a preliminary examination if transferred to the district courts. The committee specifically rejected a proposal to that effect as constitutionally impermissible and as unwise in view of the varying considerations present at the two hearings. A child transferred to district court to be tried as an adult is entitled to all the rights afforded an adult defendant. Williams v. Sanders, 80 N.M. 619, 459 P.2d 145 (1969); Neller v. State, supra.

Paragraph E of Rule 10-222 is designed to allow immediate setting of conditions of release by the judge presiding at the transfer hearing if the child is transferred to the district court.

An order transferring the child is immediately appealable. In the Matter of Doe II, 86 N.M. 37, 519 P.2d 133 (Ct. App. 1974).

The statutory bases for Rule 10-222 are Sections 32-1-29 and 32-1-30 NMSA 1978. The statutory provisions relating to the basis for transfer, age for transfer, etc., are substantive and therefore beyond the scope of the supreme court's rulemaking authority. The provisions relating to notice, specifically Sections 32-1-29A(3) and 32-1-30A(3), are procedural and thus are superseded by Rule 10-104 of these rules.

ANNOTATIONS

The 1995 amendment, effective July 1, 1995, substituted "Youthful offender" for "Transfer" in the section heading and rewrote this rule to an extent that a detailed analysis is impracticable.

The 1997 amendment, effective April 1, 1997, substituted "proceedings; filing of notice" for "hearing; general procedure" in the rule heading, deleted the Paragraph A designation and the former Paragraph A heading, substituted "child" for "respondent" and added "as that term is defined in the Children's Code" in the first sentence, and deleted former Paragraphs B and C relating to bail and criminal proceedings.

The 1999 amendment, effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after May 3, 1999, designated the existing paragraph as Paragraph A, and added Paragraphs B through D.

Rule 10-114 NMRA does not apply to filing of motions to transfer because: (1) preadjudicating motions contemplate a subsequent hearing on the merits of a petition, while a transfer motion is filed with the expectation that there will be no adjudication in the children's court; (2) the fact that this rule requires a transfer motion to be made prior to the adjudicating hearing does not make a preadjudicating motion for purposes of Rule 10-114 NMRA; and (3) neither this rule nor former 32-1-30 NMSA 1978 provide a time limit for filing motions to transfer. State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 515, 632 P.2d 750 (Ct. App. 1981) (decided prior to 1982 and 1995 amendment).

Therefore, transfer motion must be filed within "reasonable" time. - Rule is not applicable to a motion to transfer a child to the district court to be prosecuted as an adult; therefore, reasonableness is the test when there is an issue concerning the timeliness of the filing of a motion to transfer. State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 515, 632 P.2d 750 (Ct. App. 1981) (decided prior to 1982 and 1995 amendment).

And where child's counsel notified, transfer motion not dismissed. - Where a detention order put the child's counsel on notice that a motion to transfer the child to the district court for prosecution as an adult would be forthcoming, and where the defense counsel did not claim a lack of adequate preparation time, surprise or prejudice, or request a continuance, the court did not abuse its discretion by refusing to dismiss the transfer motion. State v. Doe, 96 N.M. 515, 632 P.2d 750 (Ct. App. 1981)(decided prior to 1995 amendment).

"Findings," before transfer, as to child's amenability to treatment not required. - "Findings," before a child is transferred, as to amenability of a child to treatment or rehabilitation are not a statutory requirement, nor are they a requirement under this rule. If findings are made, their function is to show that consideration was given. State v. Doe, 97 N.M. 598, 642 P.2d 201 (Ct. App. 1982)(decided prior to 1995 amendment).

Denial of a transfer motion under either 32-1-29 or 32-1-30 NMSA 1978 is not final; it simply leaves the case in the children's court for further proceedings. State v. Doe, 99 N.M. 460, 659 P.2d 912 (Ct. App. 1983)(decided prior to 1995 amendment).

And court empowered to reconsider denial. - The children's court has the inherent power to reconsider, by reason of its nonfinal nature, an order denying a motion to transfer. State v. Doe, 99 N.M. 460, 659 P.2d 912 (Ct. App. 1983)(decided prior to 1995 amendment).

ANNOTATIONS

Withdrawals. - Pursuant to a court order dated August 12, 1996, this rule, relating to transfer hearing and time limits, is withdrawn effective October 1, 1996.

10-224. Admissions.

A. Admissions. The child may make an admission by:

(1) admitting sufficient facts to permit a finding that the allegations of the petition are true; or

(2) declaring an intention not to contest the allegations in the petition.

B. Inquiry of child. The court shall not accept an admission without addressing the child in open court and determining that the child:

(1) understands the charges;

(2) understands the possible dispositions authorized by the Children's Code for the offense;

(3) understands the right to deny the allegations in the petition and have a trial on the allegations;

(4) understands that an admission waives the right to a trial; and

(5) understands that, if the child admits the allegations of the petition, it may have an effect upon the child's immigration and naturalization status.

C. Ensuring that the admission is voluntary. The court shall not accept an admission without addressing the child in open court and determining that the admission is voluntary and not the result of force or threats except promises made as part of the plea agreement.

D. Factual basis for admission. The court shall not enter a disposition without making such inquiry as shall satisfy it that there is a factual basis for the admission.

E. Applicability. This rule applies to admissions in delinquency and probation revocation proceedings.

[As amended, effective August 1, 1999; November 1, 2000.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-224 was substantially revised in 1978 to clarify the admission and consent decree procedure.

The rule now defines two types of admissions: the traditional "guilty" plea and a nolo contendere plea. The child must enter one of these two pleas in order to utilize the consent decree procedure. However, the making of an admission in itself does not entitle a child to enter a consent decree.

Consent decrees are still negotiated settlements, approved by the court, under which the child is placed on probation for a period of up to six months, with the possibility of extension for another six months or revocation of the consent decree. See commentary to Rule 10-225 for a discussion of the extension and revocation provisions.

In the event a consent decree has not been negotiated, a child who makes an admission is subject to the discretion of the court in terms of disposition, limited only by the provisions of Section 32-1-38 NMSA 1978. (See Paragraph E of Rule 10-224.) The court is not bound to accept an admission. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978).

Prior to the 1978 revision, a consent decree required that the child "admit sufficient facts to invoke the jurisdiction of the court." In practice, this requirement proved too vague to be workable. Section 32-1-36 NMSA 1978, which deals with consent decrees, does not govern consent decrees in abuse or neglect cases. Consent decrees, like stipulated judgments in civil cases, are procedural matters, governed by court rules.

The statute does provide for reinstatement of the original petition if the child does not fulfill the terms of the consent decree or if a new delinquency or need of supervision petition is filed against the child during the period the consent decree is in effect. See Section 32-1-36D NMSA 1978.

Before entry of the consent decree, the child is fully advised that he will have no rights to an adjudicatory hearing if he enters the consent decree, Paragraph C of Rule 10-224. The original petition is not "reinstated"; rather, the consent decree is revoked. See Rule 10-225.

Prior to approval of a consent decree or acceptance of a formal admission of the allegations of a petition by the court, a petition must have been filed. (See definition of "respondent" in Rule 10-102.) This requirement does not prohibit probation services and the child from agreeing to an informal supervision or informal probation prior to the filing of a petition. However, once the jurisdiction of the court is invoked, only a court order may resolve the case.

Paragraph F of Rule 10-224 defines the dispositional limits of a consent decree. A consent decree cannot be used to place the respondent in an institution or a department of corrections facility, unless the decree is revoked and such placement is appropriate for the original offense. (See Rule 10-225.) The initial term of the consent decree is six months. While probation services may actually negotiate the terms of the decree, the rule requires that the children's court attorney agree to the terms of the consent decree. The original committee believed that once the jurisdiction of the court had been invoked by filing of a petition, the children's court attorney was charged with responsibility for the case and his agreement was essential. To provide otherwise would allow probation services to remove cases from the authority of the children's court attorney.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-224 follows the determination required in Rule 5-303 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts and Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The determination is required in cases involving either a consent decree or an admission. The original committee believed that such an inquiry is constitutionally mandated. In re Appeal No. 544, 25 Md. App. 26, 332 A.2d 680 (1975); Santobello v. New York, 404 U.S. 257, 92 S. Ct. 495, 30 L. Ed. 2d 427 (1971); Boykin v. Alabama, 395 U.S. 238, 89 S. Ct. 1709, 23 L. Ed. 2d 274 (1969).

Paragraph D of Rule 10-224 requires that there be a factual basis for the admission or consent decree agreement.

Paragraph F of Rule 10-224 prohibits the court from accepting the admissions contained in a consent decree, and then imposing a more stringent disposition than that negotiated. If the court accepts the consent decree, it must do so on the terms negotiated or on terms more favorable to the respondent. It is entirely within the discretion of the court whether or not to accept a consent decree agreement. Nothing prohibits the court from rejecting the offered decree prior to conducting the hearing required by Paragraph F of Rule 10-224. However, the decree cannot be accepted until after the determination required by Paragraph C is made.

Paragraph G of Rule 10-224 follows the general policy in civil cases and adult criminal cases in the district courts that negotiations leading toward settlements should be encouraged and thus negotiation discussions should not be admissible if the negotiation efforts fail.

Paragraph H of Rule 10-224 is designed to assure a prompt final disposition for detained children when an admission is made or agreement reached on a consent decree. For computation of the time limit, see Rule 10-106.

Paragraph I of Rule 10-224 was added in 1978.

Rules 10-224 and 10-225 are procedural rules and supersede any conflicting provisions of Section 32-1-36 NMSA 1978. They are designed to clarify the procedure to be used when the respondent in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding admits the factual allegations of the petition. The rule does not envision the use of any "notice of intent to admit the allegations of the petition" (Section 32-1-32 NMSA 1978) and to the extent this "notice" is called for in the Children's Code, it is superseded by the provisions of Rule 10-224.

In addition to the changes made in the "reinstatement" procedure previously discussed, consent decree procedure also varies from the statute in that supervision may be in the home of another person and the children's court attorney must approve the consent decree.

Subsection F of Section 32-1-36 NMSA 1978, establishing a basis for disqualification of a judge in consent decree situations, is not affected by Rule 10-224 since it deals with a substantive right.

Rule 10-224 was substantially revised in 1978 to clarify the admission and consent decree procedure. It was revised again in 2000 to add Paragraph C and make other changes consistent with Rule 5-303 NMRA.

The rule defines two types of admissions: the traditional "guilty" plea and a nolo contendere plea. The child must enter one of these two pleas in order to utilize the consent decree procedure. However, the making of an admission in itself does not entitle a child to enter a consent decree.

Consent decrees are still negotiated settlements, approved by the court, under which the child is placed on probation for a period of up to six months, with the possibility of extension for another six months or revocation of the consent decree. See commentary to Rule 10-225 NMRA for a discussion of the extension and revocation provisions.

In the event a consent decree has not been negotiated, a child who makes an admission is subject to the discretion of the court in terms of disposition. The court is not bound to accept an admission. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978).

Paragraph C of Rule 10-224 NMRA follows the determination required in Rule 5-303 NMRA of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts and Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure. The determination is required in cases involving either a consent decree or an admission. The original committee believed that such an inquiry is constitutionally mandated. In re Appeal No. 544, 25 Md. App. 26, 332 A.2d 680 (1975); Santobello v. New York, 404 U.S. 257, 92 S. Ct. 495, 30 L. Ed. 2d 427 (1971); Boykin v. Alabama, 395 U.S. 238, 89 S. Ct. 1709, 23 L. Ed. 2d 274 (1969).

Rules 10-224, 10-224.1 and 10-225 NMRA are procedural rules and supersede any conflicting provisions of the Children's Code. They are designed to clarify the procedure to be used when the respondent in a delinquency proceeding admits the factual allegations of the petition.

[Committee revisions approved March 9, 2001.]

ANNOTATIONS

Cross references. - As to consent decrees, see 32A-2-22 NMSA 1978.

The 1999 amendment, effective August 1, 1999, deleted "and consent decrees" from the end of the section heading; deleted former Paragraph B, relating to consent decrees; redesignated former Paragraph C as Paragraph B, and in the introductory language of that paragraph, substituted "without addressing the child" for "or approve a consent decree without first, by addressing the respondent personally"; inserted "possible" in Subparagraph B(2); substituted "an admission waives" for "if he makes an admission or agrees to the entry of the consent decree, he is waiving" in Subparagraph B(4); rewrote Subparagraph B(5), which formerly read "the admission or provisions of the consent decree are voluntary and not the result of force or threats or of promises other than any consent decree agreement reached"; added Subsection C; in Paragraph D, deleted "or consent decree" following "admission" in the section heading and text, added "Factual" in the section heading, and substituted "disposition" for "judgment upon an admission or shall not approve a consent decree"; and deleted former Paragraph E relating to disposition of admission by respondent, former Paragraph F relating to disposition on acceptance of consent decree, former Paragraph G relating to inadmissibility of discussions, former Paragraph H relating to time limits, and former Paragraph I relating to rules of evidence; and made gender neutral and minor stylistic changes throughout the section.

Children's Code. - See 32A-1-1 NMSA 1978 and notes thereto.

Motion for consent decree held admission. - Where a motion for a consent decree signed by the child and his attorney states that the child does not object to the entrance of a consent decree, that statement declares the child's intention not to contest the allegations in the petition and thus is an admission under this rule. State v. Doe, 92 N.M. 354, 588 P.2d 555 (Ct. App. 1978).

Court has discretionary power to accept or refuse admission by a child, and so it was not an abuse of discretion to refuse to accept an admission when the consequence of such an acceptance would foreclose transfer specifically authorized by former 32-1-30 NMSA 1978. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978) (decided before 1978 amendment).

Failure of trial court to follow procedures. - Child's admission may be invalidated by the court's failure to follow its affirmative duty under Paragraph C of this rule to ascertain whether the admission is supported by an adequate factual basis and whether it is knowing, intelligent, and voluntary. In re Aaron L. 2000-NMCA-024, 128 N.M. 641, 996 P.2d 431.

Court may protect transfer option. - Although former 32-1-27 NMSA 1978 and Paragraph A of this rule authorize admissions by a child, they do not state that the court must accept the admission and are not to be interpreted as requiring the court to accept the admission; such an interpretation would place the child in a position to prevent a transfer because acceptance of the admission moves the proceedings into the adjudicatory stage, thereby preventing a transfer, and the clear intent of the statutes and rules is that a transfer may be accomplished, if transfer requirements are met, without regard to the wishes of the child. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978) (decided before 1978 amendment).

Defendant does not have absolute right under federal constitution to have his guilty plea accepted. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978).

Probation revocation proceedings. - The requirements of Paragraph C of this rule apply to probation revocation proceedings. In re Aaron L. 2000-NMCA-024, 128 N.M. 641, 996 P.2d 431.

10-224.1. Plea agreements.

A. In general. The court shall not participate in any plea discussions. A plea and disposition agreement entered into between the child and the children's court attorney shall be submitted to the court substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

B. Hearing. Prior to accepting a plea and disposition agreement, the court shall require the disclosure of the agreement in open court at the time the admission is offered. The court may accept or reject the agreement, or may defer its decision until there has been an opportunity to consider a report from the probation department.

C. Rejection of plea. If the court rejects the plea agreement, the court shall inform the parties of this fact, advise the child personally in open court that the court is not bound by the plea agreement, and advise the child that if the child persists in admitting the allegations, the disposition of the case may be less favorable to the child than that contemplated by the plea agreement.

[Adopted effective August 1, 1999.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated May 28, 1999, this rule is effective August 1, 1999.

10-225. Consent decrees; extension, revocation or termination of consent decree.

A. Consent decrees. After a factual basis has been established, the court may enter a consent decree that places the child under supervision for a period not to exceed six (6) months under conditions established by the court. As part of a consent decree, the parties may agree to an extension of the consent decree not to exceed an additional six (6) months. A consent decree and any extension may not exceed one (1) year from the date of the entry of the original consent decree.

B. Extension. The children's court attorney may move the court for an order extending the original consent decree for a period not to exceed six (6) months from the expiration of the original decree. The motion for extension shall be filed prior to the expiration of the original decree. If the child objects to the extension, the court shall hold a hearing to determine if the extension is in the best interests of the child and the public.

C. Revocation of consent decree. If, prior to the expiration of the consent decree, the child allegedly fails to fulfill the terms of the decree, the children's court attorney may file a petition to revoke the consent decree. Proceedings on the petition shall be conducted in the same manner as proceedings on petitions to revoke probation.

[As amended, effective August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-225 was formerly Rule 33. It was renumbered in 1978. The rule governs three situations: extension of a consent decree, termination of a consent decree and violation of a consent decree.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-225 allows extension of a consent decree for a period not to exceed six months if the children's court attorney moves the court for an extension of the decree prior to expiration of the original decree. The child must be given notice of the motion under Rule 10-104. A hearing must be held if the child objects to the motion. The original committee envisioned that such a hearing would be in the nature of a dispositional hearing. However, because the possible reasons for seeking the extension are varied (i.e. the child may have allegedly committed another delinquent act which did not warrant revoking the consent decree), the actual format of the hearing has been left open. It is not an ex parte hearing.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-225 governs revocation of the consent decree. Since a consent decree is essentially a negotiated probationary period, the original committee felt that the proceedings to revoke the consent decree should follow the procedure to revoke probation contained in Rule 10-232 of these rules. The petition is to be filed by the children's court attorney. (See commentary to Rule 10-224 for a discussion of the jurisdictional basis for the court's authority to order disposition appropriate in the original proceeding.) If the consent decree is revoked and the original petition alleged delinquency, the respondent could be committed to the boys' school at Springer or the girls' welfare home until twenty-one years of age. See Section 32-1-38 NMSA 1978.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-225 prohibits the state from proceeding against the respondent for the offense or conduct which gave rise to the consent decree if he completes the consent decree period without a petition to revoke being filed. Nothing in the rule precludes a civil action against the respondent for damages arising from his conduct.

Section 32-1-36C NMSA 1978 was amended in 1981 to be consistent with Paragraph A of Rule 10-225.

Section 32-1-36D NMSA 1978 was amended in 1981 to include the provisions of Paragraph B of Rule 10-225.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-225 supersedes Section 32-1-36E NMSA 1978.

As to extension, revocation or termination of consent decrees, see 32A-2-22 NMSA 1978.

The 1999 amendment, effective August 1, 1999, added Paragraph A, and redesignated subsequent paragraphs accordingly; substituted "child" for "respondent" in Paragraphs B and C; in Paragraph C, deleted the last sentence listing the court's options if the respondent is found to have violated the terms of the consent decree; and deleted former Subsection C relating to termination.

Court may properly call for information in deciding whether to accept or reject a consent decree or provide for a more favorable disposition of the child, as predisposition reports are relevant in deciding an appropriate disposition of the case and calling for information on the child's background is consistent with the legislative purpose in 32-1-2B NMSA 1978 of providing a "program of supervision, care and rehabilitation." *State v. 10-226. Adjudicatory hearing; time limits.

A. Child in detention. If the child is in detention, the adjudicatory hearing shall be commenced within thirty (30) days from whichever of the following events occurs latest:

(1) the date the petition is served on the child;

(2) the date the child is placed in detention;

(3) if an issue is raised concerning the child's competency to participate at the adjudicatory hearing, the date an order is entered finding the child is competent to participate at the adjudicatory hearing. The court may order periodic judicial reviews pending completion of the competency evaluation. At each judicial review the child's attorney shall advise the court of the status of the evaluation;

(4) if the proceedings have been stayed pursuant to Rule 10-221 NMRA on a finding of incompetency to stand trial, the date an order is filed finding the child competent to participate in an adjudicatory hearing;

(5) if a mistrial is declared or a new adjudicatory hearing is ordered by the children's court, the date such order is filed;

(6) in the event of an appeal, the date the mandate or order is filed in the children's court disposing of the appeal;

(7) if the child fails to appear at any time set by the court, the date the child is taken into custody after the failure to appear or the date an order is entered quashing the warrant for failure to appear;

(8) the date the court allows the withdrawal of a plea or rejects a plea; or

(9) if a notice of intent has been filed alleging the child is a "youthful offender", as that term is defined in the Children's Code [Chapter 32A NMSA 1978], the return of an indictment or the filing of a bind over order that does not include a "youthful offender" offense.

B. Child not in detention. If the child is not in detention, or has been released from detention prior to the expiration of the time limits set forth in this rule for a child in detention, the adjudicatory hearing shall be commenced within one-hundred twenty (120) days from whichever of the following events occurs latest:

(1) the date the petition is served on the child;

(2) if an issue is raised concerning the child's competency to participate at the adjudicatory hearing, the date an order is entered finding the child is competent to participate at the adjudicatory hearing;

(3) if the proceedings have been stayed on a finding of incompetency to participate in the adjudicatory hearing, the date an order is filed finding the child competent to participate in an adjudicatory hearing;

(4) if a mistrial is declared or a new adjudicatory hearing is ordered by the children's court, the date such order is filed;

(5) in the event of an appeal, the date the mandate or order is filed in the children's court disposing of the appeal;

(6) if the child fails to appear at any time set by the court, the date the child is taken into custody after the failure to appear or the date an order is entered quashing the warrant for failure to appear;

(7) the date the court allows the withdrawal of a plea or rejects a plea; or

(8) if a notice of intent has been filed alleging the child is a "youthful offender", as that term is defined in the Children's Code, the return of an indictment or the filing of a bind over order that does not include a "youthful offender" offense.

C. Multiple petitions. If more than one petition is pending, the time limits applicable to each petition shall be determined independently.

D. Extension of time by children's court. For good cause shown, the time for commencement of an adjudicatory hearing may be extended by the children's court judge provided that the aggregate of all extensions granted by the children's court judge may not exceed sixty (60) days.

E. Extension of time by Supreme Court. For good cause shown, the time for commencement of an adjudicatory hearing may be extended by the Supreme Court, a justice thereof, or a judge designated by the Supreme Court. The party seeking an extension of time shall file with the clerk of the Supreme Court a verified petition for extension concisely stating the facts petitioner deems to constitute good cause for an extension of time to commence the adjudicatory hearing. The petition shall be filed within the applicable time limits prescribed by this rule, except that it may be filed within ten (10) days after the expiration of the applicable time limits if it is based on exceptional circumstances beyond the control of the state or children's court which justify the failure to file the petition within the applicable time limit. A party seeking an extension of time shall forthwith serve a copy thereof on opposing counsel. Within five (5) days after service of the motion, opposing counsel may file an objection to the extension setting forth the reasons for such objection. No hearing shall be held except upon order of the Supreme Court. If the Supreme Court finds that there is good cause for the granting of an extension beyond the applicable time limit, it shall fix the time limit within which the adjudicatory hearing must be commenced.

F. Effect of noncompliance with time limits. If the adjudicatory hearing on any petition is not begun within the times specified in Paragraph A or B of this rule or within the period of any extension granted as provided in this rule, the petition shall be dismissed with prejudice.

[As amended, effective February 1, 1997; May 15, 2000.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-226 was revised in 1978.

The time limits for the commencement of the adjudicatory hearing depend upon whether or not the respondent is in detention. Prior to the 1978 revisions to this rule, the time limits were measured only by the date of service of the petition on the respondent. In conformity with similar changes in the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts, five other events were added from which the time limits are computed. The events are the same whether or not the respondent is in detention and are substantively similar to those added to Rule 5-604 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Paragraph C relating to failure to appear was added in 1978 and Paragraphs D and E concerning time extensions and failure to comply with the time limits were modified in accord with changes in Rule 5-604 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

See commentary to Rule 5-604 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts for a discussion of these changes.

The time limits in Rule 10-226 are jurisdictional. See commentary to Rule 10-204.

Rules 10-226 and 10-227 use the term "adjudicatory hearing" rather than the statutory "hearing on the petition" to describe what is the equivalent of a trial in the adult criminal system.

The statutory time limit runs from the date of filing of the petition. Obviously, the time limits do not apply if no adjudicatory hearing is required because an admission has been accepted or because a consent decree agreement has been approved.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-226 was amended in 1982 to clarify when adjudicatory hearings may be held when a child is released prior to the expiration of the time limits for commencement of hearings for children in detention.

ANNOTATIONS

Cross references. - As to time limitations on adjudicatory hearings, see 32A-2-15, 32A-4-18 and 32A-4-19 NMSA 1978.

The 1997 amendment, effective February 1, 1997, substituted "child" for "respondent" and "defendant" throughout the rule; added Subparagraphs A(2), A(3), and B(2) and redesignated the remaining subparagraphs accordingly; added "or the date an order is entered quashing the warrant for failure to appear" in Subparagraphs A(7) and B(6); rewrote Subparagraphs A(8) and B(7), which formerly read: "in the event a motion for transfer is filed by the children's court attorney, the date an order is filed denying the motion"; substituted "time limits set forth in this rule for a child in detention" for "time limits set forth in Paragraph A of this rule" and substituted "one-hundred twenty (120) days" for "ninety (90) days" in Paragraph B; rewrote Paragraph C which formerly related to failure to appear; and in Paragraph D, added "by Supreme Court" to the paragraph heading, and in the first sentence, added "For good cause shown" at the beginning, deleted "only" following "extended", and deleted "for good cause shown" at the end.

The 2000 amendment, effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after May 15, 2000, substituted "Child" for "Respondent" in the bold heading of Paragraph A, added the last two sentences in Subparagraph A(3), inserted "pursuant to Rule 10-221 NMRA" in Subparagraph A(4), added Subparagraph A(8) and redesignated former Subparagraph A(8) as A(9), added Subparagraph B(7) and redesignated former Subparagraph B(7) as B(8), added Paragraph C and redesignated the remaining paragraphs accordingly.

Parole revocation. - The children's court procedure for an original petition alleging delinquency applies to petitions for revocation of parole. State v. Doe, 90 N.M. 568, 566 P.2d 117 (Ct. App. 1977).

Time limits jurisdictional. - Time limits set forth in this rule are jurisdictional; thus, an issue involving the improper extension of time for conducting a trial on the merits did not require preservation for appellate review. In re Ruben O. 120 N.M. 160, 899 P.2d 603 (Ct. App. 1995).

Application to detained child. - The 30-day time limit specified in this rule applies to a detained child pending an adjudicatory hearing because the state has not proven any allegations against the child and such limit protects the child's liberty interests. State v. Anthony M. 1998-NMCA-065, 125 N.M. 149, 958 P.2d 107, cert. denied, 125 N.M. 145, 958 P.2d 103 (1998).

The 30-day time limit does not apply to youthful offender proceedings in which probable cause is found; such proceedings are subject to the six-month time limit set forth in the Rules of Criminal Procedure. State v. Michael S. 1998-NMCA-041, 124 N.M. 732, 955 P.2d 201.

"Detention" ends upon being committed. - A child who, while being detained on a second delinquency petition, is adjudicated delinquent and committed to a boys' school on the first delinquency petition is no longer in detention following such commitment and the 30-day time limit for commencing an adjudicatory hearing is, therefore, inapplicable. State v. Anthony M. 1998-NMCA-065, 125 N.M. 149, 958 P.2d 107, cert. denied, 125 N.M. 145, 958 P.2d 103 (1998).

Child who was already in detention because of a prior delinquency adjudication was not considered to be in detention for purposes of this rule; therefore, the 120-day time limitation of Paragraph B applied to the second adjudication, following a mistrial. State v. Augustine R. 1998-NMCA-139, 126 N.M. 122, 967 P.2d 462.

Calculation of time period. - The time period for holding a hearing becomes fixed by presence or absence of the detention of the child after the detention hearing. State v. Doe, 90 N.M. 568, 566 P.2d 117 (Ct. App. 1977).

Since the child was released from detention prior to expiration of the 30-day deadline, an adjudicatory hearing was timely when it was held within the 90-day time limit prescribed by Paragraph B. In re Ruben O. 120 N.M. 160, 899 P.2d 603 (Ct. App. 1995).

Effect of subsequent detention. - A revocation of a child's release for a violation of the conditions thereof did not change the applicable time period for holding the hearing. State v. Doe, 90 N.M. 568, 566 P.2d 117 (Ct. App. 1977).

Tolling provisions limited to 30- or 90-day period respectively. - The tolling provided by Subparagraphs A(6) and B(6) of this rule is limited to a 30- or 90-day period, respectively. State v. Doe, 94 N.M. 446, 612 P.2d 238 (Ct. App. 1980).

When 30-day limitation begins to run. - The 30-day period for holding a hearing on a motion to extend custody begins to run after the later of: (1) the termination date of the prior custody, or (2) the date the child is arrested after his failure to appear. State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 748, 605 P.2d 256 (Ct. App. 1980).

When 90-day period begins to run. - The time limit for commencing an adjudicatory hearing in a delinquency proceeding involving a child not held in custody begins to run when the summons and a copy of the petition are personally served on the child, and not when a copy is given to the child's attorney. State v. Jody C. 113 N.M. 80, 823 P.2d 322 (Ct. App. 1991).

Child held on two separate detentions. - Where a child was the subject of two separate delinquency petitions at the time he was detained, the period for commencement of the adjudicatory hearing started when the children's court determined that the child would continue to be detained on one of the petitions, not when he was arrested on a bench warrant issued for the other petition. State v. Isaiah A. 1997-NMCA-116, 124 N.M. 237, 947 P.2d 1057.

Good cause for continuance. - The absence of witnesses and the fact that the judge was occupied with a jury trial constituted good cause for continuances. State v. Doe, 90 N.M. 568, 566 P.2d 117 (Ct. App. 1977).

Where a special master lacks authority to hear a probation revocation petition, the court is without jurisdiction at the hearing on the petition. When the district judge disposes of the case more than 30 days after the petition is filed, the petition should be dismissed with prejudice. State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 621, 603 P.2d 731 (Ct. App. 1979).

"Appeal". - The term "appeal" in Subparagraph A(4) includes a request for review over which the appellate court lacks jurisdiction. State v. Michael C. 106 N.M. 440, 744 P.2d 913 (Ct. App. 1987).

"Appeal", for purposes of Paragraph B(4), should be defined as a seeking of review by a higher court, including seeking supreme court review under a peremptory writ. State v. Felipe V. 105 N.M. 192, 730 P.2d 495 (Ct. App. 1986).

10-227. Delinquency proceedings; adjudicatory hearing; general procedure.

A. Conduct. Except as otherwise provided, adjudicatory hearings in delinquency cases shall be conducted in the same manner as trials are conducted under the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

B. Children's court attorney. In delinquency cases, the children's court attorney shall represent the state at all adjudicatory hearings.

[As amended, effective February 1, 1997.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-227 was formerly Rule 35. It was renumbered in 1978.

The rule establishes general procedures for both jury and nonjury adjudicatory hearings and, by reference, adopts the specific provisions of Rules 5-606 through 5-611 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. However, the procedure for demanding a jury trial and certain other aspects of jury trials established by the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts are not applicable to jury trials in the children's court under Rule 10-227. See commentary to Rule 10-228 of these rules.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-227, by requiring that adjudicatory hearings be conducted in the same manner as adult criminal trials, follows the recommendation of the national advisory commission on criminal justice standards and goals. The original committee agreed with the NAC commentary that when "the juvenile contests the facts upon which court jurisdiction is sought, the procedure for resolving the dispute should not differ substantially from that used in adult cases." The adoption of the provisions of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts also brings the rules into compliance with the due process and fair hearing requirements of In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527 (1967), and In re Winship, 397 U.S. 358, 90 S. Ct. 1068, 25 L. Ed. 2d 368 (1970).

Paragraph B of Rule 10-227 requiring the children's court attorney to represent the state in adjudicatory hearings specifically follows NAC Standard 14.4 that: "In all delinquency cases, a legal officer representing the State should be present in court to present evidence supporting the allegation of delinquency." The original committee decided that: (1) a juvenile probation officer is not an attorney and should not be serving in the role of an attorney; (2) that if the juvenile probation officer were allowed to be the "chief prosecutor," his ability to counsel and deal with the respondent on a more informal basis would be compromised; and (3) it is part of the duties of the children's court attorney to represent the state as prosecutor. See Rule 10-102 for the definition of "children's court attorney."

Subsection B of Section 32-1-31 NMSA 1978 provides that all hearings on petitions alleging delinquency shall be open to the public unless the court makes a finding of exceptional circumstances. Hearings on petitions alleging need of supervision are closed to the public.

The 1997 amendment, effective February 1, 1997, added "Delinquency proceedings" in the rule heading, and inserted "in delinquency cases" in Paragraph A and "In delinquency cases" in Paragraph B.

Nature of proceedings. - Juvenile proceedings to determine "delinquency," which may lead to a commitment to a state institution, must be regarded as "criminal" for purposes of the privilege against self-incrimination. Peyton v. Nord, 78 N.M. 717, 437 P.2d 716 (1968).

10-228. Jury trial; delinquency proceedings.

A. Demand. A demand for trial by jury in delinquency proceedings shall be made in writing to the court within ten (10) days from the date the petition is filed or within ten (10) days from the appointment of an attorney for the respondent or entry of appearance by counsel for the respondent, whichever is later. If demand is not made as provided in this paragraph, trial by jury is deemed waived.

B. Peremptory challenges. In all trials by jury in delinquency proceedings, the state shall be entitled to two (2) peremptory challenges and the defense, three (3). When two (2) or more respondents are jointly tried, two (2) additional challenges shall be allowed to the defense and one (1) to the state for each additional respondent.

[As amended, effective September 1, 1995.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-228 was formerly Rule 36. It was renumbered in 1978. This rule was readopted after the decision in State v. Doe, 94 N.M. 637, 614 P.2d 1086 (Ct. App. 1980) to make it clear that the provisions of this rule and Section 32-1-31 NMSA 1978 govern the procedure for demanding a jury trial.

The rule contains special provisions relating to jury trials in the children's court.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-228 requires that the demand for jury trial be in writing and that it be filed within certain time limits.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-228 is patterned after Subparagraph (1)(b) of Paragraph D of Rule 5-606 of the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts.

Except as provided in Rule 10-228, jury trials are conducted in the same manner as trials are conducted under the Rules of Criminal Procedure for the District Courts. See Rule 10-227.

See also, Section 32-1-31A NMSA 1978 and Peyton v. Nord, 78 N.M. 717, 437 P.2d 716 (1968).

Historical Background

Until the adoption of the first juvenile law in New Mexico in 1917 (Laws 1917, Chapter 4), New Mexico handled juvenile criminal offenders in the same manner as adult criminal offenders. From 1917 until 1968, New Mexico followed the general rule that, under the theory of parens patriae, juvenile proceedings were civil proceedings and therefore juveniles were not entitled to a right to a jury trial. See In re Santillanes, 47 N.M. 140, 152, 138 P.2d 503 (1943).

In 1968, the Supreme Court of New Mexico in Peyton v. Nord, 78 N.M. 717, 724, 437 P.2d 716 (1968) relied in part on In re Gault, 387 U.S. 1, 87 S. Ct. 1428, 18 L. Ed. 2d 527 (1967) and held that a juvenile was entitled to a jury trial under the jury trial guaranties of Article 2, Section 14 of the New Mexico Constitution "as well as those of the Sixth Amendment of the United States Constitution . . ." In holding that a juvenile is entitled to a jury trial, the court reasoned that since juveniles were entitled to a jury trial as adult offenders at the time of the adoption of our state Constitution, under Article 2, Section 12, they cannot be denied this right merely because of a "change in terminology or procedure."

It is almost universally decided that a jury trial is not required by either the state or federal constitutions in delinquency proceedings unless a jury trial is provided for by statute. 100 A.L.R. 2d 1241. The United States Supreme Court has held a juvenile proceeding is not a "criminal prosecution" under the Sixth Amendment of the United States Constitution and therefore juveniles are not entitled to a jury trial under the United States Constitution. McKeiver v. Pennsylvania, 403 U.S. 528, 95 S. Ct. 1976, 29 L. Ed. 2d 647 (1971).

In State v. Doe, 90 N.M. 776, 568 P.2d 612 (Ct. App. 1977) the court referred to McKeiver v. Pennsylvania, supra, to support its conclusion that a jury trial in juvenile proceedings is not constitutionally mandated by the Sixth and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution and explains that the decision in Peyton v. Nord, supra, is applicable only to those situations where a felony is charged and not where the offense is a petty misdemeanor. The court held that Section 32-1-31A NMSA 1978 authorizes a jury trial only if the juvenile has committed a "district court offense." Rule 10-228 should not be construed as extending a right to trial by jury in cases where the delinquent act would have been a petty misdemeanor if committed by an adult.

The 1972 session of the legislature repealed the Juvenile Code of 1955 and enacted a new Children's Code, Section 32-1-31 NMSA 1978 of which provided that the child, parent, guardian, custodian or counsel in proceedings alleging delinquency may demand a jury trial. The New Mexico Supreme Court subsequently adopted Children's Court Rule 10-228 requiring that the demand for jury trial be made in writing within 10 days from the date the petition is filed or within 10 days from the appointment of an attorney, whichever is later.

In State v. Doe, 94 N.M. 637, 614 P.2d 1086 (Ct. App. 1980), the New Mexico Court of Appeals held that under Peyton v. Nord, supra, a juvenile has a right to a jury trial unless there is a waiver. Although there is dictum in Peyton v. Nord, supra, relating to waiver, the committee does not believe that case law in criminal cases relating to the issue of waiver was extended to juvenile proceedings by the Peyton decision. The supreme court by readopting Rule 10-228 concurs in this belief. If a jury is demanded and the child is entitled to a jury trial, the jury's function is limited to that of trier of the factual issue of whether or not the child committed the alleged delinquent acts. If no jury is demanded, the hearing will be by the court without a jury and all hearings on petitions other than those alleging delinquency will be without a jury. Jury trials will be conducted in accordance with rules promulgated under the provisions of Subsection C of Section 32-1-4 NMSA 1978.

ANNOTATIONS

Cross references. - As to jury trial on issue of alleged delinquent acts, see 32A-2-16 NMSA 1978.

The 1995 amendment, effective September 1, 1995, added "delinquency proceedings" in the rule heading and, in the first sentence in Paragraph B, substituted "delinquency proceedings" for "children's court", and changed the number of preemptory challenges allowed from three and five to two and three, respectively.

Right to trial by jury. - Since at the time of the adoption of the state constitution, a juvenile could not have been imprisoned without trial by jury, no change in terminology or procedure may be invoked whereby incarceration might now be accomplished in manner involving the denial of the right to a jury trial. Peyton v. Nord, 78 N.M. 717, 437 P.2d 716 (1968).

The children's court erred in concluding that a child was not entitled to a jury trial when he failed to make a timely jury demand as provided in Paragraph A; the rule can do no more than encourage a counseled decision at an early stage of the proceedings. State v. Eric M. 1996-NMSC-056, 122 N.M. 436, 925 P.2d 1198.

Timeliness of demand. - Since the state was unable to establish the date the child's attorney was served with a copy of her appointment, the 10-day period within which to demand a jury trial began to run on the day following the appearance of the attorney at the detention hearing. In re Ruben O. 120 N.M. 160, 899 P.2d 603 (Ct. App. 1995).

Waiver of jury trial. - Where a child has a right to a trial by jury, such right may be waived, but only by an express waiver. State v. Doe, 94 N.M. 637, 614 P.2d 1086 (Ct. App. 1980).

Jury trial may be waived, but waiver should be permitted only when the juvenile has been advised by counsel and it is amply clear that an understanding and intelligent decision has been made; if the juvenile, after considering the advantages and disadvantages and having been advised by counsel, waives trial by jury, he would enjoy the benefits generally felt to attach through trial to court. Peyton v. Nord, 78 N.M. 717, 437 P.2d 716 (1968).

Waiver of jury trial. - The state has no right grounded in either state statute, court rule, or the state constitution to impose a right of concurrence on the right of a child to waive his jury trial. In re Christopher K. 1999-NMCA-157, 128 N.M. 406, 993 P.2d 120.

10-229. Dispositional proceedings.

A. Access to reports. At least five (5) days before a hearing, copies of any social, diagnostic or other predisposition reports ordered by or submitted to the court shall be provided to the parties.

B. Time limits. When the child is in detention, dispositional proceedings shall begin within thirty (30) days from the date the court concludes the adjudicatory hearing in a delinquency proceeding or trial in a youthful offender proceeding or accepts an admission of the factual allegations of the petition. The dispositional proceedings shall be concluded as soon as practical. If the hearing is not begun within the time specified in this paragraph, unless the child has agreed to the delay or has been responsible for the failure to comply with the time limits, the child shall be released from detention on such conditions as appropriate until the dispositional hearing can be commenced.

C. Commitment for diagnosis. The court may order a child adjudicated as a delinquent child to be committed to a facility for purposes of diagnosis and recommendations to the court as to what disposition is in the best interests of the child and the public. If the court enters an order transferring the child for a diagnostic commitment pursuant to the Children's Code, the dispositional proceedings shall be recommenced within forty-five (45) days after the filing of the court's order.

D. Extension of time. For good cause shown the time for commencing a disposition hearing may be extended by the Supreme Court, a justice thereof, or a judge designated by the Supreme Court. The party seeking an extension of time shall file with the clerk of the Supreme Court a verified petition for extension concisely stating the facts petitioner deems to constitute good cause for an extension of time to commence the dispositional hearing. The petition shall be filed within the applicable time limits prescribed by this rule, except that it may be filed within ten (10) days after the expiration of the applicable time limits if it is based on exceptional circumstances beyond the control of the state or children's court which justify the failure to file the petition within the applicable time limit. A party seeking an extension of time shall forthwith serve a copy thereof on opposing counsel. Within five (5) days after service of the motion, opposing counsel may file an objection to the extension setting forth the reasons for such objection. No hearing shall be held except upon order of the Supreme Court. If the Supreme Court finds that there is good cause for the granting of an extension beyond the applicable time limit, it shall fix the time limit within which the dispositional hearing must be commenced.

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-229 was formerly Rule 37. It was renumbered in 1978.

The rule establishes dispositional procedures for use after entry of a judgment that the respondent is a delinquent child or a child in need of supervision.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-229 reflects the original committee's concern that the dispositional hearing is often the crucial stage in children's court proceedings, particularly those involving children in need of supervision in which the facts have been stipulated. As noted in the report by the president's commission on law enforcement and administration of justice, The Challenge of Crime in a Free Society 86-87 (1967):

. . . children need advocates to speak for them and guard their interests, particularly when disposition decisions are made. It is the disposition stage at which the opportunity arises to offer individualized treatment plans and in which the danger adheres that the court's coercive power will be applied without adequate knowledge of the circumstances.

The purpose of Paragraph A of Rule 10-229 is to assure that if the accuracy of social, medical, psychological and psychiatric reports which form the basis for disposition is questioned, the respondent has a means to test that accuracy. The original committee was concerned with those instances in which the dispositional reports are conclusionary in nature or substantially based on hearsay. In such cases, the reports are admissible, but defense counsel is allowed an opportunity to show that the conclusion is erroneous or the hearsay unreliable, and the state is allowed the same means to challenge the respondent's evidence under Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph A of Rule 10-229.

Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph A of Rule 10-229 sets a time limit for providing copies of the reports to the parties.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-229 establishes time limits for beginning the dispositional hearing if the respondent is in detention or if the respondent is transferred to a corrections division facility for diagnosis. The statutory maximum period for a diagnostic confinement is ninety days for a child adjudicated as a delinquent and sixty days for a child adjudicated a child in need of supervision. See Section 32-1-32 NMSA 1978. If the respondent is not undergoing diagnosis at a corrections division facility, but is in detention, the dispositional hearing must begin within twenty days from the date the adjudicatory hearing was concluded or an admission accepted by the court. This time limit is to prevent continued detention without prompt final disposition.

The dispositional hearing must begin twenty days after the court receives the diagnostic report of the department. The additional twenty-day leeway is allowed to provide adequate time for receipt and examination of diagnostic reports and to schedule the hearing. This rule supersedes Section 32-1-32 NMSA 1978 in this respect.

There is no time limit for the dispositional hearing of children who are not in detention or undergoing diagnosis.

The time periods of this rule are mandatory. See Rule 10-117. The court must dismiss any case in which the dispositional hearing has not been held within time limits prescribed by this rule. See State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 31, 595 P.2d 1221 (Ct. App. 1979), for a decision issued prior to the amendment of Rules 10-117 and 10-229, clarifying when a proceeding must be dismissed. For decisions discussing "prejudice" in criminal cases where prejudice to the defendant was found, see State v. Orona, 92 N.M. 450, 589 P.2d 1041 (1979); State v. Vigil, 87 N.M. 345, 533 P.2d 578 (1975); State v. Caputo, 94 N.M. 190, 608 P.2d 166 (Ct. App. 1980); Chacon v. State, 88 N.M. 198, 539 P.2d 218 (Ct. App. 1975); State v. Johnson, 84 N.M. 29, 498 P.2d 1372 (Ct. App. 1972) and Barker v. Wingo, 407 U.S. 514 (1972). For decisions where no prejudice to the defendant was found, see State v. Smith, 92 N.M. 533, 591 P.2d 664 (1979); State v. Gallegos, 92 N.M. 370, 588 P.2d 1045 (Ct. App. 1978) and State v. Gutierrez, 91 N.M. 542, 577 P.2d 440 (Ct. App. 1978).

For disposition of youthful offender, see 32A-2-20 NMSA 1978.

The 1997 amendment, effective April 1, 1997, substituted "proceedings" for "hearing" in the rule heading, rewrote Paragraphs A and B, and added Paragraphs C and D.

Absence of hearing and two-year commitment improper under statutory provisions. - Where there is no hearing prior to the entry of an order to commit a child to a boys' school for two years, the absence of a hearing is contrary to former 32-1-27 NMSA 1978, which gave the child a right to be heard concerning the diagnostic evaluation. State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 206, 598 P.2d 1166 (Ct. App. 1979).

Purpose of time requirements is to ensure prompt handling of children's court matters. State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 31, 595 P.2d 1221 (Ct. App. 1979).

Court's discretion does not permit it to delay a hearing. - There is no conflict between the time limit within which a dispositional hearing must be held under Paragraph B of this rule and Subsection H of 32-1-31 NMSA 1978 granting discretion to the children's court in a wide variety of circumstances; the rule simply states that in one specific circumstance that discretion should not be exercised to delay a hearing. In re Paul T. 118 N.M. 538, 882 P.2d 1051 (Ct. App. 1994).

Consequence of violating Paragraph B is dismissal. - Consistent with Rule 10-101 NMRA, and giving effect to the mandatory aspect of the time requirements of this rule, the consequence of violating Paragraph B is dismissal. State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 31, 595 P.2d 1221 (Ct. App. 1979).

If Paragraph B violated, judgment void. - Judgment entered by the children's court revoking probation and committing a juvenile to the custody of the Children, Youth and Families Department was void because the dispositional hearing following the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing was not held within the time period mandated by Paragraph B. In re Paul T. 118 N.M. 538, 882 P.2d 1051 (Ct. App. 1994).

Requirements for Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph B dismissal. - Dismissal under Subparagraph (2) of Paragraph B for delay does not operate unless both prejudice and absence of the child's agreement to or responsibility for delay are present. State v. Doe, 100 N.M. 357, 670 P.2d 968 (Ct. App. 1983).

Where a defendant agrees to be sentenced as an adult by entering into a plea and disposition agreement in which the defendant also waives any motions, defenses, objections, or requests, either made or that could thereafter be made, the defendant has waived the time limit on dispositional hearings under this rule. State v. Timothy T. 1998-NMCA-053, 125 N.M. 96, 957 P.2d 525, cert. denied, 125 N.M. 147, 958 P.2d 105 (1998).

When time limit not waived. - A child does not waive the time limit of this rule either by requesting a delay in transportation to the Youth Diagnostic Center or by requesting a continuance of a dispositional hearing which itself would have been untimely. State v. Doe, 94 N.M. 282, 609 P.2d 729 (Ct. App. 1980).

Time limit in Paragraph B is not suspended by special master's proceedings. - The running of the twenty-day time limit in Paragraph B, within which a dispositional hearing must be held, is not suspended until exceptions are filed under Paragraph E of Rule 10-111, and the children's court judge acts on the report of the special master. In re Paul T. 118 N.M. 538, 882 P.2d 1051 (Ct. App. 1994).

Law reviews. - For survey, "Children's Court Practice in Delinquency and Need of Supervision Cases Under the New Rules," see 6 N.M.L. Rev. 331 (1976).

10-230. Judgments and appeals.

A. Entry of judgment. If the child is found to have committed a delinquent act, a judgment to that effect shall be entered. If the child is found not to be a delinquent child, a judgment to that effect shall be entered. The judgment and disposition shall be rendered in open court and thereafter a written judgment and disposition shall be signed by the judge and filed. The clerk shall give notice of entry of judgment and disposition.

B. Advisement of right to an appeal. At the time of disposition in a case which has gone to an adjudicatory hearing on a denial of the allegations of the petition, the court shall advise the child of the right to appeal and of the right of a person who is unable to pay the cost of an appeal to proceed at state expense. Failure of the court to so advise the child shall toll the time for taking an appeal.

C. Appeals. Appeals from judgments and dispositions on petitions alleging delinquency shall be governed by the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

[Children's Court Rule 50 NMSA 1953; Children's Court Rule 50 NMSA 1978; Rule 10-230 SCRA 1986; as amended effective April 1, 1997.]

Committee commentary. - This rule (formerly Rule 38) was not substantially changed in 1978.

The rule deals with the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing and the onset of the time for appeal.

Under 32-1-3N and Pand 32-1-31 NMSA 1978, a determination of guilt in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding requires a two-pronged inquiry: (1) did the child commit a delinquent act or commit an offense defined as need of supervision, and, if so, (2) is the child also in need of care or rehabilitation? If the answer to both inquiries is in the affirmative, then the respondent is either a delinquent child or a child in need of supervision. Such a conclusion is equivalent to a finding of guilty in an adult criminal case.

Accordingly, Paragraph A reflects this two-faceted inquiry. The first entry of judgment goes only to whether or not it has been proven that the acts alleged were committed by the child. This determination, standing alone, does not make the child a "delinquent child" and is therefore not a sufficient basis for the court to proceed to disposition. The court also must determine whether the respondent is in need of care or rehabilitation. If it so determines, the judgment that the respondent is a delinquent child or a child in need of supervision is then entered and has the equivalent effect of a determination of guilty in adult criminal cases. Failure to hold a hearing to determine whether or not the child is in need of care or rehabilitation is reversible error. State v. John Doe, 91 N.M. 356, 573 P.2d 1211 (Ct. App. 1977).

If the answer to either of the two inquiries is in the negative, the judgment to be entered is that the respondent is not guilty.

Paragraph B provides that the time for appeal begins to run from disposition, not from the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing. See In re John Doe III, 87 N.M. 170, 531 P.2d 218 (Ct. App. 1975).

Section 32-1-39A NMSA 1978 simply allows "a party" to appeal from a judgment of the children's court to the court of appeals "in the manner provided by law." Paragraph C specifies that the appeal will be governed by the New Mexico Rules of Appellate Procedure.

The 1997 amendment, effective April 1, 1997, substituted "child" for "respondent" throughout the rule, deleted "or is found to have committed an offense defined as need of supervision" following "act" in the first sentence in Paragraph A, deleted the former second sentence in Paragraph A which read "If it also determined that the respondent is in need of care or rehabilitation, a judgment that the child is a delinquent child or a child in need of supervision shall be entered", deleted "or a child in need of supervision" following "delinquent child" in the present second sentence in Paragraph A, inserted "in open court" in the third sentence in Paragraph A, and deleted "or need of supervision" following "delinquency" in Paragraph C.

There are two aspects to the determination that child is delinquent child: (1) the act which he committed; and (2) the need for care or rehabilitation. State v. Doe, 90 N.M. 249, 561 P.2d 948 (Ct. App. 1977).

State has the right to appeal judgments of the children's court. State v. Doe, 92 N.M. 354, 588 P.2d 555 (Ct. App. 1978).

Effect of admission on transfer to district court. - Since acceptance of an admission involves accepting that the child has committed a delinquent act and is a delinquent child, and this rule requires entry of judgment once the child is found to have committed a delinquent act, a transfer to district court pursuant to former 32-1-30 NMSA 1978 cannot occur once an admission is accepted. State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 506, 576 P.2d 1137 (Ct. App. 1978) (decided before 1978 amendment of Rule 44 (now Rule 10-224)).

10-230.1. Modification of judgment.

A. Correction of judgment. The court may correct an unlawful disposition at any time and may correct a commitment imposed in an unlawful manner within the time provided by this rule for the reduction of the term of commitment.

B. Reduction of term of commitment. A motion to modify or reconsider the judgment or disposition may be filed by the respondent within thirty (30) days after the judgment is filed. A form of order setting a hearing on the motion shall be submitted with the motion. The court shall determine the motion within ninety (90) days after the date it is filed or the motion is deemed denied.

[Adopted, effective May 3, 1999.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated March 4, 1999, this rule is effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after May 3, 1999.

10-231. Commitment information.

Whenever a child is committed to either the girls' school, the boys' school or the youth diagnostic and development center, the committing court shall provide the following information to that facility if available:

A. medical information. A complete medical report including any psychological and drug involvement information, if applicable;

B. family information. This shall include information relating to number of siblings, family income, and religious background;

- C. educational information;
- D. employment information;
- E. delinquent history; and
- F. any other information which is relevant to the background of the child.

10-232. Probation.

A. Probation. At the conclusion of the dispositional hearing, the court may enter an order placing the child on probation under terms and conditions as the court may prescribe.

B. Revocation of probation. If the child fails to fulfill the terms or conditions of probation, the children's court attorney may file a petition to revoke probation.

C. Revocation procedure. Proceedings to revoke probation shall be conducted in the same manner as proceedings on petitions alleging delinquency. The child whose probation is sought to be revoked shall be entitled to all rights that a child alleged to be delinquent is entitled to under law and these rules, except that:

- (1) no preliminary inquiry shall be conducted;
- (2) the hearing on the petition shall be to the court without a jury;
- (3) the petition shall be styled as a "Petition to Revoke Probation" and shall state the terms of probation alleged to have been violated and the factual basis for these allegations; and
- (4) the petition may be filed any time prior to expiration of the period of probation.

[As amended, effective August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-232 was formerly Rule 39. It was renumbered in 1978.

The children's court attorney must sign the petition. See also Section 32-1-43 NMSA 1978.

There is no provision in the Children's Code similar to Section 31-21-15B NMSA 1978 regarding credit for probation for adults. See State v. Sublett, 78 N.M. 655, 436 P.2d 515 (Ct. App. 1968). Section 32-1-38G NMSA 1978 of the Children's Code provides that any time "prior to the expiration of a judgment of probation," a court may extend the judgment for one year. Section 32-1-38G NMSA 1978 seems to require less than Rule 10-232 does for initiating a petition to revoke probation. However, Section 32-1-43

NMSA 1978, regarding probation revocation, provides that the court not only may extend the judgment, but it may "make any other judgment or disposition that would have been appropriate in the original disposition of the case." Rule 10-232 was amended in 1982 to require the filing of the petition for revocation prior to expiration of the probation period. By requiring that the petition to revoke probation be filed prior to the expiration of the probation period, this rule would be consistent with Rule 10-225 regarding the extension of consent decrees.

Rule 11-509 of the Rules of Evidence establishing a privilege between probation officers and the respondent is inapplicable to probation revocation proceedings since it applies only to statements made during a preliminary inquiry, and none is conducted under Subparagraph (1) of Paragraph A of Rule 10-232. See State v. Doe, 91 N.M. 364, 574 P.2d 288 (Ct. App. 1978).

The 1982 amendments deleting "parole" from this rule were made to be consistent with the amendment of Section 32-1-43 NMSA 1978 by the 1981 legislature. Section 32-1-43.1 NMSA 1978 now requires the field community services division of the corrections department to establish procedures for parole revocations.

The 1999 amendment, effective August 1, 1999, added Paragraphs A and B, redesignated former Paragraph A as Paragraph C, and in the introductory language of that paragraph deleted "or need of supervision" at the end of the first sentence, and in the second sentence substituted "child" for "respondent" twice and deleted "or in need of supervision" preceding "is entitled to"; and deleted former Paragraph B relating to disposition.

Compiler's notes. - Section 32-1-43.1 NMSA 1978, referred to in the second sentence in the last paragraph of the committee commentary, was amended in 1992 to refer to the children, youth and families department, not the field services division. The section was subsequently repealed in 1993.

Where a special master lacks authority to hear a probation revocation petition, the court is without jurisdiction at the hearing on the petition. When the district judge disposes of the case more than 30 days after the petition is filed, the petition should be dismissed with prejudice. State v. Doe, 93 N.M. 621, 603 P.2d 731 (Ct. App. 1979).

ARTICLE 3

ABUSE AND NEGLECT PROCEEDINGS

10-301. Ex parte custody orders.

A. Issuance. Within two (2) days after a child is taken into custody, the department shall file a motion for an ex parte custody order with a sworn written statement of facts showing probable cause to believe the child has been abused or neglected. The motion and affidavit for ex parte custody order shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

B. Service. The order shall be served with the petition.

[Adopted April 1, 1976, Children's Court Rule 40 NMSA 1953; recompiled and amended as Children's Court Rule 52 NMSA 1978 effective November 1, 1978; Rule 10-301 SCRA 1986, as amended effective February 1, 1982; August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - The rule establishes a procedure similar to an arrest warrant to cover situations in which a child alleged to be abused or neglected may be taken into custody. Sections 32A-4-6 to 32A-4-8 NMSA 1978 provide for temporary custody prior to the filing of a petition. Rule 10-303 requires a custody hearing to be held within ten (10) days after the petition has been filed.

ANNOTATIONS

Withdrawals. - Former Rule 10-302 NMRA, relating to notice of custody, is withdrawn effective August 1, 1999.

10-303. Custody hearing; abuse and neglect.

A. Time limits. A custody hearing shall be held within ten (10) days from the date a petition is filed alleging abuse or neglect. At the custody hearing the court shall determine if the child should remain or be placed in the custody of the department pending adjudication. Upon written request of the respondent, the hearing may be held sooner, but in no event shall the hearing be held less than two (2) days after the date the petition was filed.

B. Notice. The department shall give reasonable notice of the time and place of the custody hearing to the parents, guardian or custodian of the child alleged to be abused or neglected.

C. Conduct. At the custody hearing, the court shall release the child to the child's parents, guardian or custodian unless probable cause exists to believe that:

(1) the child is suffering from an illness or injury, and no parent, guardian, custodian or other person is providing adequate care for the child;

(2) the child is in immediate danger from the child's surroundings, and removal from those surroundings is necessary for the child's safety or well-being;

(3) the child will be subject to injury by others if not placed in the custody of the department;

(4) the child has been abandoned by the child's parent, guardian or custodian; or

(5) no parent, guardian, custodian or other person is able or willing to provide adequate supervision and care for the child.

D. Conclusion. At the conclusion of the hearing, if the court determines that custody pending adjudication is appropriate, the court may:

(1) award custody of the child to the department with or without rights of visitation for the parents, guardian or custodian of the child; or

(2) return the child to the child's parents, guardian or custodian upon such conditions as will reasonably assure the safety and well-being of the child.

E. Special masters. A custody hearing may be held by a special master appointed by the court. All custody orders must be signed by the children's court judge prior to taking effect.

[As amended, effective August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - The custody hearing required by Rule 10-303 is the equivalent of the detention hearing in delinquency and need of supervision cases. It also covers those situations in which the children, youth and families department does not have custody, but desires to take custody of the child pending the adjudicatory hearing.

Paragraph A of Rule 10-303 requires that the hearing be held within ten days from the date the petition is filed, and it may be held sooner upon written request of the respondent. If the child is in custody, the hearing must be held within two days after the petition is filed.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-303 requires that reasonable notice be served on the parents, guardian or custodian of the child. The timeliness of the notice must be interpreted in view of the fact that a longer time limit for the custody hearing is allowed than for a detention hearing in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding. The notice need be given only to one parent.

Paragraph C of Rule 10-303 provides for the continued pre-adjudicatory custody of a child if there is probable cause to believe the child is an abused or neglected child. See Section 32A-4-2 NMSA 1978 for the definitions of "neglected" and "abused" children.

See also Section 32A-4-6 NMSA 1978 (grounds for taking into custody) and Section 32A-4-8 NMSA 1978 (place of temporary custody).

Paragraph D of Rule 10-303 provides guidelines for the court to use if the child is placed in the custody of the department pending the adjudicatory hearing.

The Rules of Evidence apply to custody hearings. See Rule 11-1101 of the Rules of Evidence for exclusions from the Rules of Evidence. See also Ammerman v. Hubbard Broadcasting, Inc., 89 N.M. 307, 551 P.2d 1354 (1976), cert. denied, 436 U.S. 906 (1978).

The 1999 amendment, effective August 1, 1999, added "abuse and neglect" to the section heading; in Paragraph A, in the first sentence, deleted "If the child alleged to be abused or neglected is in the custody of the department or the department has petitioned the court for temporary custody" at the beginning and added "alleging abuse or neglect" at the end, and added "At the custody hearing the court shall" at the beginning of the second sentence; deleted former Subparagraph D(3) relating to the court's authority to order the respondent or child alleged to be neglected or abused to undergo appropriate diagnostic examinations or evaluations; rewrote Paragraph E which formerly read "Referees. The provisions of this rule may be carried out by a referee appointed by the court"; deleted former Paragraph F relating to evidence; and made gender neutral and stylistic changes throughout the section.

Post-deprivation hearing within reasonable period constitutional. - In the context of child abuse and neglect proceedings, a parent's familial and due process rights are balanced against the state's interest in protecting and caring for neglected children. In achieving a balance of these interests, a post-deprivation hearing within a reasonable period does not violate the minimum federal due process rights of the parent. Yount v. Millington, 117 N.M. 95, 869 P.2d 283 (Ct. App. 1993).

Parties' stipulation to custody in department creates consent decree. - A stipulation entered into between the parties, following a hearing in which a physician testified that the child's condition was the result of neglect and in which the natural parents did not contest the neglect allegations and agreed to temporary custody in the department, was in effect a consent decree under Rule 10-307 NMRA, and not a temporary custody order under this rule. State ex rel. Department of Human Servs. v. Doe, 103 N.M. 260, 705 P.2d 165 (Ct. App. 1985).

10-304. Explanation of respondent's rights at first appearance.

At the first appearance of the respondent in an abuse or neglect proceeding, if the respondent is not represented by an attorney, the respondent shall be informed by the court of:

- A. the allegations of the petition;
- B. the right to an adjudicatory hearing on the allegations in the petition;
- C. the right to an attorney and that if the respondent cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to represent the respondent free of charge; and
- D. the possible consequences if the allegations of the petition are found to be true.

[Approved effective November 1, 1978, Rule 55 NMSA 1978; Rule 10-304 SCRA 1986; as amended effective August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - See Section 32A-4-10(B) NMSA 1978 for the right to counsel of a parent, guardian or custodian in an abuse or neglect proceeding. The right to counsel does not appear to be limited to parents who are respondents in the proceeding.

Historically, noncriminal proceedings against parents based on their treatment of their children were equitable in nature and were based on the doctrine of parens patriae. See In re Santillanes, 47 N.M. 140, 138 P.2d 503 (1943). Modern abuse and neglect proceedings are typically statutory proceedings. Absent statutory authorization for a right to a jury trial, it has been held that the parents have no such right. Matter of T.J., 1997-NMCA-021, 123 N.M. 99, 934 P.2d 293 (mother not entitled to jury trial under New Mexico constitution or by statute).

ANNOTATIONS

The 1999 amendment, effective August 1, 1999, inserted "respondent's" in the section heading, deleted "before the court" following "appearance of the respondent" and added

"if the respondent is not represented by an attorney" in the introductory language; substituted "an adjudicatory hearing" for "a trial" in Paragraph B; and made gender neutral changes in Paragraph C.

Right to attorney denied only where waived intelligently and knowingly. - The waiver of a right created by the constitution, a statute or a court-promulgated rule, such as the right to an attorney, must be done intelligently and knowingly if the right is to be denied the one claiming it. *State ex rel. 10-305. Filing of petition; amendment of petition; appointment of guardian ad litem.

A. Form and contents. Petitions or amended petitions alleging abuse or neglect shall be in a form approved by the Supreme Court.

B. Time limits. If a child is taken into custody, a petition alleging abuse or neglect shall be filed by the department within two (2) days from the date that the child is taken into emergency custody by the department. If a petition is not filed within the time set forth in this paragraph, the child shall be released to the child's parents, guardian or custodian.

C. Service. A petition alleging abuse or neglect shall be served as provided by Rule 10-104 of these rules. A copy of the petition shall also be served on a parent who has not been made a party with a notice that the parent may intervene and request custody of the child.

D. Appointment of guardian ad litem. Upon the filing of a petition in an abuse or neglect proceeding, a guardian ad litem shall be appointed by the court to represent the child.

E. Notice to Indian tribes. If the alleged abused or neglected child is enrolled or eligible for enrollment in an Indian tribe, the Children, Youth and Families Department shall give notice of the filing of the petition to the child's Indian tribe. The form and manner of the notice shall comply with the provisions of the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978.

F. Amended petitions. The department may file an amended petition alleging abuse or neglect:

(1) once as a matter of course at any time within twenty (20) days after it is served; or

(2) upon leave of court.

[Adopted April 1, 1976, Children's Court Rule 42 NMSA 1953; recompiled and amended as Children's Court Rule 57 NMSA 1978; as amended effective February 1, 1982; Rule 10-305 SCRA 1986; as amended effective May 1, 1986; August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-305 sets the general procedure and time limits for filing of petitions alleging abuse or neglect.

The Supreme Court approved form of petition in abuse or neglect actions provides notice that the respondent's parental rights may be terminated. See Rule 10-108 NMRA and Section 32A-4-27 NMSA 1978 for rights of non-custodial parent to intervene. See also Section 32A-4-29 NMSA 1978. The committee views the right to intervene as procedural.

See Section 32A-4-4 NMSA 1978 for the filing of a petition in an abuse or neglect proceeding.

The 1999 amendment, effective August 1, 1999, inserted "amendment of petition" in the section heading; deleted former Paragraph A relating to procedure, and redesignated subsequent paragraphs accordingly; in Paragraph A, inserted "or amended petitions" and deleted a list of information which the petition should set forth; in Paragraph B, deleted former Subparagraph (1) which stated that petitions shall be filed within ninety days from the date that the complaint is referred to the department if the child is not in custody of the department, deleted the former Paragraph (2) designation, added the language ending "filed by the department", and substituted "emergency custody by the department" for "custody" in the first sentence; added Paragraphs C, E, and F; and rewrote Paragraph D, which formerly read "The court shall appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the child alleged to be abused or neglected no later than the filing of the petition alleging abuse or neglect".

10-305.1. Joinder of parties; severance; abuse and neglect proceedings.

A. Joinder of parties. Two or more respondents may be named in the same pleadings:

- (1) alleging abuse or neglect of a child; or
- (2) requesting a termination of parental rights.

B. Misjoinder and nonjoinder. Parties may be dismissed or added by order of the court on motion of any party or of its own initiative at any stage of the proceeding. Any claim against a party may be severed and proceeded with separately.

[Adopted, effective August 1, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - Section 32A-4-29 NMSA 1978 provides termination procedures as part of the disposition. To implement this section the Supreme Court approved form of summons and petition has been amended to advise the respondents that the court may terminate the parental rights of a parent who is a party to the proceeding. See Children's Court Form 10-403 NMRA, summons, and Form 10-454 NMRA for petition.

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated May 28, 1999, this rule is effective August 1, 1999.

10-306. Discovery.

A. Court orders. Upon motion, at any time after the filing of a petition alleging abuse or neglect, upon a showing that his testimony will be material and relevant to the allegations in the petition the children's court may order:

- (1) the taking of the deposition of any person; or
- (2) the disclosure of any information subject to disclosure pursuant to Rule 10-213 or 10-214 of these rules, insofar as they may be applicable.

B. Rules of Civil Procedure govern. The Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts shall govern discovery in abuse and neglect proceedings.

Committee commentary. - Prior to the 1978 revisions to the rules, discovery in children's court proceedings was governed by former Rule 11. An entire discovery scheme has been adopted for delinquency and need of supervision proceedings. (See Rules 10-213 to 10-220.) Rule 10-306 was added for abuse and neglect proceedings. Depositions and other discovery, as set forth in Rules 10-213 and 10-214, are available upon court order.

10-306.1. Court ordered diagnostic examinations and evaluations.

At any time after the commencement of an abuse or neglect proceeding, upon motion of a party or upon the court's own motion, the court may order a respondent or any child alleged to be neglected or abused to undergo a diagnostic examination or evaluation. Copies of any diagnostic examination or evaluation report shall be provided to the parties. If the examination is ordered prior to the adjudicatory hearing, copies of the diagnostic or evaluation report shall be provided to the parties at least five (5) days prior to the adjudicatory hearing. Diagnostic or evaluation reports shall not be provided to the court prior to the adjudicatory hearing.

[Approved, effective June 1, 1999.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated April 15, 1999, this rule is effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after June 1, 1999.

10-307. Admissions and consent decrees.

A. Admissions. The respondent may make an admission by:

(1) admitting sufficient facts to permit a finding that the allegations of the petition are true; or

(2) declaring his intention not to contest the allegations in the petition.

B. Consent decrees. A consent decree in an abuse or neglect proceeding is an order of the court, after an admission has been made, that suspends the proceedings on the petition and in which, under terms and conditions negotiated and agreed to by the respondent and the children's court attorney:

(1) the legal custody of the child is transferred to the department for a period not to exceed six (6) months from the date of the consent decree; and

(2) the child is allowed to remain with the respondent or other person and the respondent will be under supervision of the department for a period not to exceed six (6) months.

C. Inquiry of respondent. The court shall not accept an admission or approve a consent decree without first, by addressing the respondent personally in open court, determining that:

(1) he understands the allegations of the petition;

(2) he understands the dispositions that the court may make if the allegations of the petition are found to be true;

(3) he understands that he has a right to deny the allegations in the petition and to have a trial on the allegations;

(4) he understands that if he makes an admission or agrees to the entry of the consent decree, he is waiving the right to a trial; and

(5) the admission or provisions of the consent decree are voluntary and not the result of force or threats or of promises other than any consent decree agreement reached.

D. Basis for admission or consent decree. The court shall not enter judgment upon an admission or approve a consent decree without making such inquiry as shall satisfy the court that there is a factual basis for the admission or consent decree.

E. Disposition. After acceptance of an admission, unless made for the purpose of a consent decree, the court shall proceed to make any disposition permitted by law as it deems appropriate under the circumstances.

F. Acceptance of consent decree. If the court accepts a consent decree, the court shall approve the disposition provided for in the consent decree or another disposition more favorable to the respondent than that provided for in the consent decree. If the court rejects the consent decree, the decree shall be null and void.

G. Inadmissibility of discussions. Evidence of an admission or agreement to a consent decree, later withdrawn, or of statements made in connection therewith, is not admissible in any proceeding against the respondent.

H. Time limits. If the child is in the custody of the department, the court shall accept or reject the admission or consent decree within five (5) days after the admission is made or within five (5) days after a consent decree has been submitted to the court for its approval.

I. Rules of Evidence. The Rules of Evidence do not apply to inquiries made to determine whether there is a factual basis for an admission or a consent decree.

J. Extension, termination. Consent decrees in abuse and neglect proceedings may be extended by the department and terminated in accordance with Rule 10-225.

K. Revocation. If, prior to the expiration of the consent decree, the respondent allegedly fails to fulfill the terms of the decree, the children's court attorney may file a petition to revoke the consent decree. If the respondent is found to have violated the terms of the consent decree, the court may:

(1) extend the period of the consent decree; or

(2) make any other disposition which would have been appropriate in the original proceedings.

[As amended, effective May 1, 1986.]

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-307 was expanded in 1978. The rule institutes consent decree and admissions procedures for abuse and neglect cases. The consent decree in an abuse or neglect case differs from that in a delinquency or need of supervision proceeding in that the parties may agree that the department have legal custody of the child for a period of up to six months or the child may be placed under supervision in his own home or the home of another for the six-month period.

See generally Rules 10-224 and 10-225 and the commentaries thereto.

ANNOTATIONS

Parties' stipulation to custody in department creates consent decree. - A stipulation entered into between the parties, following a hearing in which a physician testified that the child's condition was the result of neglect and in which the natural parents did not contest the neglect allegations and agreed to temporary custody in the department, was in effect a consent decree under this rule, and not a temporary custody order under Rule 10-303 NMRA. State ex rel. Department of Human Servs. v. Doe, 103 N.M. 260, 705 P.2d 165 (Ct. App. 1985).

Inquiry required before acceptance of admission. - Failure of the children's court to personally address a minor mother in open court concerning her understanding and consent to a stipulated judgment and disposition voided her purported admission that her children were neglected and, in a subsequent proceeding to terminate her parental rights, the court's use of such admission as the basis of its finding that the children were neglected violated the mother's due process rights. State ex rel. Children, Youth & Families Dep't v. Lilli L. 1996-NMCA-014, 121 N.M. 376, 911 P.2d 884.

Inquiry into waiver of right to contest termination. - Without any inquiry into whether it was proper to infer from her absence that a mentally-ill mother voluntarily and unequivocally intended to waive her right to contest a termination proceeding, she faced an unacceptably high risk of erroneous deprivation of her fundamental rights. State ex rel. Children, Youth & Families Dep't v. Stella P. 1999-NMCA-100, 127 N.M. 699, 986 P.2d 495.

10-310. Judgment and appeals; proceedings.

A. Entry of judgment. The judge shall sign a written judgment and disposition in abuse and neglect proceedings. The judgment and disposition shall be filed. The clerk shall give notice of entry of the judgment and disposition.

B. Appeals. Appeals from judgments on petitions alleging abuse or neglect shall be governed by the Rules of Appellate Procedure.

Committee commentary. - Rule 10-310 was formerly Rule 46. It was renumbered in 1978.

The appeal time in abuse and neglect cases runs from the date of disposition, rather than the conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing.

Paragraph B of Rule 10-310 clarifies Section 32-1-39 NMSA 1978 by providing that appeals in abuse and neglect cases shall be handled as civil appeals.

10-320. Adjudicatory hearing; time limits; continuances.

A. Time for hearing. The adjudicatory hearing shall be commenced within sixty (60) days after whichever of the following events occurs latest:

- (1) the date that the petition is served on the respondent;
- (2) the termination of any diversion agreement;
- (3) if a mistrial is declared or a new trial is ordered by the trial court, the date that such order is filed; or
- (4) in the event of an appeal, the date that the mandate or order is filed in the district court disposing of the appeal.

B. Children's court attorney. The children's court attorney shall represent the state at the adjudicatory hearing.

C. Extension of time. The time for commencement of an adjudicatory hearing may be extended by the:

- (1) children's court judge for good cause shown, provided that the aggregate of all extensions granted by the children's court judge may not exceed thirty (30) days. The party seeking an extension of time shall file with the court a verified petition for extension concisely stating the facts that petitioner deems to constitute good cause for an extension of time to commence the adjudicatory hearing. The petition shall be filed within the applicable time limits prescribed by this rule, except that it may be filed within ten (10) days after the expiration of the applicable time limits if it is based on exceptional circumstances beyond the control of the state or children's court which justify the failure to file the petition within the applicable time limit; or
- (2) Supreme Court, a justice thereof, or a judge designated by the Supreme Court, for good cause shown. The party seeking an extension of time shall file with the clerk of the Supreme Court a verified petition for extension concisely stating the facts that petitioner deems to constitute good cause for an extension of time to commence the adjudicatory hearing. The petition shall be filed within the applicable time limits prescribed by this rule, except that it may be filed within ten (10) days after the expiration of the applicable time limits if it is based on exceptional circumstances beyond the control of the state or children's court which justify the failure to file the petition within the applicable time limit. A party seeking an extension of time shall forthwith serve a copy thereof on opposing counsel. Within five (5) days after service of the motion, opposing counsel may file an objection to the extension setting forth the reasons for such objection. No hearing shall be held except upon order of the Supreme Court. If the Supreme Court finds that there is good cause for the granting of an extension beyond the applicable time limit, it shall fix the time limit within which the adjudicatory hearing must be commenced.

D. Effect of noncompliance with time limits. If the adjudicatory hearing on any petition is not begun within the time specified in Paragraph A of this rule or within the period of any extension granted as provided in this rule, the petition shall be dismissed with prejudice.

[Adopted April 1, 1976, Children's Court Rule 44 NMSA 1953; recompiled and amended effective November 1, 1978, Rule 60 NMSA 1978; amended, effective February 1, 1982; January 1, 1983; May 1, 1986; Rule 10-308 SCRA 1986; Rule 10-308 NMRA; recompiled and amended effective February 15, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - This rule was amended in 1998 to add a new Subparagraph (2) to Paragraph A to accommodate other pre-adjudication dispositions and to permit the children's court judge to extend the time for adjudicatory hearings for not more than 30 days. See also Rule 10-226.

This rule is former Rule 10-308. It was revised in 1978 to expand the time limit for commencement of the adjudicatory hearing when the alleged abused or neglected child is in the custody of the Human Services Department and to expand the "events" which start the time limit running.

Whether or not the alleged abused or neglected child is in the custody of the department, the time limits for commencement of the adjudicatory hearing begin to run from the latest of the four "events" set forth in Paragraphs A and B of Rule 10-320. Before the 1978 revisions, the time limits were keyed to service of the petition on the respondent. In 1978, the "event" approach was adopted for commencement of the time limits in neglect, delinquency and need of supervision proceedings. See Rule 10-226 and the commentary thereto.

Like the time limits in Rule 10-226, the time limits in Rule 10-320 are jurisdictional.

[Revised effective February 15, 1999.]

ANNOTATIONS

The 1999 amendment, effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after February 15, 1999 and approved provisionally for six months until July 15, 1999, added "continuances" to the rule heading; in Paragraph A, substituted "sixty (60)" for "ninety (90)"; added new Subparagraph A(2); redesignated Subparagraphs A(2) and A(3) as Subparagraphs A(3) and A(4) respectively; in Paragraph C, deleted "only" following "extended" in the introductory paragraph; added Subparagraph C(1) and numbered the undesignated paragraph as Subparagraph C(2).

Compiler's notes. - Pursuant to the court order dated May 28, 1999, the provisional amendment of this rule by court order dated February 15, 1999, was made permanent.

10-321. Dispositional hearings; time limits.

A. Pre-disposition report. If the court finds that the respondent has abused or neglected the child, the court shall hold a dispositional hearing. If the dispositional hearing is not held at the same time as the adjudicatory hearing, the department shall prepare a predisposition report. Unless the dispositional hearing is held in conjunction with the adjudicatory hearing, at least five (5) days prior to the dispositional hearing, the department shall file with the court and serve on each party and the guardian ad litem a predisposition report.

B. Access to reports. At the time of serving the department's dispositional plan on the parties and guardian ad litem, the department shall serve each party and the guardian ad litem with:

(1) copies of any social, diagnostic or other predisposition reports ordered by or submitted to the court; and

(2) a proposed disposition order.

C. Time. If, at the conclusion of an adjudicatory hearing, the child is found to be abused or neglected, the court may proceed immediately to make disposition of the case. If the dispositional hearing is not held in conjunction with the adjudicatory hearing, it shall commence within thirty (30) days after conclusion of the adjudicatory hearing.

[Adopted April 1, 1976, Children's Court Rule 45 NMSA 1953; recompiled and amended effective November 1, 1978 as Children's Court Rule 61 NMSA 1978; as amended effective February 1, 1982; May 1, 1986; Rule 10-309 SCRA 1986; Rule 10-309 NMRA; recompiled as Rule 10-321 and amended effective February 15, 1999.]

Committee commentary. - See Rule 10-230 and commentary thereto.

Three changes were made in Rule 10-309 in 1978. First, the guardian ad litem was added to the list of those to receive predisposition reports. As the attorney for the child, who is a party to the action, the guardian ad litem must receive all pleadings, reports, etc. (See Rule 10-103.) The rule has not always been followed, and the 1978 committee wished to emphasize that the guardian ad litem is entitled to the reports.

The second change made in 1978 was the addition of the requirement that status reports be filed at least every six months, rather than once a year, if legal custody of the child is granted to the human services department. The last change made was the addition of the requirement that the status report be filed and copies sent to the court, the attorneys and the guardian ad litem. (See the commentary to Rule 10-108 for a discussion of the duties of a guardian ad litem.) These changes were made to provide a better monitoring system of children in the custody of the department.

Section 32-1-32A NMSA 1978 requires that the court direct the preparation of a predisposition study and report.

The 1999 amendment, effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after February 15, 1999, rewrote the rule, adding present Paragraph A and deleting former Paragraphs C and D, relating to findings and reports.

Compiler's notes. - Section 32-1-32A NMSA 1978, referred to in the last paragraph of the committee commentary, was amended in 1981 to give the court discretion as to the preparation of a predisposition study and report.

10-325. Judicial review and permanency hearings.

A. First permanency hearing. Within six (6) months after the conclusion of the initial judicial review, the court shall conduct a permanency hearing to determine what permanency plan is in the child's best interest.

B. Notice. The department shall be responsible for obtaining a setting for the first and any subsequent permanency hearing and shall give notice of the hearing to all other parties and such other persons as required by law.

C. Pre-permanency hearing report; conference. Not less than five (5) days prior to a permanency hearing, the department shall prepare and serve on each party a pre-permanency hearing report. The report shall include the department's proposed permanency plan. The pre-permanency hearing report shall also set forth any changes to the disposition plan.

D. Pre-hearing settlement conference. Not less than five (5) days prior to each permanency hearing, the parties shall participate in a pre-hearing settlement conference. The department shall give notice of the time and place of the hearing to each party and to the child's guardian ad litem.

E. Initial permanency order. At the conclusion of the permanency hearing, the court shall enter an order:

- (1) returning custody of the child to the parents and dismissing the case;
- (2) returning the child to the child's parent, guardian or custodian, subject to those conditions and limitations as the court may prescribe, including protective supervision of the child by the department and continuation of the treatment plan for not more than six (6) months; or
- (3) continuing the child in the legal custody of the department with such other disposition as may be in the child's best interest.

F. Subsequent permanency hearing; when required. Within three (3) months after the initial permanency hearing order, the court shall hold a subsequent permanency hearing if:

- (1) a motion to terminate parental rights has not been filed;
- (2) a petition to appoint a permanent guardian has not been filed; or
- (3) the child's permanency plan has not been formally changed to provide for emancipation of the child.

G. Subsequent permanency hearing; disposition. At the conclusion of the subsequent permanency hearing, the court shall enter an order:

- (1) requiring the department to change the child's permanency plan to provide for adoption, emancipation, permanent guardianship or long-term foster care for the child and that additional efforts to reunite the child and parent will not be attempted;
- (2) dismissing the case and returning the child to the parent, guardian or custodian; or
- (3) returning the child to the parent, guardian or custodian, subject to those conditions the court may prescribe, including protective supervision of the child by the department and continuation of the treatment plan for not more than six (6) months.

H. Judicial reviews. If a judgment has been filed finding the child to be neglected or abused, within sixty (60) days after the date the judgment was filed, the court shall review the treatment plan approved by the court. At least once every six (6) months thereafter, the court shall review the department's progress in implementing the court's orders. The department shall request a date for each judicial review and give notice as required by law.

Committee commentary. - This rule requires the court to conduct a permanency hearing. This hearing was created by the 1997 amendments to the Abuse and Neglect Act. See Section 32A-4-25.1 NMSA 1978. Unlike Section 32A-4-25.1 NMSA 1978 this rule does not include evidentiary matters. The Rules of Evidence committee reviewed Subsection I of Section 32A-4-25.1 NMSA 1978, but decided not to recommend proposed amendments to Rule 11-1101 NMRA that would exclude permanency hearings from the Rules of Evidence. The Rules of Evidence are therefore applicable to permanency hearings. See Ammerman v. Hubbard Broadcasting, Inc., 89 N.M. 307, 551 P.2d 1354 (1976), cert. denied, 436 U.S. 906 (1978).

Section 32A-4-25.1 provides that at the first permanency hearing there is a presumption that the child is to be returned to the parents. In the second and subsequent permanency hearings, there is a presumption that the child should not be returned to the parents. Rule 11-301 of the Rules of Evidence eliminated the "bursting bubble" theory of presumptions. A presumption now retains evidentiary effect throughout the trial, so as to permit the fact finder to draw an inference of the presumed fact from proof of the basic or predicate fact.

Considering the language of 32A-4-25.1 in light of the Rules of Evidence, it appears that in the first permanency hearing the department would have the burden of persuasion to prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the child should not be returned to the parents. See Nichols v. Nichols, 98 N.M. 322, 648 P.2d 780 (1982). In the second permanency hearing the parents would have the burden of persuasion that the child should be returned to them.

Under our Rules of Evidence, a presumption imposes on the party against whom it is directed the burden of going forward with evidence to rebut or meet the presumption, but it does not shift to that party the burden of proof in the sense of the risk of nonpersuasion, which remains upon the party on whom it was originally cast.

Jaramillo v. Jaramillo, 113 N.M. 57, 823 P.2d 299 (1991).

In Jaramillo v. Jaramillo, the New Mexico Supreme Court rejected the use of presumptions in a child relocation case in favor of the court determining what is in the best interest of the child. The opinion in Jaramillo is instructive here. In Jaramillo, the New Mexico Supreme Court quoted from a United States Supreme Court opinion as follows:

Procedure by presumption is always cheaper and easier than individualized determination. But when, as here, the procedure forecloses the determinative issues of competence and care, when it explicitly disdains present realities in deference to past formalities, it needlessly risks running roughshod over the important interests of both parent and child. It therefore cannot stand.

See Stanley v. Illinois, 405 U.S. 645, 656-57 31 L. Ed. 2d 551, 92 S. Ct. 1208 (1972).

The committee fully endorses the concept of a periodical review by the court to assure that the best interests of the child are not forgotten in an abuse and neglect proceeding.

This laudable goal is best implemented by the children's court reviewing the case each time with the best interest of the child in mind.

The Rules of Evidence and Children's Court rules control procedural and evidentiary matters, including the procedures and evidence in permanency hearings. See Ammerman v. Hubbard Broadcasting, Inc., 89 N.M. 307, 551 P.2d 1354 (1976), cert. denied, 436 U.S. 906 (1978).

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated January 15, 1999, this rule is effective for cases filed in the Children's Court on and after February 15, 1999.

10-330. Termination of parental rights; commencement of proceedings.

A. Commencement. A termination of parental rights proceeding may be commenced by filing a motion to terminate parental rights:

(1) at any stage of the abuse or neglect proceeding by the department; or

(2) at any time after the disposition hearing, by any party authorized by law to file a motion to terminate parental rights.

B. Joinder. A termination of parental rights proceeding may be commenced by filing a motion to terminate parental rights. If a parent has not previously been made a party to the proceeding, that parent shall be joined as a party to the proceeding. The parent shall be served with a summons and a copy of the motion in the manner provided by Rule 10-104 NMRA.

C. Contents of motion or petition. The motion or petition shall be substantially in the form approved by the Supreme Court.

Committee commentary. - The child's guardian ad litem is a party to an abuse or neglect proceeding. See Rule 10-108 NMRA.

Although Section 32A-4-29 NMSA 1978 could be read to permit a motion to be filed at any stage of the proceedings by any person who has a statutory right to intervene, including a person with a constitutionally protected liberty interest, this rule makes it clear that only parties may file a motion to terminate parental rights. Paragraph E of Rule 10-108 NMRA provides for intervention in abuse and neglect proceedings only if the judge finds it will not unduly delay or prejudice the adjudication of rights of the original parties. This eliminates last minute delays in disposition hearings which could adversely affect the rights of the original parties.

If the judge does not permit intervention in the abuse or neglect proceeding, termination procedures may be filed pursuant to Section 32A-5-16 NMSA 1978. The Rules of Civil Procedure for the District Courts govern terminations under Section 32A-5-16 NMSA 1978. See Rule 10-101 NMRA.

See State v. Joe R., 1997-NMSC-038, 123 N.M. 711, 945 P.2d 76 for termination of parental rights of parent incarcerated in penitentiary.

Section 32A-4-29 NMSA 1978 permits a motion to terminate to be filed by any person having a legitimate interest, including a relative or foster parent. Rule 10-108 provides for numerous parties. These parties must be joined and served personally. More than the filing of a simple motion may be necessary.

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated June 13, 2000, this rule is effective August 1, 2000.

10-331. Explanation of pro se respondent's rights at first appearance; termination of parental rights proceeding.

A. Explanation of rights. If the first appearance of a respondent is at a termination of parental rights proceeding, if the respondent is not represented by an attorney, the respondent shall be informed by the court of:

- (1) the allegations of the motion to terminate parental rights;
- (2) the right to a trial on the allegations in the motion;
- (3) the right to an attorney and that if the respondent cannot afford an attorney, one will be appointed to represent the respondent free of charge; and
- (4) the consequences if the allegations of the motion are found to be true.

B. Appointment of counsel. In any proceeding or case that may result in the termination of parental rights, an attorney may not represent more than one parent.

[Approved, effective August 1, 2000.]

ANNOTATIONS

Effective dates. - Pursuant to a court order dated June 13, 2000, this rule is effective August 1, 2000.

GUIDELINES FOR DETERMINING ELIGIBILITY

Pursuant to Sections 31-15-7 and 32A-2-30 NMSA 1978 and Rule 10-205 of the Children's Court Rules and Forms, the following guidelines are established for determination of indigency and eligibility for public defender services in juvenile cases.

I. PRESUMPTION OF INDIGENCY

A parent(s), guardian or custodian is presumed indigent if the parent(s), guardian or custodian is a current recipient of a state or federally administered public assistance program for the indigent: aid to families of dependent children (AFDC), food stamps, medicaid, disability security income (DSI), public assisted housing or department of health case management services (DHMS). Proof of assistance must be attached to the application and no further inquiry is necessary. Home equity, etc. is not to be taken into account if the parent(s), guardian or custodian is a current recipient of one of the six programs described above. If the child is in the physical custody of the Human Services Department, the parent(s), guardian or custodian is presumed indigent and no further inquiry is necessary.

If the interviewer is unable to complete the indigency application or believes the information to be unreliable because of communication or other problems associated with a mental disability of the child, indigency will be presumed until the child's competency to stand trial and indigency is determined by the public defender or court. If because of the mental disability of the child, the interviewer is unable to complete the indigency application or believes the information is unreliable, the Department of Health case management services (DHMS) section should be checked.

II. FINANCIAL RESOURCES

If the parent(s), guardian or custodian is not presumptively indigent, the screening shall examine the financial resources of the parent(s), guardian or custodian with consideration given to:

- A. Net Income
- B. Assets
- C. Exceptional Expenses

A. Net Income

The screening agent shall include total household salary and wages of the child and the parent(s), guardian and custodian of the child who have a legal obligation of support to the child, minus deductions required by law (FICA, state and federal withholding). In order to calculate the salary of an individual, the screening agent shall use one of the two methods:

(1) if the individual is presently unemployed, the screening agent shall ask about employment during the twelve (12) months preceding the interview date and calculate the amount of money earned during such twelve (12) months. Proof of this income must be attached to the application; or

(2) if the individual is presently employed, the screening agent shall project the current income for twelve (12) months into the future. Proof of this income must be attached to the application. If the parent(s), guardian or custodian is unemployed and has no income, the screening agent shall inquire as to how the parent(s), guardian or custodian "gets by". Proof of income is not required, but responses should be documented on the eligibility form (i.e. eats on soup line, street person, sleeps in car, etc.). If the parent(s), guardian or custodian gets by on "odd jobs", the income from the odd jobs should be noted. Proof of income must be provided (i.e. income tax returns, etc.). Zeros will not be accepted for income. If there is no income an explanation is needed as to why there is no income.

If the child's parent(s), guardian or custodian does not pay for the child's housing, the fair rental value of the housing shall be included as part of the parent(s), guardian or custodian's income. The fair rental value of the child's housing may be determined by the chief public defender or designee. Also to be considered are funds from any other sources including but not limited to: social security payments, union funds, veteran's benefits, workers' compensation, unemployment benefits, regular support from any family member, public or private employee pensions, or income from dividends, interests, rents, estates, trusts or gifts. If the child lives alone but receives food or rent from a family member, the food or rent shall be considered as regular support from the child's family and shall be included as income.

The income of each of the child's parent(s), guardians or custodians who have a legal obligation to support the child must be included in the calculation of income even though the child is not living in the same household.

B. Assets

The screening agent shall consider all household assets of the parent(s), guardians and custodians of the child which are convertible into cash within a reasonable period of time. Assets include all cash on hand as well as in checking and savings accounts, stocks, bonds, certificates of deposit, and tax refunds. All real estate shall be considered in terms of the amounts which could be raised by a loan on the property.

C. Exceptional Expenses

The screening agent shall consider any unusual expenses of the parent(s)/guardian/custodian which would, in all probability, prohibit the parent, guardian or custodian from being able to secure private counsel. The following expenses are not exceptional expenses: rent, food, utilities, gas money, consumer loans and student loans. Exceptional expenses shall include, but not be limited to, costs for medical care, family support obligations and child care payments. In order to be included as an exceptional expense:

(1) the cost of medical care cannot be covered by insurance;

(2) family support expense obligations must be court ordered and actually paid on a regular basis; and

(3) child care must be paid on a regular basis. If the parent(s)/guardian/custodian says that child support or child care is paid when the parent(s)/guardian/custodian can, the payments do not qualify as exceptional expenses.

The parent(s)/guardian/custodian must provide proof of the exceptional expense incurred and proof that payment is being made on a regular basis. If proof is provided, the regular monthly payment for the exceptional expense is multiplied by twelve (12) months and the calculated amount can be deducted from total income.

Other exceptional expenses shall include: payroll garnishments, internal revenue service claims, court ordered attorney fees or other court ordered payments and funeral expenses not covered by insurance.

III. INDIGENCY FORMULA

The screening agent shall calculate the amount of available funds by adding the total for net income for the household (Column A) together with the total for assets for the household (Column B) and subtracting the total for exceptional expenses (Column C). If the available funds (net income plus assets minus exceptional expenses) are at or below the amounts in the indigency table, the parent(s)/guardian/custodian is indigent and is therefore eligible for free representation. If the available funds exceed the amounts in the indigency table, the chief public defender or designee may deem the parent(s)/guardian/custodian not to be indigent.

If a parent, guardian or custodian does not know the income or assets of all other persons who are legally responsible for the child's support, the child is presumed not indigent and is not eligible for free representation unless the parent, guardian or custodian produces the necessary information within two (2) working days after the interview.

IV. APPEAL

If the parent(s)/guardian/custodian is found by the screening agent or the court not to be indigent, the parent(s)/guardian/custodian may appeal the decision to the district defender in those districts with public defender offices. If a parent(s), guardian or custodian wishes to appeal the decision of the district defender, the parent(s), guardian or custodian shall file a notice of appeal in the district court. In those districts without public defender offices the parent, guardian or custodian may appeal directly to the court. If the parent, guardian or custodian wishes to appeal a finding that the parent, guardian or custodian is not indigent:

(1) in those districts with district public defender offices, the screening agent shall notify the public defender of the appeal;

(2) in those districts without public defender offices, the screening agent shall notify the court of the appeal.

All appeals shall be filed within ten (10) days after the date of the decision.

V. REIMBURSEMENT

Pursuant to Section 32A-2-14 NMSA 1978 and Rule 10-205 of the rules of procedure for the children's court, the public defender will be appointed in delinquency proceedings even though the parent(s)/guardian/custodian is not indigent. In those cases, the court will order the parent(s)/guardian/custodian to reimburse the Public Defender Department for the costs of representation. In reimbursement cases, the chief public defender or designee may ask the parent(s)/guardian/custodian to sign a contract and a promissory note to pay reimbursement to the State of New Mexico. The reimbursement shall cover legal fees, expert witness fees and private investigation. The legal fees shall be governed by schedule adopted by the Public Defender Department. The expert witness fees and private investigation fees shall be governed by the fees paid by the Public Defender Department.

First payment shall be due thirty (30) days from the date of completion of the contract and note. If the parent(s), guardian or custodian fails to complete a contract and note, the order of appointment with reimbursement shall serve as notice for collection if payments are not made. If this is the case, a copy of the order of appointment and a copy of the application shall be sent to the administration office instead of the contract and note.

VI. NEW CHARGES

If a child has applied for public defender services within six (6) months prior to the filing of new charges or a probation violation, completion of a new eligibility determination form is not necessary. A copy of the last eligibility determination form should be placed in the new file being opened. If a child has applied for public defender services more than six (6) months prior to the filing of new charges or a probation violation, completion of a new eligibility determination form is necessary. If less than six (6) months have elapsed but there has been a change in circumstance for the child, completion of a new eligibility determination form is necessary.

EXPLANATION OF RIGHTS

I understand that a petition has been filed charging me with the following delinquent acts under the law of the State of New Mexico: _____

I understand that I am entitled to personally appear before the children's court and deny the delinquent acts charged and to have my rights explained to me.

I hereby acknowledge receipt of a copy of the petition, which I have read and had explained to me by my attorney. I understand the delinquent acts alleged and the penalty provided by law for these acts.

I further understand that: I have a right to the assistance of an attorney at all stages of the proceeding, and to an appointed attorney, to be furnished free of charge, if I cannot afford one; I have a right to confront the witnesses against me and to cross-examine them as to the truthfulness of their testimony; I have a right to present evidence on my own behalf and to have the state compel witnesses of my choosing to appear and testify; I have a right to remain silent and that any statement made by me may be used against me; I may have a right to trial by jury and, if I do have a right to a trial by jury, that all jurors must agree that I committed the delinquent acts charged in order for me to be adjudicated as a delinquent child.

After reading and understanding the above, I waive my right to a personal appearance before the judge and I hereby deny the allegations set forth in the petition.

---------------	-----------------------------

I have explained to the child the rights set forth above. I have explained the maximum possible consequences if the allegations of the petition are found to be true and whether the child has a right to a jury trial. The above child understands that if the child does not wish to sign this form, the child may personally appear before the judge (with the child's parents) to deny the allegations of delinquency petition in this case and to have the child's basic rights explained by the judge. I am satisfied that the above named child understands the rights set forth above.

IN THE MATTER OF:

_____, a child

PLEA AND DISPOSITION AGREEMENT

The state and the child agree to the following disposition:

Admission:

The child agrees to (admit) (not contest) to the following allegations charging the following:

_____.

Terms:

[] There are no agreements as to disposition. A pre-disposition report will be prepared. The maximum penalties for these charges are:

- _____ (set forth maximum penalties).
- [] A consent decree will be entered by the court for a period of _____ months.
- [] The child will not oppose an extension of the consent decree.
- [] The consent decree will end _____.
- [] Probation for a period not to exceed two (2) years in accordance with the probation order approved by the court.
- [] The child will be committed to the Children, Youth and Families Department for predispositional diagnosis, rehabilitation and education for a period not to exceed fifteen (15) days. Upon completion, the Children, Youth and Families Department shall set a disposition hearing.
- [] The child will be committed to the Children, Youth and Families Department for a period of _____.
- [] The child will be committed to the _____ detention center for a period of _____.
- [] _____ (set forth any other specific conditions).
- [] Additional charges. The following charges will be dismissed, or not filed:

[] Restitution. The child agrees to make restitution as follows: _____

Effect on petition:
This agreement, unless rejected or withdrawn, serves to amend the petition to charge delinquent acts to which the child pleads, without the filing of any additional pleading. If the plea is rejected or withdrawn, the original charges are automatically reinstated.

Waiver of defenses and appeal.
Unless this plea is rejected or withdrawn, the child gives up any and all motions, defenses, objections or requests which the child has made or raised, or could assert hereafter, to the court's entry of judgment and disposition consistent with this agreement. The child waives the right to appeal the judgment and disposition that results from the entry of this plea agreement.

Withdrawal permitted if agreement rejected.

If after reviewing this agreement and any predisposition report the court concludes that any of its provisions are unacceptable, the court will allow the withdrawal of the plea, and this agreement will be void. If the plea is withdrawn, neither the plea nor any statements arising out of the plea proceedings shall be admissible as evidence against the defendant in any children's court or criminal proceedings.

I HAVE READ AND UNDERSTAND THE ABOVE. I have discussed the case and my constitutional rights with my lawyer. I understand that by entering into this agreement I will be giving up my rights to a trial (jury or court), to confront, cross-examine, and compel the attendance of witnesses, and my privilege against self-incrimination. I agree to admit the allegations set forth above on the terms and conditions set forth in this agreement.

ADMISSION OR NO CONTEST

ADVICE OF RIGHTS BY JUDGE

The child personally appearing before me, I have ascertained the following facts, noting each by initialing it.

Judge's Initial

_____ 1. The child understands the charges set forth in the petition.

_____ 2. The child understands the range of possible dispositions includes commitment to _____.

_____ 3. The child understands the following constitutional rights which the child gives up by admitting to the offenses alleged.

_____ (b) the right to the assistance of an attorney at all stages of the proceeding, and to an appointed attorney, to be furnished free of charge, if the child cannot afford one;

_____ (c) the right to confront the witnesses against the child and to cross-examine them as to the truthfulness of their testimony;

_____ (d) the right to present evidence on the child's own behalf, and to have the state compel witnesses of the child's choosing to appear and testify;

_____ (e) the right to remain silent and to be presumed innocent until the allegations of criminal offenses are proven beyond a reasonable doubt.

_____ 4. That the child wishes to give up the constitutional rights of which the child has been advised.

_____ 5. That there exists a basis in fact for believing the child committed the offenses charged and that an independent record for such factual basis has been made.

_____ 6. That the child and the children's court attorney have entered into an agreement that the child understands and consents to its terms. (Indicate "NONE" if a plea agreement has not been signed.)

_____ 7. That the agreement is voluntary and not the result of force or threats except the promises made in the plea agreement.

_____ 8. That the child understands that this admission of the charges may have an effect upon the child's immigration or naturalization status.

_____ 9. That under the circumstances, it is reasonable that the child admit the charges alleged in the petition.

On the basis of these findings, I conclude that the child knowingly, voluntarily and intelligently agrees to committing the above charges and accepts the agreement. A copy of this affidavit shall be made a part of the record in the above-styled case.

Rule 10-330 NMRA requires the person to be a party. This motion must be personally served on the child's parents with a summons in the manner provided by Rule 10-104 NMRA. Service on other parties may be made pursuant to Rule 10-105 NMRA.

2. If the child is not subject to the Indian Child Welfare Act, this paragraph must be included. If the child is subject to that act, this paragraph may be deleted.

3. If the child is subject to the Indian Child Welfare Act, 25 U.S.C. Section 1901, et seq., the petition must include the following:

(a) the tribal affiliations of the child's parents;

(b) the specific actions taken by the moving party to notify the parents' tribes and the results of the contacts, including the names, addresses, titles and telephone numbers of the persons contacted. Copies of any correspondence with the tribes shall be attached as exhibits to the petition; and

(c) what specific efforts were made to comply with the placement preferences set forth in the federal Indian Child Welfare Act of 1978 or the placement preferences of the appropriate Indian tribes.

4. If the child is subject to the Indian Child Welfare Act, this paragraph must be completed. If the child is not subject to that act, this paragraph may be deleted.

5. Use only applicable alternative. Inapplicable alternatives may be deleted.
